Mark,

It was a pleasure to talk to you again. Confirming our conversation, Julia and I are representing the defendants in this case, and we requested a 30 day extension to answer or move with respect to the complaint. We also suggested that it might be useful to have an early meeting with you and Greg (and your client if you wish), to explain to you the background of the creation of Kung Fu Panda, and show you some of the evidence regarding independent creation. As I told you in our conversation, the purpose of this meeting would not be to "settle" the case, since DreamWorks is not willing to pay anything on this claim. Rather, we would be willing to show you some of the evidence so that you and your client could consider whether this is a case that is worth pursuing, considering the time and expense that it will entail. Dates that work for us for this proposed meeting (in this order of preference) are March 24, 29, 31 or 30, with the first two being considerably easier. At the meeting, in addition to Julia and me, an in-house lawyer from DreamWorks would be present. Please let me know at your earliest convenience about the extension, and the meeting. I look forward to seeing you, one way or the other on this case.

Jonathan
