As I noted in a voicemail yesterday, if you will be downtown on Thursday morning we can host the depositions here. My assistant spoke with our tech people and now knows the steps necessary to host a web based video deposition. It seems the main thing is that those of us in Chicago and those in Taiwan would need to arrange to access a specific ISP address. One of our tech people would need to be available during the deposition to handle technical issues.

I have spoken with our clients and spoken with Joe Roddy and think we may be able to settle this case before taking additional depositions this week. I will be available all day to discuss.
