OPINION AND ORDER DENYING THE MOTION OF DEFENDANT J. GOTTSCHALK
D/B/A TRUE GEM CO. TO DISMISS THE FIRST AMENDED COMPLAINT

This matter is presently before the Court on the motion of defendant Judith Taite Gottschalk (“J. Gottschalk”) d/b/a True Gem Co. (“True Gem”) for dismissal of plaintiff’s first amended complaint [docket entry 64]. Plaintiff has filed a response in opposition and defendant has filed a reply. Pursuant to E.D. Mich. LR 7.1(f)(2), the Court shall decide this motion on the briefs.

This case involves a commercial transaction gone awry. Plaintiff Kalitta Air, LLC (“Kalitta”) is a cargo airline operating from Ypsilanti, Michigan. In July 2009 Kalitta entered into a Jet Fuel Purchase Agreement (“JFPA”) with GSB & Associates, Inc. (“GSB”), now known as GSBD & Associates, Inc. (“GSBD”), whereby Kalitta would purchase jet fuel from GSB. A copy of the JFPA is attached to the First Amended Complaint (“FAC”) as Ex. 1. The essence of the JFPA, and of the Escrow Agreement attached thereto as Ex. A, was that Kalitta would order fuel from GSB, monthly or as needed, and deposit the purchase price into an escrow account. GSB would deliver the fuel to a terminal in New Jersey. When the escrow agent, FIEC, received certain documentation verifying the amount and quality of the fuel GSB had delivered, FIEC was to release the escrowed funds. Gray signed the JFPA and the Escrow Agreement as GSB’s managing director; Conrad Kalitta signed both documents as Kalitta’s president; and G. Gottschalk signed the Escrow Agreement as FIEC’s executive vice-president.

In addition to GSBD itself, the defendants in this matter are Gray (individually and as the trustee of the William Gray Trust), Cree Enterprises, LLC (“Cree”) and S. Westman, all allegedly managing members of GSB; G. Gottschalk, allegedly a managing member of GSB and an agent of FIEC; J. Gottschalk, allegedly the managing member of Cree; FIEC and its alleged alter ego, FIEG; Dhafir Dalaly, allegedly the managing member of FIEC; Hamood, Runco & Fergestrom (“HRF”), a law firm whose client trust account for FIEC served initially as the escrow account at issue in this case¹; and True Gem Co., C. Westman, Scottfuel, LLC, OGM, Ltd., Sheldon Sandweiss and Michael T. Lyon, allegedly all recipients of a portion of the improperly disbursed escrow funds. See FAC ¶¶ 3-17.

Kalitta alleges, in short, that it paid far more into the escrow account than it received in jet fuel and that defendants perpetrated an elaborate scam to divert and steal the difference of approximately $4.7 million. Plaintiff alleges, among other things, that the escrow agent released escrowed funds without first receiving required documentation; that GSB delivered far less fuel than plaintiff had ordered and paid for; that a GSB employee created fake invoices to convince plaintiff that plaintiff's funds were being used to purchase fuel from a third-party; and that the escrow agent transferred hundreds of thousands and perhaps millions of dollars from the escrow account to various defendants (e.g., GSB, FIEC, Gray and his trust, G. Gottschalk, Dalaly, Cree, S. Westman, Sandweiss, C. Westman, OGM, True Gem and Lyon) and third parties (e.g., KeroJet, a bank in Lithuania, Dresden Bank, an individual in Russia, and an entity in Abu Dhabi) none of whom or which had anything to do with purchasing or supplying jet fuel for plaintiff. See FAC ¶¶ 45-55.

The FAC asserts ten claims. Count I is a claim under the Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations Act ("RICO"), 18 U.S.C. § 1962(c) and (d), against Gray, Gottschalk, Cree, S. Westman, Dalaly, FIEC, FIEG and HRF; Count II is a claim for statutory conversion under Mich. Comp. Laws § 600.2919(A) against Gray, G. Gottschalk, J. Gottschalk, Cree, S. Westman, Dalaly, FIEC, FIEG and HRF; Counts III and IV are claims for fraud and fraud in the inducement against Gray, G. Gottschalk, S. Westman, Cree, Dalaly, FIEC, FIEG and HRF. Count V is a claim for breach of contract against GSBD, FIEC and FIEG. Count VI is a claim for common law conversion against GSBD, Gray, G. Gottschalk, Cree, J. Gottschalk, S. Westman, C. Westman, Scottfuel, Dalaly, FIEC, FIEG and HRF. Count VII is a claim for breach of fiduciary duty against Dalaly, FIEC, FIEG and HRF. Count VIII is a claim for common law conspiracy against Gray, G. Gottschalk, Cree, J. Gottschalk, S. Westman, C. Westman, Scottfuel, Dalaly, FIEC, FIEG, HRF, and GSBD. Count IX is a claim for common law concert of action against Gray, G. Gottschalk, Cree, J. Gottschalk, S. Westman, Dalaly, FIEC, FIEG, HRF, and GSBD. And Count X is a claim against all defendants for certain equitable relief.

In addition, FIEC, FIEG and Dalaly (“the Dalaly parties”) have filed a cross claim² against G. Gottschalk, J. Gottschalk, GSBD, Gray and the Gray Trust, asserting a RICO claim. The Dalaly parties allege that the cross claim defendants perpetrated the fraud against plaintiff as alleged in the complaint (but without the Dalaly parties’ knowledge) by, among other things, “deceiving FIEC into unwittingly participating in the transfer of funds belonging to the Plaintiff in this matter.” Cross Claim ¶ 11(b).

Defendant J. Gottschalk’s Motion for Dismissal of Plaintiff’s FAC

Defendant J. Gottschalk seeks dismissal pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(6) of all claims asserted against her (i.e., Counts II, VI, VIII, IX and X). In deciding a motion under this rule, the Court must “accept all well-pleaded factual allegations of the complaint as true and construe the complaint in the light most favorable to the plaintiff.” Dubay v. Wells, 506 F.3d 422, 426 (6th Cir. 2007). Although a complaint need not contain “detailed factual allegations,” it does require more than “labels and conclusions” or “a formulaic recitation of the elements of a cause of action.” Bell Atl. Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 555, 127 S.Ct. 1955, 167 L.Ed.2d 929 (2007). Thus, a complaint survives a motion to dismiss if it “contain[s] sufficient factual matter, accepted as true, to state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face.” Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 129 S.Ct. 1937, 1949, 173 L.Ed.2d 868 (2009). And, “[a] claim has facial plausibility when the plaintiff pleads factual content that allows the court to draw the reasonable inference that the defendant is liable for the misconduct alleged.” Hensley Mfg. v. ProPride, Inc., 579 F.3d 603, 609 (6th Cir. 2009) (quoting Iqbal, 129 S.Ct. at 1949).

² It is unclear whether this cross claim is filed by FIEC alone (as indicated in the caption, which identifies FIEC as the “Cross Claim Plaintiff”) or by the Dalaly parties (as indicated in the body of this pleading on pages 2, 30, 31 and 33).

Reilly v. Vadlamudi, 680 F.3d 617, 622-23 (6th Cir. 2012).

Defendant first seeks dismissal of plaintiff's claims for statutory conversion (Count II) and common law conversion (Count VI)³ on the grounds that (1) plaintiff does not allege that she knowingly received any of the escrowed funds, and (2) plaintiff's remedy lies in contract, not tort. The Court rejects these arguments for the reasons indicated in plaintiff's response. The Michigan Court of Appeals has stated:

Common-law conversion is defined as “any distinct act of domain wrongfully exerted over another’s personal property in denial of or inconsistent with the rights therein.” Lawsuit Fin., LLC v. Curry, 261 Mich.App 579, 591; 683 NW2d 233 (2004) (quotation omitted); see also Head v. Phillips Camper Sales & Rental, Inc., 234 Mich.App 94, 111; 593 NW2d 595 (1999). Therefore, there are three elements to a common-law conversion claim: (1) a distinct act of dominion; (2) wrongfully exerted; and (3) over another’s personal property. The act is wrongful when it is inconsistent with the ownership rights of another. Check Reporting Servs., Inc. v. Mich. Nat’l Bank–Lansing, 191 Mich.App 614, 626; 478 NW2d 893 (1991). Statutory conversion is found at MCL 600.2919a, which prohibits but does not define “conversion.” “When a statute does not define a term, we will construe the term according to its common and approved usage.” Nelson v. Grays, 209 Mich.App 661, 664; 531 NW2d 826 (1995). “A legal term of art, however, must be construed in accordance with its peculiar and appropriate legal meaning.” Brackett v. Focus Hope, Inc., 482 Mich. 269, 276; 753 NW2d 207 (2008). Therefore, the common-law definition defines both common-law and statutory conversion.

³ In Count II plaintiff alleges that various defendants, including J. Gottschalk, “either withdrew the deposited funds and converted, stole or embezzled them to their own use, or, alternatively, received, possessed, concealed, or aided in the concealment of the wrongfully withdrawn funds, . . .” FAC ¶ 92. In Count VI plaintiff alleges that various defendants, including J. Gottschalk, “exerted a distinct act of dominion over Kalitta’s escrowed funds, for the wrongful benefit of themselves and others, by wrongfully releasing, converting, embezzling, dissipating and distributing those funds, without proper authorization and without fulfilling the required conditions and obligations.” Id. ¶ 156.

2012) (footnote omitted). In the present case, the statutory and common law conversion claims are sufficiently pled. See FAC ¶¶ 92-94, 156-57. Further, plaintiff is not precluded from suing J. Gottschalk for conversion merely because it is suing other defendants for breach of contract.

Defendant next seeks dismissal of plaintiff's claims for common law conspiracy (Count VIII) and concert of action (Count IX) on the grounds that (1) civil conspiracy and concert of action are not themselves causes of action, (2) the FAC does not allege that J. Gottschalk committed any crimes, and (3) the conspiracy is not sufficiently alleged. The Michigan Court of Appeals recently explained "civil conspiracy" as follows:

The elements of civil conspiracy are: (1) a concerted action (2) by a combination of two or more persons (3) to accomplish an unlawful purpose (4) or a lawful purpose by unlawful means. Admiral Ins. Co. v. Columbia Cas. Ins. Co., 194 Mich.App 300, 313; 486 NW2d 351 (1992). A civil conspiracy claim is not actionable by itself. Instead, there must be a separate, actionable tort underlying the conspiracy. Advocacy Org. for Patients & Providers v. Auto Club Ins. Ass'n., 257 Mich.App 365, 384; 670 NW2d 569 (2003) aff'd 472 Mich. 91 (2005). And, while the underlying tort may sound in law or equity, Detroit Bd. of Ed. v. Celotex Corp. (On Remand), 196 Mich.App 694, 713; 493 NW2d 513 (1992), "[t]he law is well established that in a civil action for damages resulting from wrongful acts alleged to have been committed in pursuance of a conspiracy, the gist or gravamen of the action is not the conspiracy but is the wrongful acts causing the damages[.]" Roche v. Blair, 305 Mich. 608, 613-614; 9 NW2d 861 (1943). (Emphasis added.) This means that "[t]he conspiracy standing alone without the commission of acts causing damage w[ill] not be actionable ... [because] [t]he cause of action does not result from the conspiracy but from the acts done." Id. at 614. (Emphasis added.)

Deputy Sheriffs Ass'n of Mich. v. State of Mich., 2013 WL 1223184, at *12 (Mich. App. Mar. 26, 2013). In the present case, plaintiff sufficiently alleges a civil conspiracy in ¶¶ 167-71 of the FAC. Plaintiff need not allege that J. Gottschalk committed any crimes, only that she committed an unlawful (i.e., tortious) act, which clearly is alleged. Since plaintiff's burden at the pleading stage is to allege simply that “defendants were jointly engaged in tortious activity as a result of which the plaintiff was harmed,” Abel v. Eli Lilly and Co., 418 Mich. 311, 338 (1984), the claim in the present case is sufficiently stated and may proceed. Defendant’s arguments go more to the proofs than the allegations and should be raised at the appropriate time.

Finally, defendant seeks dismissal of Count X (entitled “equitable relief in the form of unjust enrichment, restitution, constructive trust and accounting”) on the grounds that “there is no claim for unjust enrichment when there exists a valid contract covering the same subject matter.” Def.’s Br. at 9. As noted above, this argument fails because J. Gottschalk is not a party to the contracts. Therefore this claim may not be dismissed on these grounds. Defendant also argues the requested injunctive relief is unavailable because she does not possess any money belonging to plaintiff. This, too, is a matter to be fleshed out during discovery. Accordingly,

IT IS ORDERED that J. Gottschalk’s motion [docket entry 64] to dismiss the FAC is denied.
