N. Attleboro, MA 02760

Dear Logan:

This letter serves as notice that the New England Patriots (hereinafter "Club") has designated you as a Franchise Player subject to a Right of First Refusal and Draft Choice Compensation as specified in Article XX, Section 2 (a) (i) of the 2006 Collective Bargaining Agreement (the "CBA").

Based on this designation you are being tendered a one year NFL Player Contract at the average of the five largest Prior Year Salaries for players at the position at which you played the most games during the prior League Year, or 120% of your Prior Year Salary, whichever is greater.

Based on this tender, you shall be permitted to negotiate with any Club as if you were subject to Article XX, Section 5 of the CBA (Right of First Refusal for Transition Players), except that the Club will be entitled to Draft Choice Compensation of two first round draft selections in the event you sign with a new Club and the Club does not exercise its Right of First Refusal.

Sincerely,

Floyd Reese

Dear Mr. Reese,

We are in receipt of your letter dated February 14, 2011 wherein you purport to designate Logan Mankins as a Franchise Player. As time is of the essence, please advise this office immediately of the actual Paragraph 5 amount of the one year fully guaranteed 2011 NFL Player Contract that is referenced in your correspondence. This information is necessary so that my client can make an informed and reasonable decision regarding his future employment and related legal issues.

Very truly yours,

Frank Bauer
