Pat,

Just wanted to find out if the Roche medium had been shipped, or when you expect it will be shipped.

Regards,

Kevin

Kevin,

I have been informed by Roche scientists in Penzberg that at the moment there is no cultivation media for fermentation available because they are in the midst of the manufacturing harvesting procedure this week, which does not require fresh cultivation media. Production of new media will begin next week and the earliest that the freshly prepared media can be shipped is Wednesday, May 2nd.

I will alert you when it is shipped.

Pat

Pat,

Please have them send the "culture" medium (does that already contain methotrexate?) to:

Richard D. Kolodner, Ph.D.
Attn: James Mueller
Laboratory of Cancer Genetics
Ludwig Institute for Cancer Research
UC San Diego School of Medicine
CMM-East
Room 3080
9500 Gilman Dr.
La Jolla, CA 92093-0660

Regards,

Kevin

Kevin,

One additional question. Roche has two types of media, preculture (without selection pressure) & culture (with selection pressure). Which one does Kolodner need?

Thanks,
Pat

Kevin,

There was some confusion regarding the proper address for Dr. Kolodner last time. Please confirm the proper address by e-mail. We are hoping to get the shipment out today or tomorrow at the latest.

thanks,
Pat

Pat,

Thank you for your letter today. Please have your Roche contact send the media to Dr. Kolodner using the same address to which Roche sent the cells.

Regards,

Kevin
