A Jones County native has developed a new twist to a traditional item.

Johnny Henry of Laurel has developed the vibrating toilet seat.

"I believe in thinking out of the box," Henry said. "I wanted to create something that is a little unusual.

"This invention is designed to stimulate," he said. "It's to make you feel good while you are there."

Because of Henry's invention, he recently attended the Invent Bay International Inventors Convention held at the Sands Hotel in Las Vegas, Nevada.

"It was great," Henry said about the convention. "You get to meet with licensors, buyers and investors, and I got a chance to promote my product. ... It was really nice."

Michigan Nig Builds His Own Flying Saucer

January 22, 2007

Quote:

Carrington has two patents on the design and a company called Vertex Aerospace. His work caught the attention of NASA, which invited him to a conference in the mid-1990s where engineers scratched their heads when he confessed he knew nothing about computers.

His idea is to fire up the vessel with a rotary engine to stimulate a magnetic levitation system to rotate the ship's two discs. The discs would draw air into propeller blades.

"It's a simple concept," Carrington said. "There is no way this thing can't get off the ground because 40 percent of it is rotating."

Aeronautical engineers aren't so confident, especially considering the rotation speeds needed to lift the aircraft.

"Things spinning at those speeds are worrisome because of the stress from centrifugal force," explained Cornelis van Dam, professor of mechanical and aeronautical engineering at the University of California-Davis, a leading aviation school. "If it's not properly designed and built, it will rip itself apart. I wouldn't want to stand next to it when it gets up to speed."

Even aerospace experts rely on other professionals to build such complex vessels, van Dam pointed out.

But Carrington doesn't have time for naysayers. In eight months, he hopes to launch his dream, assuming he can raise at least another $40,000 to complete the project.

How about that? One of the extremely rare technical nigger inventions, and its use? MUH DIKK.

Maybe we could get more niggers involved with science/mechanics if we promised them they could create things to satisfy their MUH

DIKKS. Then again, probably not.

How did they get away with this bullshit? The vibrating toilet seat has been around for years & was invented by the same people who invented the heated toilet seat. I remember reading about a vibrating one back when I was a kid many moons ago.

It figures that a nigger could only invent something related to jenkem production.

My 3 point plan to solve the nigger question: Sterilization, Incarceration, Deportation!

Never Mistake Kindness For Weakness, Age For Wisdom, Nice Words/Actions For Interest AND NEVER MISTAKE NIGGERS FOR HUMANS!!

I was invented to make masturbation more interesting. Too bad their 'baffrooms' have no toilet paper to wipe off the seat.

When they come for the niggers; I'll say nothing...

How about that? One of the extremely rare technical nigger inventions, and its use? MUH DIKK.

Maybe we could get more niggers involved with science/mechanics if we promised them they could create things to satisfy their MUH DIKKS. Then again, probably not.
