Revenue and traffic

While Denton does not go into detail over Gawker Media's finances, he has downplayed the profit potential of blogs^[4], declaring that "[b]logs are likely to be better for readers than for capitalists. While I love the medium, I've always been skeptical about the value of blogs as businesses," on his personal site^[5].

Fleshbot

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

Fleshbot is a sex-oriented weblog, published by Gawker Media. It was launched in November 2003 as the third online title from Gawker. The range of subject matter includes everything from amateur sex blogs and thumbnail gallery posts to news about sex in popular culture and advertising. The blog covers both heterosexual and homosexual erotica^[1] and users have the ability to filter between the two if they choose.

Fleshbot is edited by Lux Alptraum (formerly Lux Nightmare).

Fleshbot appears on the ACMA Blacklist (see Internet censorship in Australia) that was released via Wikileaks on March 20, 2009.^[2]

What Color Are Your Panties, Ashlan Gorse?

For a moment we got really excited and thought that E!'s Ashlan Gorse wasn't wearing anything at all under her skirt, but it was just wishful thinking. Because that's clearly nude (for her) fabric, but not genuine nudity. No early Christmas gift for us.

Actually, Ashlan's sporting a lot of patches of tan here and there, which create the illusion that she's exposing both her shoulders and her pussy. Perhaps it's a strategic thing? Or a thematic one?

NEW YORK (CBS) The legal battle between Gawker and actors Eric Dane and Rebecca Gayheart has been settled after the website agreed to take down the couple's homemade sex tape in return for them not suing the bejeezuz out of the gossip blog.

The Grey's Anatomy star and his wife had sued Gawker in September for copyright infringement, after their threesome web video leaked to the internet, showing Dane, Gayheart and former beauty queen Kari Ann Peniche romping around naked and at times barely coherent.

The lawsuit claimed that Gawker "maliciously" distributed an uncensored version of the sex tape and refused to comply with a cease and desist order.

According to Reuters, Gawker and the couple agreed to private mediation, which facilitated a settlement that was filed with the Los Angeles County Superior Court last week. Sources close to the case valued the settlement in the low-six figures.

Dane and Gayheart were originally asking for more than $1 million in damages.

"Although we are confident that our use of the video on Gawker was protected fair use -- because the posts already had been available to our readers for nearly a year, and because we already had won an important decision from the court striking large parts of the plaintiffs' damages claims -- we agreed to remove the posts as part of a global settlement to avoid the burden of further litigation," Gawker chief operating officer Gaby Darbyshire said in a statement obtained by Reuters.

Dane first appeared in ABC's highly rated show, "Grey's Anatomy," in 2005, in which he played Dr. Mark Sloan, also known as McSteamy. His popularity with fans led to a regular role on the show.

Gayheart is a television and film actress known for roles in "CSI: Miami," "Nip/Tuck," and "Vanished." She also had a recurring role in the original Beverly Hills 90210 series.

Peniche is a former beauty queen who won Miss United States Teen, but was stripped of her title after appearing nude in Playboy.

At one point in the video, Gayheart, who seems to be holding the camera, says "I need to lay down too. I am very high." She then joins a naked Peniche, who was lounging on the bed.

Gawker had released a 12-minute edited version of the video in which everyone's lower private parts are blurred over. Other sites have been more revealing.

Arnold Schwarzenegger's longtime personal flight attendant has filed a $40 million lawsuit that claims Gawker, the National Enquirer, the London Daily Mail and other news outlets libeled her in articles portraying her as the ex-California governor's mistress and one of her sons as his secret love child.

Schwarzenegger

In the July 28 suit, filed in Orange County Superior Court, Tammy Tousignant of Brea seeks damages for defamation by libel, invasion of privacy and misappropriation of personal images following a series of 2003 and 2011 articles that wrongly alleged she "was Arnold's lover" and that her son, Tanner, "was Arnold's."

Harry Frank Scolinos, Tousignant's Pasadena-based lawyer, slammed the publications in his 117-page brief, which includes copies of the offending articles.

"Freedom of the press is a valuable right, but it is not a license for gossipy tabloids to tar and feather innocent citizens and destroy their reputations for the rags' profit," wrote Scolinos. "Given the nearly instantaneous and worldwide availability of on-line and print articles, one would expect more rigorous standards to be imposed on those who report news, particularly where such 'news' involves disclosing very personal and private details of the lives of non-public figures."

According to the lawsuit, Tanner--a graduate of Brea Olinda High School--is the August 1992 offspring of Tammy and her husband Tom. The couple--married since 1992--have another son, Conner, who was born in July 1997. Tammy worked as Schwarzenegger's flight attendant on the wealthy Hollywood actor's private jet from 1987 to 1999.

Articles in 2003 claimed that "not only was there an affair between Arnold and Tammy but that Tammy claimed that her son was fathered by Arnold," that Tanner "bears a physical resemblance to Arnold," and that the boy is "Arnold's love child."

Earlier this year, the Los Angeles Times reported that Schwarzenegger had privately
