All claims against Patriot Engineering and Environmental, Inc. have been dismissed. The claims of J.P. Murray Company, Inc. against Patriot Engineering were dismissed voluntarily, without prejudice. The claims of Piasa Commercial Interiors against Patriot Engineering and Environmental, Inc. were dismissed by the Court pursuant to a Summary Judgment Motion.

II. NATURE OF THE CASE

Plaintiff Piasa Commercial Interiors, Inc. (“Piasa”) brought suit for breach of contract and conversion arising from a construction project on the Richland Memorial Hospital in Olney, Illinois. J.P. Murray Company, Inc. (“Murray Company”) is the design-build general contractor. Fidelity and Deposit Company of Maryland (“F&D”) is its bonding company. Piasa is a subcontractor of Murray Company, which performed drywall, carpentry, fireproofing and related work.

Piasa claims that Murray Company breached the subcontract by failing to pay amounts due the Piasa, out of funds Murray Company had already been paid by the owner for such work, and by wrongfully terminating the subcontract. Piasa also claims that Murray Company and F&D, acting in concert, converted the funds that were due, and belonged to, Piasa.

Murray Company and F&D deny Piasa’s claims. Murray Company denies that any money received from the owner was Piasa’s property (which could be converted) and asserts it did not pay amounts claimed by Piasa because Piasa was not entitled to payment of those amounts under the parties’ subcontract agreement. Specifically, Murray Company claims Piasa was not entitled to the amounts claimed because Piasa billed for work it had not yet performed, because Piasa was refusing to perform work on the project as required under Piasa’s subcontract, and because Piasa failed to satisfy other conditions precedent to payment. Murray Company claims it correctly terminated Piasa’s subcontract after Piasa refused to perform work when requested. Defendants’ claim that Murray Company’s defenses apply equally to Piasa’s claim on the payment bond.

With respect to the conversion count, F & D denies that it possessed or controlled any money or property from any source on this Project and denies that it acted in concert with any party to convert any of Piasa’s property.

Murray Company has filed a counterclaim against Piasa for breach of contract. In its counterclaim, Murray Company claims that Piasa breached the parties’ subcontract by refusing to perform work under the scope of the parties’ subcontract agreement when requested. Murray Company also claims Piasa breached the agreement by failing to properly install certain sprayed fire-resistive materials for the Project (commonly referred to as “fireproofing.”). In its counterclaim, Murray Company seeks to recover, among other things, the costs Murray Company incurred to finish work Piasa was supposed to perform under its subcontract, to recover costs Murray Company incurred in connection with removal of fireproofing which Piasa installed, and to recover costs paid to the owner to compensate the owner for Project delay caused by problems with the fireproofing.

Piasa denies all allegations and all defenses of Murray Company and Fidelity and Deposit of Maryland.

III. JURISDICTION

- A. This is an action for damages.
- B. The Court has federal question and supplemental jurisdiction over the claims herein pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 1331, 1352, & 1367. 28 U.S.C. § 1352 states that the “district courts shall have original jurisdiction . . . of any action on a bond executed under any law of the United States.” In this case, the payment bond at issue was required under 7 CFR 1942.18(n) because the project at issue was financed, in part, by a community facilities loan by the USDA. Piasa asserts a claim on the payment bond. The Court has supplemental jurisdiction over the remaining claims in this action pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1367.

IV. UNCONTROVERTED FACTS

6. Murray Company also entered into a purchase order contract with Patriot Engineering and Environmental, Inc. ("Patriot") to provide certain inspection services for the Project.

C. Number of Jurors. There shall be a minimum of six jurors.

5.	00/00/00	Pictures of project, delaminated fireproofing, or areas where delamination occurred.	MC4102	Yes	Exhibits 5-97 are duplicative, not relevant, and barred because of spoilation of evidence. Murray Company barred Piasa from the project on and after June 22, 2007, then performed the "broom test" destructive testing, then removed the remainder of the fireproofing on the roof deck without providing Piasa an opportunity to inspect during that period. No foundation showing when, or by whom, the photographs were taken. The photographs were taken after broom tests (nailing a piece of plywood to the top of a 2" X 2" pole, which is pushed against the fireproofing on the underside of the roof deck). The broom test is not an accepted method of testing fireproofing. There are no standards for the test. It is not recognized as an acceptable test. It is also a destructive test.
