the page above that $50,000 bail [excessive] was requested by George Corn Ravalli County Attorney through the special prosecutor Joel Thompson. This violates Spreadbury's 8th Amendment right to reasonable bail, the cause of the 2005 suicides in Ravalli County. See why I am requesting jail time for Bullock, Corn (18 USC s. 242):

(Prosecute Steve Bullock & George Corn for Negligent Constitutional Deprivations).

The next pages are the NON-REVIEWED police reports from Hamilton Montana PD. Again we kept the officer's name off the report to keep Judge Haynes 21st Montana District Judge happy. The librarian was not a witness to peaceful assembly, protected right in 1st Amendment US Constitution. Spreadbury was asking for help to drop the charge, because it is not a crime to sit on public property peacefully in America. By the way, it is also not a threat to ask for anyone's help without threat in America [free speech].

The librarian told Michael Spreadbury "...she knew how to help him" after they spoke Nov. 4, 2009.

The free speech issue is pending on appeal at the 48th ranked Supreme Court in the continental United States: Helena Montana.
