Create a Weather Sticker For Your Web Page

You can easily put weather on your web site, courtesy of LawrencevilleWeather.com. These weather images are automatically updated every 20 minutes, and even indicate if a weather warning or advisory is active. You can choose from several different forecast styles and background options, and then copy the resulting code to your web page. All we ask is that you don't modify the resulting link or image in any way.

To Create Your Forecast:

1. Type the location for your forecast, for example, 'Lawrenceville, GA', 'Gwinnett County, GA', or '30045'. (Don't type the quotes).

2. Select either a background color or a background image. Background image samples appear to the right as you click the buttons.

3. Click Create Images to create your weather stickers and the code to put them on your site.

4. Click in the text box to the right of the image you want to display on your web page, and press CTRL-A to select the entire text, then CTRL-C to copy the text to the clipboard.

5. In an HTML editor, open the page on which you want to display the forecast, and paste the code at the location you would like it to display. You can put the code in a table cell, or change the image alignment to position it the way you want.

6. That's it! When your page displays in the browser, the forecast image is automatically loaded from our website.
