Initial Lionessviziions Partnership Contract

This initial contract is between Delina Brooker, Rhasha Hoosier and Angenita Childs who are collectively LionessViziions LLC.

We each agree to have Mikal Hoosier as our project manager. Before any money is distributed or decisions are made for the company he will have the written OK by all (3) three parties.

We each agree to have Shawn Brooker set up and maintain our website. Everything must be approved by all (3) parties.

In addition Mikal and Shawn will help each other out when needed. There is no personal financial profit for them for their services at this time.

This contract can be revisited and renegotiated in (6) six months time.

All initial costs for start up fees (costs for registration, business license etc) will be equally divided between all three parties. Once we start payment on publishing cost no one party will be able to "back out" of the process for any reason.

It is agreed between all three parties that 70% percent of the sale of the book will go back into the company and be used for reprints, shipping, website costs, and travel costs etc. The remaining 30% will be divided equally between Delina, Rhasha and Angenita.

We must all be in agreement of the first project (Revealing and Healing: 3 Women's Stories of Survival.) of who we hire for editing, publishing, cover and the 'flow' of the book etc. If for whatever reason we cannot come to a unanimous agreement (for the creative process only.) then the majority rules. We all agree to physically sale the books via internet, networking, conferences, mentoring and 'foot work' by going out into the community and making face to face contact with the public. If for whatever reason anyone refuses to do the 'foot work' their commission will be reduced to 4%; the remaining 6% will go back into the company.
