1 Q The -- how much would it have cost Trek to
2 contact, let's say, 50 consumers on a random
3 basis and ask them the questions that you just
4 talked about?

5 A I didn't really talk about any questions. I
6 talked about populations.

7 Q Okay. Well, let's -- let's say how much would it
8 have cost Trek if you would have contacted 50
9 random consumers and asked them questions about
10 their feelings of the -- caused by -- of economic
11 damages to Trek caused by Greg LeMond's public
12 attacks against Lance Armstrong and other
13 professional athletes?

14 A I don't think consumers can answer a question
15 about economic damages caused that customer. I
16 wouldn't have a question -- these customers don't
17 know the economics of my business. They don't
18 know the gross profits; they don't the margins.

19 Q Fair.

20 A Customers could have no -- no knowledge of that
21 charge.

22 Q Fair.

23 How much would it have cost Trek
24 for you to perform a survey of 50 consumers at
25 random regarding their feelings about Greg

1 LeMond's public attacks against Lance
2 Armstrong -- Lance Armstrong and other
3 professional athletes?

4 A I don't know. I can't sit here off the top of my
5 head and talk about what it would cost to design
6 it.

7 But if the events are in the past,
8 you can't go back and recreate them, okay? So I
9 can't go back and measure 2001, 2004, 2006.
10 Those aren't top-of-mind to people now.

11 Could I have measured 2008 to say
12 how many know that this actually got canceled and 13 what the effect is? I may have. But these are 14 issues over a long period. We're talking over
15 eight years now. You can't go back and recreate
16 those time frames.

17 So even if you thought you could
18 get additional input and greater depth from some
19 population, you just can't go back and recreate
20 those time frames.

21 Q But you could with respect to 2008?

22 A Well, you could have at the time. But now we're
23 several months beyond that, so -- and now other
24 events have occurred. You got the Tour de
25 France; you got other comments being made. I

1 in reaching your opinion that Lance -- or that
2 Greg LeMond's comments regarding Lance Armstrong
3 caused economic damages to Trek?

4 A Well, you just stated my opinion that I never
5 stated.

6 Q Okay.

7 A I never said --

8 Q Sorry.

9 A I never said that Lance Armstrong's comments
10 caused. What I said was I've assumed that --

11 Q I think you said Lance Armstrong. You meant Greg
12 LeMond.

13 A Excuse me. I meant Greg LeMond.

14 Q Right.

15 A You'll never find in my report where I said that
16 LeMond's comments on Lance Armstrong and other
17 professional athletes caused.

18 What I said is I'm doing an
19 analysis to show what would have happened if the
20 comments weren't made and LeMond sales continued
21 to perform as one would have expected.

22 What I said is I've reviewed some
23 evidence that would suggest that those comments
24 caused harm. It's not my job to prove the 25 causation factor in this case. I am not offering

1 testimony that one didn't cause another; these
2 two did occur simultaneously. That's not my
3 task.

4 Q Your opinion in this case is on damages and not
5 causation?

6 A That's correct.

7 Q The meeting that you had with Burke and Burns,
8 did they ever refer to LeMond using any negative
9 words?

10 A LeMond using negative words? I don't understand.

11 Q Yeah. I mean, did they ever -- did they ever
12 characterize him as anything, call him names?

13 A All I recall is them talking about how the
14 comments he makes about other athletes causes
15 harm to the LeMond brands and the Trek name.

16 Q Did -- did they ever talk about how the comments
17 that Lance Armstrong has made regarding Greg
18 LeMond might have harmed Trek or LeMond sales?

19 A There was no discussion of that at all.

20 Q Did you ever think that that was peculiar?

21 A No.

22 Q Why?

23 MR. DOMBROWICKI: Object to form.

24 THE WITNESS: First, I was unaware of
25 any of the comments that you're referring to. I
