Attached Statement about the third “has the applicant ever”

I took the Michigan Bar while I was clerking for the Honorable Wade H. McCree, Jr, whose chambers were in Detroit. I moved to Washington with Judge McCree when he became Solicitor General of the United States. I took inactive status in Michigan because the annual dues became very high and I did not think I would ever move back to Michigan to practice.

I dropped my membership in the bar of the United States District Court for the District of Maryland, which I obtained in order to handle some cases there, when it began charging a periodic fee for membership in its bar, and I had not handled any cases in that court for many years.
