Walter Stevens Again.
How Messlein and Gov. Small were of one mind over the parole of Walter Stevens, long notorious gangster-killer, was revealed in letters discovered on Thursday, and in others made public yesterday. It was shown how Messlein dominated the parole board, Colvin, Supt. Green and others in Stevens' behalf.

Before showing the new Messlein letters Attorney General Carstrom, and State's Attorney Grove offered as a typical case of Messlein's pardon mill the following two notes. The first was addressed to Ed Girard, an officer of the Major Engineering company, is dated March 20, 1924, and follows:

"Friend Ed: I have a friend who wants to get a fellow out of the penitentiary, and how is he to go about it? We will come in if you think we can do anything. Hunt O'CONNOR, Marzeno, Ill."

Assured Help at Once.
Although the name of the convict was not given, nor any claim that he deserved clemency, O'Connell was sent the following reply, a copy of which was found in Messlein's safe:

"Dear friend: I feel sure we can help you in the matter of which you wrote, but must know more about the case in order to tell you definitely what can be done and the details regarding same.

"Come in to see me personally about it and we will talk over the matters connected with the case and see what will have to be done. I shall expect to see you here at the office on Saturday, March 22."

Also Lee O'Neil Browne, State Representative Lee O'Neil Browne, who has been shown to have aided Stevens in his parole matter, wrote a letter found in Messlein's files in which he protested against another

Harvard Scans Racial Traits of Applicants

Cambridge, Mass., May 7.—(AP)—The Harvard Liberal club will say tomorrow in its publication, the Gadfly, that Prof. Henry Pennypacker, chairman of the committee on admissions at Harvard, has stated that racial characteristics are considered in passing upon applicants and that "race is part of the record."

The quoted statement adds that race "is by no means the whole record, and no man will be kept out on grounds of race." The editors of the student organ said that Mr. Pennypacker had certified as correct the statements attributed to him. Mr. Pennypacker could not be reached tonight.

Extreme-Racial Characteristics.
"The whole record does include evidences of the candidate's character, personality, and promise," the quoted statement reads. "Jerk fitness to give the most to Harvard and to derive the most from what Harvard has to offer. Traits of character which tend to prevent a boy from becoming a part of our great-fellowship of Harvard will be weighed.

"Among these traits may be extreme racial characteristics. Race is a part of the record. It is by no means the whole record, and no man will be kept out on grounds of race, but those racial characteristics which make for race isolation will, if they are borne by the individual, be taken into consideration as a part of that individual's character, personality, and promise.

Denies Race Discrimination.

Martin Durkin, ex-hick bandit who is under indictment as the slayer of two men, found himself without a lawyer yesterday in Judge Harry B. Miller's Criminal court. Attorney John F. Tyrrell, who heretofore has represented the bandit, told Judge Miller yesterday that he had withdrawn and asked that Durkin be given time to obtain new counsel.

Judge Miller granted a continuance until May 24 and notified Durkin's mother that unless she obtained another attorney for her son that he would appoint lawyers to defend him. Last evening Mrs. Durkin announced that she was hopeful of raising enough money.

Tells of Alleged Wooing.

He began to make love to me. That was last fall. I didn't know what to do. You see, he was our pastor. I repulsed him; I told him not to come near the house any more or I would inform my husband. But he kept on. He would park his car in the neighborhood and drop in by the back door. He tried to kiss me. He forced me to kiss him. I told my husband."

"I warned Mr. Curtiss to stay away from our home," Bryan said. "I didn't want to take extreme measures with him."

"When I insisted he stop his foolishness," Mrs. Bryan continued, "he told me that he had had 33 years' experience in such things and that it would take a sly person to catch him. Tells Chief of Police.

The husband said that about six weeks ago he told the chief of police that Mr. Curtiss was annoying Mrs. Bryan.

The petition in the case charges that the hours locked consistently to prevent the minister from entering unannounced. She also claimed she was afraid he would do her bodily harm.

"The charge is utter nonsense," the Rev. Mr. Curtiss said. "Yes, I look in Mrs. Bryan's home from church several times; but I have taken other women home, too. About a week ago, however, I may have joked with Mrs. Little, and I may even have said—jokingly, of course—that I would like to go away with her."

Denies Race Discrimination.

"If there should result, in fact, any substantial change in the proportion of groups in the college following the application of the test, this will be due not to race discrimination or any quota system, but to the failure of particular individuals to possess, as individuals, those evidences of character, personality, and promise which, weighed with other evidences, render them more fit than other individuals to receive all that Harvard has to offer."
 "Of course there will be criticisms. It will be said that Harvard is discriminating on grounds of race. That will not be true."
 Scores Harvard Rum Parties.
 Boston, Mass., May 7.—[Special.]—Judge Arthur P. Stone of East Cambridge court said today that he would investigate the practice of Harvard students taking girls to their apartments for drinking parties.

Both girls were arrested by a patrolman who saw them leaving the Crangle apartments in a drunken state.
