5040 Greenwood

Home History Location Floor Plans Sales Process Sales Team

5040 South Greenwood Avenue is one of the most prestigious addresses in the United States. This gracious, turn of the century home sits on an oversized lot in the historic Kenwood/Hyde Park neighborhood of Chicago. The home is situated directly next to 5046 South Greenwood, President Obama's Chicago residence. This historic pocket of Kenwood has long been home to Chicago's business, political and intellectual elite, boasting some of the largest and most ornate residences in the City of Chicago.

This represents a rare opportunity to acquire and renovate a truly historic home in the most sought after section of Kenwood/Hyde Park. The 6000sf structure and adjacent coach house sit on over three standard Chicago lots for a total land parcel size of over 12,000 square feet. While the property is in need of renovation, many turn of the century details remain in place, including spacious dimensions, preserved woodwork and plaster detail and ornate original stained glass windows.

This undated photo provided by 5040Greenwood.com shows the mansion next to the house (L) of US President Barack Obama in Chicago's south side. The colonial mansion next to Obama's home is now available - for the right price. So far, the real estate broker handling the sale won't even guess at what that price might be. "We don't know what premium the Obama factor will have," said Matt Garrison of Coldwell Banker. "If it was a block away it would be somewhere in the (neighborhood) average of 1.2 to two million dollars." Garrison's phones have been ringing off the hook since the house was put on the market on September 11. AFP PHOTO/5040GREENWOOD.COM/HO
