A telephonic conference was held today to discuss: 1) whether the motion to stay filed in state court and removed to this forum has been resolved; 2) whether this case must or should be stayed; and 3) whether a progression order should be entered at this time.

The parties agree the motion to stay filed in state court was resolved in that forum prior to removal, and is not currently pending in this forum. As to whether the case should be stayed or progressed at this time, a threshold factual issue was identified and discussed during the conference call; specifically, whether the plaintiff timely filed a notice of claim. The plaintiff states that despite the FDIC's failure to properly notify the plaintiff of her responsibility and deadline for filing a notice of claim, the plaintiff did timely file her notice, but it was erroneously denied by the FDIC as untimely. The parties need additional time to investigate the merits of the notice of claim issue.

The plaintiff may also be requesting agency review of her FDIC claim denial which, in turn, may (or may not) affect whether a progression schedule can or should be entered at this time; the defendant may be requesting a stay of these court proceedings; or the parties may agree to progress this case.

After conferring with the parties, the court concludes the foregoing described preliminary matters should be addressed at the outset of this case and in succession, beginning with the notice of claim issue.

Accordingly,

IT IS ORDERED:

- 1) The Motion to Stay filed in the state forum and removed to this court, (filing no. 1-4), was ruled on in the state court and is not awaiting ruling in this forum.
- 2) The parties shall confer, and to the extent possible, shall file a joint statement outlining the parties' agreement or their respective positions regarding the following issues:
 - a. Whether the plaintiff submitted a timely and proper notice of claim to the FDIC,
 - b. If a timely notice of claim was filed by the plaintiff, and denied by the FDIC,
 - -will the plaintiff pursue agency review of the FDIC's denial of her claim and if so, does that affect: 1) whether this case is currently ripe for adjudication; 2) should be stayed; or 3) should be progressed at this time?
 - -will the FDIC move to stay this litigation and when, or upon what event, is that stay to be lifted?
 - -should a progression schedule be entered at this time and, if not, when do the parties anticipate this case will be ready for progression to trial?
 - c. Whether an additional conference call with the court is needed before the court enters an order requiring the parties to prepare and file a Rule 26(f) Report of Parties' Planning Conference, a copy of which is attached.

- 3) The joint statement set forth in the paragraph (2) shall be filed on or before November 1, 2010.
- 4) A telephonic conference will be held before the undersigned magistrate judge on November 3, 2010 at 11:00 a.m. (C.D.T.) to discuss any remaining initial scheduling, stay, or case progression issues. Counsel for the defendant shall place the call. This telephonic conference will be canceled if the parties' joint statement advises that the parties agree a conference call is no longer needed, the court can now set a Rule 26(f) Report deadline, and the parties can complete the report without further assistance or intervention by the court.

DATED this 18th day of October, 2010.

The parties agree that:

 No special provisions are needed in respect to electronic discovery. The court should order protection and production of such information in accordance with its usual practice.
 As to electronically stored information, the following provisions will be followed by the parties:

c. Privileged and/or confidential communications and information.

General practice: Under the court's general practice, if any document is withheld from production or disclosure on the grounds of privilege or work product, the producing party shall, for each document, disclose a description of the document withheld with as much specificity as is practicable without disclosing its contents, including (a) the general nature of the document; (b) the identity and position of its author; (c) the date it was written; (d) the identity and position of its addressee; (e) the identities and positions of all persons who were given or have received copies of it and the dates copies were received by them; (f) the document's present location and the identity and position of its custodian; and (g) the specific reason or reasons why it has been withheld from production or disclosure. The non-producing party may move to compel documents identified on the privilege log. The producing party may also seek a protective order to preserve the privilege or confidentiality of the documents identified.

Special provisions. To facilitate an early, efficient, and expeditious resolution of discovery issues which may arise related to documents withheld on the basis of alleged privilege or confidentiality, the parties shall discuss and consider:

- i. Whether the parties anticipate discovery issues or challenges arising from non-disclosure of allegedly confidential information;
- ii. Whether reasonable date ranges should be established after which privilege log entries for privileged or confidential information need not be made; and
- iii. As contemplated by Rule 502(e) of the Federal Rules of Evidence, (Fed. R. Evid. 502(e)), the need for and terms of any agreement regarding disclosure of privileged attorney-client communications or confidential work product, and whether the parties will seek court approval of any such agreement.¹

The parties agree that:

	No special provisions are needed regarding discovery of allegedly confidential information. If such issues arise, they will be resolved in accordance with the court's general practice.
	In addition to, or in lieu of the court's general practice for asserting confidentiality claims and resolving disputes over nondisclosure of allegedly confidential information, the parties agree the following provisions will be followed:
d. sub-pa	Is the maximum number of interrogatories, including arts, that may be served by any party on any other party.
e. plainti	Is the maximum number of depositions that may be taken by ffs as a group and defendants as a group.
f. of	Depositions will be limited by Rule 30(d)(2), except the depositions ,which by agreement shall be limited as follows:
