

Exhibit A

Declaration of Plaintiff Angelo Binno

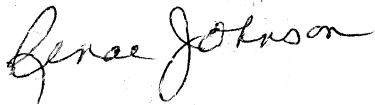

1. The information contained in this affidavit is based on my personal knowledge, except where otherwise stated, and I am competent and able to testify regarding the matters contained herein.
2. I am in the named Plaintiff in the above captioned lawsuit.
3. As the Amended Complaint alleges, I am legally blind and have attempted to take the Law School Admission Test ("LSAT") but have performed poorly on both of my attempts based on my inability to draw diagrams, a skill that was specifically mentioned in the instructions for the Logical Reasoning section of the exam.
4. When registering for the LSAT, I informed the Law School Admission Council ("LSAC") of my disability and I was informed that my score was treated as a "non-standard" score and therefore I did not receive a percentile ranking for my score.
5. The assertion in the in the Defendant's Motion to Dismiss the Amended Complaint that I scored in the fourth and seventh percentile of all applicants who took the LSAT under normal testing conditions (See Dkt. Entry 17, ¶3), is untrue as I have never received a percentile score based on my performance on the examination as the LSAC has informed me through their website, which was reads to me prior to my testimony herein, that "Percentile ranks of nonstandard-time scores are not available and will not be reported."

FURTHER AFFIANT SAYETH NOT.
