Peter Larson
Black Hills Institute
Hill City, SD

Dear Peter,

We have received a cease and desist order from counsel for Fort Peck Paleontology Inc. to discontinue marketing of Peck's rex due to potential copyright infringement issues.

We have fully and immediately complied, removing any mention of the specimen from all of our literature and our website, and our sales representatives have also been notified.

Sincerely,

Michael Triebold

- Posted August 22nd, 2006 - Paleontologist / Preparator Position Available: Full-time permanent position open immediately for an individual with education to the BS, MS or PhD level and experience in the field and the lab. Field experience in vertebrate exploration, excavation, preparation and restoration is required. Experience in Judith River, Hell Creek, and/or Niobrara formations or their equivalents and lab experience as preparator using micro blasters, Chicago pneumatics, Aros, Paleobond & epoxies a big plus. Prior experience at molding/casting/welding & related metalwork, vertebrate skeletal mounting and woodworking is also a plus. Must be able to work well as part of a team, withstand all the usual rigors of field life and demonstrate outstanding ability in lab techniques. Position includes participation in the planning, development and setup/de-install of new traveling exhibitions and in permanent exhibit planning and execution as well. The successful candidate will be working on some of the most exciting, unique vertebrates ever discovered in the late Cretaceous continental and marine deposits. Ability to travel and spend moderate amounts of time (up to 3 weeks at a time) in the field and on the road is required. Successful candidate will work for Triebold Paleontology, Inc. at the facilities of the Rocky Mountain Dinosaur Resource Center, 201 South Fairview Street in Woodland Park, Colorado 80863, about 15 miles west of Colorado Springs, Colorado. Field work is done primarily in SD, ND, KS and MT at present. Benefits are minimal, and include assistance with health insurance, 7 paid holidays, and self-directed retirement account. To apply: Email a letter explaining why we should hire you, along with your resume including published papers (if any), work experience, salary requirements and work/professional references to mike@rmdrc.com. All items in the preceding sentence must be addressed in the email in order to be considered for this position. Pay is commensurate with experience. This position is a new opening created by the growth of our company and we are hiring NOW.
