EASTERN DISTRICT OF MICHIGAN
SOUTHERN DIVISION

REX WEAVER,

Plaintiff,

Case No. 2:09-cv-14820

v.

Judge Patrick J. Duggan
Magistrate Judge Mona K. Majzoub

HOME DEPOT USA, INC.

Defendant.

CONFIDENTIALITY STIPULATION AND PROTECTIVE ORDER

At a session of said Court held in the Federal Building,
City of Detroit, State of Michigan on March 2, 2010.
Present: Honorable: Patrick J. Duggan
U.S. District Court Judge

It being represented to the Court that Plaintiff has requested documents from Defendant HOME DEPOT, INC. (Home Depot) which may involve trade secrets, confidential research, proprietary materials, and development and/or commercial information belonging to Home Depot; and,

It being represented to the Court that Home Depot is herewith producing such documents for inspection and view in accordance with the terms of this Agreed Protective Order; and,

It being represented to the Court that the parties are in agreement as to the terms of this Confidentiality Stipulation and Protective Order, and the Court being otherwise fully advised in the premises;

IT IS HEREBY ORDERED, pursuant to FRCP 26(c) that Home Depot will disclose documents that it designates "Confidential and Proprietary" to Plaintiff and their attorneys, only pursuant to this Protective Order and under the conditions that follow:

- (1) Any and all of the aforesaid documents and materials disclosed by Home Depot and the contents thereof shall be maintained in confidence by Plaintiff, Plaintiff's experts and/or consultants retained on Plaintiff's behalf and/or his attorneys. Documents and materials deemed subject to this Order shall not be photocopied, disseminated or reproduced by any means not otherwise provided for in this Order without the prior consent of counsel for Home Depot until further order of this Court;
- (2) Any and all of the aforesaid documents and materials produced by Home Depot and the contents thereof shall be used only in connection with the above-captioned action.
- (3) No person who examines any documents or materials produced pursuant to this Order shall disseminate orally, in writing, or by any other means, the documents or materials, or the information contained therein, to any person not also authorized to examine the documents and materials under the terms of this Order;
- (4) Plaintiff and her attorneys may permit Plaintiff's consultants or Plaintiff's experts retained by Plaintiff and/or Plaintiff's attorneys to review the documents and materials and/or copies of same subject to this Protective Order; but Plaintiff's attorneys must first obtain from such consultants and/or experts a written statement confirming the consultant's and/or expert's agreement to comply with each of the terms of this Protective Order. Each such consultant or expert shall agree in writing that copies of such documents and materials provided and the contents thereof, shall not be disclosed to any other person or entity and that said documents and materials shall not be photocopied, disseminated or reproduced by any means for use or reference outside the subject litigation. Any documents or materials and/or copies of same provided to any such consultant or expert must be returned to Home Depot within thirty (30) days of the conclusion of the above-referenced case pursuant to the terms of Paragraph 8 below;
- (5) This Order shall be without prejudice to the right of any party to challenge the propriety of discovery on any grounds, including, but not limited to, relevance, materiality, privilege, or other grounds;
- (6) This Order shall not restrict in any manner the right of any party to offer or to use as evidence at the trial of this action any of the documents or materials subject to this Protective Order; and nothing contained herein shall be construed as a waiver of any objection which might be raised by any party as to the admissibility into evidence of any documents or other materials;
- (7) At the conclusion of this action by settlement, jury verdict, non-suit, dismissal, or other disposition, by judgment order or otherwise, all of the documents and materials produced by Home Depot and designated as “Confidential and Proprietary” pursuant to this Protective Order, including any and all copies or renditions made from such documents and materials, shall be returned to Home Depot, through Home Depot’s counsel, within thirty (30) days following the conclusion of this action;

- (8) A breach of the terms of this Protective Order may entitle Home Depot to appropriate sanctions, including but not limited to attorneys’ fees and costs incurred in the enforcement of this Order.
- (9) Notwithstanding any provision of this Order, Plaintiff’s attorney may utilize any of the produced confidential and/or proprietary materials in deposition, at trial and/or as part of court filings, as long as, if said materials are filed with the court, said materials that are designated as confidential and/or proprietary are filed separately under seal. If used at deposition, the court reporter shall be required to keep separate those documents and/or materials deemed to come within the terms of this Order. Neither party waives the right to object to the use and/or admissibility of said materials at or during deposition and/or trial.
- (10) The terms of this Order shall apply to any documents and/or materials deemed confidential and/or proprietary by Home Depot. However, Plaintiff reserves the right to challenge any confidential and/or proprietary designation.
- (11) If the parties are unable to amicably resolve any dispute regarding a document designated as confidential and/or proprietary by Home Depot, the matter will be submitted to the Court for consideration and a formal ruling. In the event Plaintiff successfully challenges any disputed document sought to be designated as proprietary and/or confidential by Home Depot, those documents considered and ruled upon by the Court in Plaintiff’s favor will not be subject to the terms of this Protective Order.

IT IS SO ORDERED.
