TALK TO US ON VIDEO ONLINE

Welcome to the Count Dante video production service

In the late 1960's to mid 1970's, The World's Deadliest Fighting Secrets by John Timothy Keehan aka "Count Dante" became one of the most popular comic book martial arts advert of all time. It was featured in comic books and men's magazines around the world. The book itself was published in French and English.

I am making a film titled The Search for Count Dante and I want to know who bought this book and why. You can tell me directly if you have a webcam attached to your computer.

Go to the next page and begin the production of your own video to tell me why you bought The World's Deadliest Fighting Secrets and what you thought about Count Dante; what you did with it; was it useful for self defense; are you still in the martial arts today and how did this book impact you ideas about martial arts; if at all.
