Further to our discussions last week, and my messages this week, I have not heard back from you regarding deposition scheduling, so am noticing Prof. Galler's deposition for Tuesday, July 25, 2006, in Ann Arbor. As I previously informed you, Dr. Luna and Prof. Steckel are not available for deposition on the dates noticed, and these depositions will be in San Diego and New York, respectively.

Regarding the other depositions, we discussed extending the remaining expert depositions into August, particularly in light of the updated Toolbar data Andy requested to supplement the previous calculations in the damages reports. We both agreed this was fine. Furthermore, I understand from Frank that NetJumper does not have issue with Google taking Dr. Stark's deposition out of turn, given his unavailability for the scheduled trial date. Again, please tell me when you are available to attend Dr. Stark's deposition, which will be in Bellevue, and we can work to find a mutually agreeable date.

I will send you a draft stipulation next week to address these issues.

Very truly yours,

Jason W. Wolff
