UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
DISTRICT OF NEVADA

2:14-CV-421 JCM (NJK)

GLOBAL EXPERIENCE
SPECIALISTS, INC.,

Plaintiff(s),

v.

PAUL CUNIFFE,

Defendant(s).

ORDER

Presently before the court are Magistrate Judge Nancy Koppe’s report and recommendation, (doc. # 21), granting the defendant’s motion to transfer venue, (doc. # 8), and denying the defendant’s motions to stay and dismiss, (doc. # 6, 7), as moot.

I. Background

The defendant entered into an employment, covenant not to compete, and confidentiality agreement with the plaintiff in 2008. The agreement provides for a two year period following the employment term in which the defendant would not work for two of the plaintiff’s competitors.

On October 24, 2013, while still employed by the plaintiff, the defendant accepted an offer of employment from one of the two competitors — the Freeman Companies. A few days later, the defendant resigned from his employment with the plaintiff. However as of the time of filing of the complaint, the plaintiff has not yet begun his employment with the Freeman Companies.

1 On March 20, 2014, after failing to agree to arbitration, the defendant and the Freeman
2 Companies filed a complaint in Massachusetts Superior Court (the “Massachusetts action”) and six
3 hours later the plaintiff filed its complaint in Nevada (the “Nevada action”). At issue is the plaintiff’s
4 objection to the report and recommendation granting a change of venue, claiming that the magistrate
5 judge improperly applied the first-to-file rule and relevant factors in recommending the court grant
6 the defendant’s motion to transfer venue.

7 II. Legal Standard

8 This court “may accept, reject, or modify, in whole or in part, the findings or 9 recommendations made by the magistrate.” 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1). Where a party timely objects to 10 a magistrate judge’s report and recommendation, then the court is required to “make a de novo
11 determination of those portions of the [report and recommendation] to which objection is made.”
12 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1).

13 III. Discussion

14 28 U.S.C. section 1404(a) gives discretion to the district court to transfer venue “[f]or the 15 convenience of parties and witnesses, in the interest of justice.” A district court may transfer any 16 civil action to any other district or division based on an “individualized, case-by-case consideration
17 of convenience and fairness.” Van Dusen v. Barrack, 376 U.S. 612, 622 (1964).

18 The first-to-file rule “permits a district court to decline jurisdiction over an action when a 19 complaint involving the same parties and issues has already been filed in another district.” Pacesetter
20 Sys., Inc. v. Medtronic, Inc., 678 F.2d 93, 94–95 (9th Cir. 1982); see also Olin Corp. v. Cont’l Cas.
21 Co., 2011 WL 1337407, *2 (D. Nev. April 6, 2011) (holding that the purpose of the first-to-file rule 22 is to “avoid the waste of duplication, to avoid rulings which may trench upon the authority of sister
23 courts, and to avoid piecemeal resolution of issues that call for a uniform result”). In the instant case,
24 the magistrate judge properly found that the parties and issues in both actions were sufficient to 25 warrant application of the first-to-file rule and that the rule favors the defendant.

26 Although the plaintiff claims that the Massachusetts action was filed in anticipation of the 27 Nevada action, (doc. # 22), the plaintiff improperly brings this argument for the first time before this 28

1 court. See Greenhow v. Secretary of Health & Human Services, 863 F.2d 633 (9th Cir. 1998)
2 (affirming that a district court may decline to hear arguments first raised in a party's objection to a
3 magistrate judge's report and recommendation and that the Magistrate Judge Act, 28 U.S.C. section 4 636 was not "intended to give litigants an opportunity to run one version of their case before the 5 magistrate, then another past the district court"). More importantly, the argument has no merit. In 6 fact, it was the defendant who notified the plaintiff's counsel regarding the filing of the 7 Massachusetts action and the plaintiff who tried to file an anticipatory suit.

8 Furthermore, the magistrate judge properly considered the relevant factors in determining 9 whether to transfer this matter. Although the original agreement was drafted in Nevada, and the 10 defendant has attended trade shows in the state, these factors are insufficient to prevent transfer to 11 Massachusetts. Considering the interests of justice and convenience for all the parties, transfer is 12 favored because the defendant was employed by the plaintiff in Massachusetts, his inability to obtain 13 further employment affects him within that state, and the defendant—a Massachusetts resident, as 14 well as both employers, have significant contacts within the state.

15 IV. Conclusion

16 The magistrate judge properly determined that the first-to-file rule applies. Furthermore,
17 considerations of the interests of justice and convenience and review of the relevant factors support
18 that the instant case be transferred to the district of Massachusetts. Nothing in this order shall affect 19 the pending motions to dismiss, (doc. # 6), and to stay, (doc. # 7).

20 Accordingly,

21 IT IS ORDERED, ADJUDGED, AND DECREED that magistrate judge's report and 22 recommendation (doc. # 21) be, and the same hereby are, ADOPTED in their entirety.

23 IT IS FURTHERED ORDERED that the defendant's motion to transfer venue (doc. # 8) be,
24 and the same hereby is GRANTED.

25 DATED July 30, 2014.
