

Westlaw Page

<https://web2.westlaw.com/expo/linkviewer.w?RS=WLW6.06&VR=...>

Wednesday, September 01, 2010

Commentary: FALSE PATENT MARKING SUITS: HOW JUDGES AND IP RIGHTS HOLDERS CAN RESPOND TO A NEW LITIGATION TREND. James Blackwell, Esq., Monty Agarwal, Esq., and Matthew Bathon, Esq., Westlaw Journal Telecommunications Industry, 1, Westlaw Journal Telecommunications Industry August 31, 2010
 James Blackwell, Monty Agarwal and Matthew Bathon of Arnold & Porter discuss the state of the law in "false patent marking" cases. In December the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit issued its decision in Forest Group v. BSN Tech Co., 598 F.3d 1285 (Fed. Cir. 2009), which radically altered the calculation of damages for false patent marking and set off a wave of lawsuits that seek to capitalize on the increased potential for damages for false patent marking under Forest Group. The f...

Net Neutrality: CRITICS WARY OF VERIZON-GOOGLE INTERNET PARTNERSHIP. 14 No. 8 Westlaw Journal Telecommunications Industry 2, Westlaw Journal Telecommunications Industry August 31, 2010
 Google's recent announcement that it has teamed up with Verizon to manage Internet traffic is either a boon or a threat to an open Internet, depending on where you stand. Although Google insists the announcement is a policy proposal, not a business deal, consumer groups say the proposal would undermine an open and free Internet. The deal reportedly would allow customers to obtain specialized services that they are willing to pay for. It also contains prohibitions against blocking or degrad...

E-Mail Privacy: N.J. APPEALS COURT DELETES BID TO UNMASK SENDER OF 'OFFENSIVE' E-MAILS. Juzwiak v. Dea, 14 No. 8 Westlaw Journal Telecommunications Industry 3, Westlaw Journal Telecommunications Industry August 31, 2010

A plaintiff's failure to fully flesh out his claim for intentional infliction of emotional distress is fatal to his bid to force Yahoo to reveal the identity of a sender of allegedly harassing e-mail messages, a New Jersey appellate court has ruled. The suit involves an unidentified sender's e-mails to plaintiff Tom Juzwiak, a tenured teacher at Hightstown High School. Juzwiak claimed that during summer 2009, someone identifying himself online as "Josh Hartnett" sent him a series of harassing e...

Employment Discrimination: VERIZON WORKER CAN PURSUE HARASSMENT CLAIM, 2ND CIRCUIT SAYS. Pucino v. Verizon Communications, 14 No. 8 Westlaw Journal Telecommunications Industry 4, Westlaw Journal Telecommunications Industry August 31, 2010

A Verizon Communications employee presented enough evidence to allow a jury to decide whether she was the victim of sexual harassment on the job, the 2nd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals has ruled. Plaintiff Joan Pucino's evidence included derogatory statements against her and harassing actions such as the placement of a large, dead snake in her work truck, according to the appeals court. It vacated a lower court's summary judgment favoring Verizon. Pucino started working for Verizon as an opera...

FTC: INTEL SETTLES FTC'S CHARGES OF ANTI-COMPETITIVE CONDUCT. In re Intel Corp., 14 No. 8 Westlaw Journal Telecommunications Industry 5, Westlaw Journal Telecommunications Industry August 31, 2010
 The Federal Trade Commission and Intel Corp. have settled the agency's charges that the company was illegally dominating the computer microchip market. The FTC said Intel's anti-competitive practices were cutting off its rivals' access to the marketplace in violation of the Federal Trade Commission Act, 15 U.S.C. 41. The chip maker was trying to coerce computer manufacturers not to buy rival central processing units by way of exclusive or restrictive dealings, according to the complaint, filed...

Town, Zoning: N.H. TOWN MUST RECONSIDER REJECTION OF AT&T TOWER, COURT RULES. New Cingular Wireless v. Town of Candia, N.H., 14 No. 8 Westlaw Journal Telecommunications Industry 6, Westlaw Journal Telecommunications Industry August 31, 2010

A New Hampshire town failed to adequately support its reasons for denying AT&T's application to build a cell tower, a federal judge has ruled. U.S. District Judge Steven J. McAuliffe of the District of New Hampshire said the town of Candia must reconsider its decision denying the request for an exception and variance made by New Cingular Wireless PCS, owned by AT&T. The judge's decision was a mixed victory for AT&T, which had wanted him to order Candia's zoning board to grant the special excepti...

Online Fraud: FTC SHUTS DOWN CROSS-BORDER DOMAIN NAME SCAM. FICQ v. Data Bus Solutions, 14 No. 8 Westlaw Journal Telecommunications Industry 7, Westlaw Journal Telecommunications Industry August 31, 2010
 The Federal Trade Commission has permanently closed down a Toronto, Canada-based group of con artists who bilked Internet domain name holders of more than $4 million through bogus renewal invoices. The FTC announced a settlement that shut down Internet Listing Service Corp. and five other corporate entities. The investigation also resulted in judgments against defendants Ari Balabanian, Isaac Bentolo and Kirk Mulveney. According to a stipulated final judgment in the case, the defendants wou...

Briefs and Other Related Documents 2010 WL 3198720

Online Negligence: BAIDU'S NEGLIGENCE SUIT AGAINST REGISTER.COM CAN PROCEED. Baidu, Inc. v. Register.com, 14 No. 8 Westlaw Journal Telecommunications Industry 8, Westlaw Journal Telecommunications Industry August 31, 2010

Register.com may have acted with gross negligence when the domain name registrar allowed imposters to reroute traffic intended for Baidu.com, the most popular search engine in China, to a hacker group's website, a federal

Wednesday, September 01, 2010

Commentary: FALSE PATENT MARKING SUITS: HOW JUDGES AND IP RIGHTS HOLDERS CAN RESPOND TO A NEW LITIGATION TREND. James Blackwell, Esq., Monty Agarwal, Esq., and Matthew Bathon, Esq. Final, 14 No. 8 Westlaw Journal Telecommunications Industry 1. Westlaw Journal Telecommunications Industry August 31, 2010
James Blackwell, Monty Agarwal and Matthew Bathon of Arnold & Porter discuss the state of the law in "false patent marking" cases. In December the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit issued its decision in Forest Group v. Bon Tool Co., 590 F.3d 1295 (Fed. Cir. 2009), which radically altered the calculation of damages for false patent marking and set off a wave of lawsuits that seek to capitalize on the increased potential for damages for false patent marking under Forest Group. The f...

Net Neutrality: CRITICS WARY OF VERIZON-GOOGLE INTERNET PARTNERSHIP. 14 No. 8 Westlaw Journal Telecommunications Industry 2. Westlaw Journal Telecommunications Industry August 31, 2010
Google's recent announcement that it has teamed up with Verizon to manage Internet traffic is either a boon or a threat to an open Internet, depending on where you stand. Although Google insists the announcement is a policy proposal, not a business deal, consumer groups say the proposal would undermine an open and free Internet. The deal reportedly would allow customers to obtain specialized services that they are willing to pay for. It also contains prohibitions against blocking or degrad...

E-Mail Privacy: N.J. APPEALS COURT DENIES BID TO UNMASK SENDER OF OFFENSIVE E-MAILS. Juzwik v. Doe, 14 No. 9 Westlaw Journal Telecommunications Industry 3. Westlaw Journal Telecommunications Industry August 31, 2010

A plaintiff's failure to fully flesh out his claim for intentional infliction of emotional distress is fatal to his bid to force Yahoo to reveal the identity of a sender of allegedly harassing e-mail messages, a New Jersey appellate court has ruled. The suit involves an unidentified sender's e-mails to plaintiff Tom Juzwik, a tenured teacher at Hightstown High School. Juzwik claimed that during summer 2009, someone identifying himself online as "Josh Hartnett" sent him a series of harassing e...

Employment Dissemination: VERIZON WORKER CAN PURSUE HARASSMENT CLAIM, 2ND CIRCUIT SAYS. Puerto v. Verizon Communications, 14 No. 8 Westlaw Journal Telecommunications Industry 4. Westlaw Journal Telecommunications Industry August 31, 2010

A Verizon Communications employee presented enough evidence to allow a jury to decide whether she was the victim of sexual harassment on the job, the 2nd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals has ruled. Plaintiff Joan Pucino's evidence included derogatory statements against her and harassing actions such as the placement of a large, dead snake in her work truck, according to the appeals court. It vacated a lower court's summary judgment favoring Verizon. Pucino started working for Verizon as an opera...

FTC vs. Intel SETTLES FTC'S CHARGES OF ANTI-COMPETITIVE CONDUCT. In re Intel Corp., 14 No. 6 Westlaw Journal Telecommunications Industry 5. Westlaw Journal Telecommunications Industry August 31, 2010

The Federal Trade Commission and Intel Corp. have settled the agency's charges that the company was illegally dominating the computer microchip market. The FTC said Intel's anti-competitive practices were cutting off its rivals' access to the marketplace in violation of the Federal Trade Commission Act, 15 U.S.C. 41. The chip maker was trying to coerce computer manufacturers not to buy rival central processing units by way of exclusive or restrictive dealings, according to the complaint, filed...

Local Zoning: N.H. TOWN MUST RECONSIDER REJECTION OF AT&T TOWER, COURT RULES. New Circular Wireless v. Town of Candia, N.H., 14 No. 8 Westlaw Journal Telecommunications Industry 6. Westlaw Journal Telecommunications Industry August 31, 2010

A New Hampshire town failed to adequately support its reasons for denying AT&T's application to build a cell tower, a federal judge has ruled. U.S. District Judge Steven J. McAuliffe of the District of New Hampshire said the town of Candia must reconsider its decision denying the request for an exception and variance made by New Circular Wireless PCS, owned by AT&T. The judge's decision was a mixed victory for AT&T, which had wanted him to order Candia's zoning board to grant the special except...

Craigslist: FTC SHUTS DOWN CROSS-BORDER DOMAIN NAME SCAM. FTC v. DataBus, Spiphones, 14 No. 9 Westlaw Journal Telecommunications Industry 7. Westlaw Journal Telecommunications Industry August 31, 2010
The Federal Trade Commission has permanently closed down a Toronto, Canada-based group of con artists who bilked Internet domain name holders of more than $4 million through bogus renewal invoices. The FTC announced a settlement that shut down Internet Listing Service Corp. and five other corporate entities. The investigation also resulted in judgments against defendants An Balabanian, Isaac Benilo and Kirk Mulveney. According to a stipulated final judgment in the case, the defendants wou...

Online Negligence: BAIDU'S NEGLIGENCE SUIT AGAINST REGISTER.COM CAN PROCEED. Baidu Inc. v. Register.com, 14 No. 8 Westlaw Journal Telecommunications Industry 8. Westlaw Journal Telecommunications Industry August 31, 2010
Register.com may have acted with gross negligence when the domain name registrar allowed imposters to reroute traffic intended for Baidu.com, the most popular search engine in China, to a hacker group's website, a federal