Cause No. DV-10-98/20

v.

ORDER ON APPEAL OF CITY
COURT ORDER OF PROTECTION

10 MICHAEL E. SPREADBURY,

11 Defendant.

12 The Permanent Order of Protection issued in Hamilton City Court on 13 November 20, 2009, which expires on November 20, 2014, has been
14 transmitted to District Court. On February 17, 2010, Michael Spreadbury
15 filed a request for relief with respect to the Order of Protection.

17 This Court references the January 19, 2010, Hamilton City Court's 18 Order Denying Second Motion for New Trial wherein the Order states that in 19 addition to being the Respondent in the above Order of Protection, Michael
20 Spreadbury is also a Defendant in Ravalli District Court Cause No. DC-10-
21 26, charged with trespassing on the library premises after being ordered off
22 the premises (the Honorable John W. Larson presiding); and also a
23 Defendant in Ravalli District Court Cause No. DC-09-154 where he is
25
26

5/18/10

1 charged with the felony offense of intimidation in which the victim is a senior
2 library employee (the Honorable Douglas G. Harkin presiding).

3 As stated in the Hamilton City Court Order Denying a Second Motion
4 for a New Trial, the incident giving rise to the intimidation charge is the 5 same incident which gave rise to the Order of Protection and entailed
6 demand that the employee pressure the City Attorney into dropping the 7 misdemeanor charge. The court in each prosecution has ordered
8 conditions of release which effectively deny Mr. Spreadbury access to the 9 library.
11

12 For these reasons,

13 IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that the Permanent Order of Protection
14 shall remain in effect consistent with the Hamilton City Court Order of 15 November 20, 2009.

17 DATED this 18th day of May, 2010.
