Dear Daniel Dougherty:

We are in receipt of your e-mail concerning the above-referenced domain name. Navigation Catalyst Systems, Inc. attempts to avoid registering domain names that incorporate the names or trademarks of others. After reviewing your communication and investigating the situation, we have determined that these domain names were inadvertently not blocked by our screening procedures.

We can do one of two things to resolve this situation:

(1) We can cancel our registration in the domain name and drop it back into the general pool. PLEASE NOTE: The cancellation process can take up to 45 days to complete.

(2) At no cost to you, we can transfer the domain name to a GoDaddy.com (<http://www.godaddy.com/>) registrar account in the name of your client. If you wish to proceed with this method (which we prefer), we will need the name of your or your client's GoDaddy.com registrar account and the appropriate WHOIS information for the new registrant. Specifically, we need the following:

First Name:
Last Name:
Organization: (optional)
Address 1:
Address 2: (optional)
City:
State:
ZIP Code:
Country:
Email Address:
Phone: +1.
Fax: +1. (optional)

Please keep in mind that the transfer process confirmation emails will be sent to the email on the WHOIS record you provide us so you will need to coordinate with this person regarding the transfer from your end.

Please let us know which of these two methods you prefer. If we do not hear from you by December 1, 2005 we will presume that you wish for us to pursue

the first method and cancel the registration in the domain name.

This letter should not be construed as an admission or acknowledgment of liability, which is expressly denied.

Best Regards,
Domain Administrator
Navigation Catalyst Systems, Inc

To Whom It May Concern:

Yahoo! Inc. ("Yahoo!") is aware of Navigation Catalyst Systems' ("NCS") past registration of many domain names which infringe, dilute and tarnish the famous YAHOO! trademark. In addition, NCS has registered domain names which in fringe the trademarks of Yahoo! companies such as Kelkoo.com with its registration of keelko.com (the "Domain").

As NCS is aware, the YAHOO! trademark is one of the most recognized brands in the world and yahoo.com is one of the leading Internet sites.

Kelkoo.com is Europe's leading online comparison shopping service and largest e-commerce service.

Yahoo! provides NCS with this one opportunity to informally resolve this matter. By no later than November 4, 2005, NCS must provide written assurances that it:

(1) has disabled the website located at the Domain and has ceased all unauthorized uses of the YAHOO! and KELKOO marks; and

(2) will transfer to Yahoo! ownership of the Domain as well as any other YAHOO and/or KELKOO-formative domain names owned or controlled by NCS, and represent in writing that NCS does not possess or control any other such domain names; and

(3) will permanently refrain from any future unlawful registration and use of the YAHOO! and KELKOO marks, or any other mark, name, domain name, or designation that is confusingly similar to the Yahoo! name or marks.

Following timely action by NCS and our receipt of the necessary written assurances, Yahoo! will authorize its representative to initiate the transfer of the Domain and any other identified domains.

We look forward to your anticipated cooperation. All rights and remedies expressly reserved.

Sincerely,

Daniel Dougherty | Corporate Counsel | Yahoo! Inc.
