 PURSUANT TO FED. R. CIV. P. 12(b)(6)

22 Defendant, IQ-Ludorum ("IQL"), a United Kingdom corporation, by and through its

DEFENDANT IQ-LUDORUM PLC'S
MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

1
2
3 Defendant, IQ-Ludorum PLC (“IQ-L”), a United Kingdom corporation, for its 4 Memorandum of Points and Authorities in Support of its Motion to Dismiss for Lack of 5 Personal Jurisdiction, or in the alternative, to Dismiss pursuant to Rule 12(b)(6) or for a More
6 Definite Statement, states as follows:

7
8 I. INTRODUCTION

9 On March 15, 2006, Plaintiff filed its Complaint alleging patent infringement against 10 multiple Defendants, including IQL. The Complaint alleges infringement of U.S. Patent No.
11 5,564,001, entitled Method and System of Interactively Transmitting Multimedia Information
12 Over a Network Which Requires Reduced Bandwidth (the “’001 Patent”). (See Complaint).

13 IQL is a corporation organized under the laws of the United Kingdom and Wales. See
14 Declaration of Tony Norris, ¶ 3 (“Norris Decl.”), a true and correct copy of which is attached
15 hereto as Exhibit A. IQL has no contacts, minimum or otherwise, with the State of Nevada and 16 is not subject to personal jurisdiction in the state or federal courts of Nevada. Plaintiff’s
17 Complaint should be dismissed pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(b)(2).

18
19 The Complaint does not identify a single IQL product that allegedly infringes the ’001
20 Patent, nor does the Complaint allege a specific act of infringement by IQL or any particular 21 acts of infringement by IQL within the United States. Although Plaintiff’s Complaint alleges
22 infringement of a method patent, the Complaint fails to identify the steps of the method patent
23 or how all of the steps of the patent are infringed by IQL within the United States.
24 Accordingly, Plaintiff’s Complaint fails to state a claim upon which relief may be granted
25 because it does not properly allege any acts of infringement by IQL occurring within the United 26 States in accordance with NTP, Inc. v. RIM, Ltd., 418 F.3d 1282 (Fed. Cir. 2005). Therefore,
27 Plaintiff’s impermissibly vague Complaint prevents IQL from framing a meaningful responsive
28

1 pleading. For these reasons, Plaintiff's Complaint should be dismissed pursuant to Fed. R. Civ.
2 P. 12(b)(6) and Plaintiff should be required to amend the Complaint or Plaintiff should provide
3 a more definite statement pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(e).

4 II. ARGUMENT

5 A. The Court Lacks Jurisdiction Over IQL.

6 Plaintiff bears the burden of establishing personal jurisdiction over IQL – a burden it
7 has not, and cannot, overcome. Farmers Ins. Exch. v. Portage la Prairie Mut. Ins. Co., 907
8 F.2d 911, 912 (9th Cir. 1990). In analyzing jurisdiction, the trial court is not bound by the 9 pleadings, and the party asserting jurisdiction has the burden of establishing jurisdiction if its 10 allegations are challenged in any appropriate manner. Taylor v. Portland Paramount Corp., 11 383 F.2d 634, 639 (9th Cir. 1967).

12
13 Though Plaintiff's Complaint includes a conclusory allegation that jurisdiction over 14 IQL is appropriate, mere allegations in the Complaint, when contradicted by affidavits, are not 15 sufficient to confer jurisdiction. Id.; AMBA Marketing Systems, Inc v. Jobar Int'l, Inc., 551
16 F.2d 784, 787 (9th Cir. 1977) (Plaintiff cannot rest solely on the allegations of its complaint, 17 but rather is obligated to come forward with facts supporting personal jurisdiction). A court
18 may not assume the truth of allegations which are contradicted by affidavit. See Data Disc,
19 557 F.2d at 1284.
20

21 1. Plaintiff's Complaint Should Be Dismissed Because The Court Lacks 22 General Jurisdiction Over IQL.

23 The Court lacks general jurisdiction because Plaintiff has not, and cannot, demonstrate 24 that IQL has engaged in such continuous and systematic general business contacts with the 25 forum state that those contacts approximate physical presence in the state. Schwarzenegger v.
26 Fred Martin Motor Co., 374 F.3d 797, 801 (9th Cir. 2004). Specifically, factors to be taken 27 into consideration are whether the defendant makes sales, solicits or engages in business in the 28

1 state, serves the state's markets, designates an agent for service of process, holds a license, or is
2 incorporated there. See Bancroft & Masters, Inc. v. Augusta Nat'l, Inc., 223 F.3d 1082, 1086
3 (9th Cir. 2000).

4 Plaintiff has neither alleged nor demonstrated the existence of a single fact sufficient to 5 support a finding of general jurisdiction over IQL. Though Plaintiff conclusory alleges that 6 IQL has transacted business within the State of Nevada, it cites to no examples of actual 7 business transactions to support this assertion. IQL does not make sales, or solicit or engage in 8 business in the State of Nevada. Since its formation on June 8, 2000, IQL has not:

- 9 • had an agent for service of process in the State of Nevada;
- 10 • been incorporated or licensed to do business in the State of Nevada;
- 11 • conducted business operations in the State of Nevada;
- 12 • maintained any office, facility, mailing address, or telephone listing in the State
13 of Nevada;
- 14 • leased or owned property in the State of Nevada;
- 15 • performed services for any person or firm in the State of Nevada;
- 16 • possessed any employees, officers, directors or agents resident in the State of 17 Nevada;
- 18 • paid taxes to the State of Nevada in connection with any business transactions or 19 enterprises;
- 20 • placed advertisements intended for circulation solely within the State of Nevada;
- 21 • maintained any bank accounts in the State of Nevada;
- 22 • owned, designed, developed, manufactured any software product;
- 23 • sold or imported any software product in the State of Nevada or otherwise in the 24 United States; and
- 25
- 26
- 27
- 28

- licensed or sold licenses for any gaming entertainment software product in the State of Nevada or otherwise.

(Norris Decl. ¶¶ 4-18.)

Plaintiff has failed to demonstrate sufficient grounds to support a finding of general jurisdiction over IQL warranting dismissal of Plaintiff's Complaint pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(2).

2. Plaintiff's Complaint Should Be Dismissed Because The Court Lacks Specific Jurisdiction Over IQL.

Similarly, specific jurisdiction is lacking. In order for this Court to find specific jurisdiction it must determine that (1) the non-resident defendant has purposely directed its activities towards the forum state or performed some act by which it purposely availed itself of the privilege of conducting activities in the forum; (2) plaintiff's claim arises out of or relates to the defendant's forum-related activities; and (3) the exercise of jurisdiction must comport with fair play and substantial justice. Lake v. Lake, 817 F.2d 1416, 1421 (9th Cir. 1987). Plaintiff bears the burden of satisfying the first two prongs of this test, and must satisfy both before the burden shifts. See id. (citing Burger King Corp. v. Rudzewicz, 471 U.S. 462, 476-78 (1985)).

Plaintiff has failed to meet this burden as it has not, and cannot, point to a single fact to support the propriety of specific jurisdiction over IQL. The Complaint fails to demonstrate that IQL has purposely availed itself of the privilege of conducting activities in Nevada or purposely directed its activities toward Nevada. See id.

It is clear from the Norris Declaration that IQL has never made, sold, licensed or developed any software product. (See Norris Decl. at ¶¶ 16-18.) Plaintiff cannot satisfy the first prong of the test because IQL has not purposely availed or purposely directed its activities toward Nevada. Likewise, as IQL has not, and does not, engage in any forum-related activities, Plaintiff cannot satisfy prong two of the personal jurisdiction test. Plaintiff's claims, therefore,

1 are insufficient to establish that this Court has jurisdiction. Accordingly, IQL respectfully
2 requests that the Complaint be dismissed pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(2).

3 3. IQL Is Not Subject To Jurisdiction Based Upon Operations Of 4 Subsidiaries.

5 IQL has not owned, designed, developed, manufactured or licensed any software
6 product. (Norris Decl. ¶¶ 16, 18.) Since its organization, IQL has only held an interest in 7 various wholly owned subsidiaries and other entities which have been involved in the 8 development, ownership, licensing and sale of gaming entertainment software, customer
9 service to operators of gaming websites, as well as other business activities, including payment
10 processing services for gaming and non-gaming businesses. (Norris Decl. ¶ 20.)

11 Intellectual Services International Limited (“ISI”) and IQ-LUDORUM Software
12 (Canada) Limited are wholly owned subsidiaries of IQL. (Norris Decl. ¶ 21.) ISI principally 13 conducts development, production, marketing and license sales of systems for digitally
14 distributed entertainment operators, including software products licensed to third parties
15 engaged in the operation of gaming entertainment websites. (Norris Decl. ¶ 26.) IQ-
16 LUDORUM Software (Canada) Limited performs services related to the research and 17 development of gaming entertainment software. (Norris Decl. ¶ 28.)

18 Although ISI owns and licenses gaming entertainment software products and IQ-
19 LUDORUM Software (Canada) Limited performs services related to the research and 20 development of gaming entertainment software, these entities are distinct and separate from 21 IQL. (Norris Decl. ¶ 31.) Both the Ninth Circuit and the United States Supreme Court have 22 acknowledged that the mere “existence of a relationship between a parent company and its 23 subsidiaries is not sufficient to establish personal jurisdiction over the parent on the basis of the 24 subsidiary's minimum contacts with the forum.” Doe v. Unocal, 248 F.3d 915, 925 (9th Cir.
25 2001); Keetan v. Hustler Magazine, Inc., 465 U.S. 770, 781 n. 13, 104 S.Ct. 1473, 79 L.Ed.2d
26
27
28

1 790 (1984); Church of Scientology v. Adams, 584 F.2d 893, 897 (9th Cir. 1978) (“Even in
2 cases where the contacts of a parent or subsidiary corporation are sufficient to subject it to 3 personal jurisdiction, we recognize that the activities of one related corporation are irrelevant to 4 the issue of jurisdiction over the other, so long as a separation between the corporations has 5 been maintained.”) (citing Uston v. Grand Resorts, Inc., 564 F.2d 1217, 1218 (9th Cir. 1977)).

6 ISI and IQ-LUDORUM Software (Canada) Limited are separate business entities that
7 function independently of IQL. (Norris Decl. ¶ 31.) ISI and IQ-LUDORUM Software
8 (Canada) Limited maintain separate books, records and bank accounts from IQL. (Norris Decl.
9 ¶ 30.) Further, IQL does not control, operate, or manage the day-to-day business operations of 10 ISI or IQ-LUDORUM Software (Canada) Limited. (Norris Decl. ¶ 32.)

11 Because the mere existence of a parent-subsiary relationship alone is insufficient for 12 this Court to acquire jurisdiction over IQL, Plaintiff’s Complaint should be dismissed pursuant 13 to Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(2).
14

15
16 B. PLAINTIFF’S COMPLAINT SHOULD BE DISMISSED OR PLAINTIFF
17 SHOULD BE REQUIRED TO AMEND OR FILE A MORE DEFINITE STATEMENT.

18 Plaintiff’s Complaint is so vague that IQL cannot reasonably be expected, let alone
19 required, to frame a responsive pleading. Plaintiff’s Complaint fails to state a claim upon
20 which relief may be granted because it fails to outline allegedly infringing conduct by IQL
21 within the United States. In accordance with NTP, Inc. v. RIM, Ltd., 418 F.3d 1282, 1313 (Fed.
22 Cir. 2005), Plaintiff’s Complaint should be dismissed pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(6). The 23 territorial reach of 35 U.S.C. § 271 is limited. NTP, Inc., 418 F.3d at 1313. Section 271(a) is 24 only actionable against patent infringement that occurs within the United States. Id.

25
26 Here, Plaintiff’s Complaint alleges infringement of the ‘001 patent. All claims of the 27 ‘001 patent are method claims. The Federal Circuit has held that all steps of a method claim
28 must be performed within the United States in order for there to be infringement of a United

1 States patent. Id. at 1318. Here, the Complaint fails to state identify the steps of the method
2 patent which IQL is alleged to take in the United States, and how such conduct infringes the 3 '001 patent. Moreover, Plaintiff's Complaint fails to allege that any particular acts of 4 infringement occurred within the United States. Therefore, Plaintiff's Complaint fails to state a
5 claim upon which relief can be granted and it should be dismissed pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P.
6 12(b)(6).

7
8 Alternatively, Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(e) provides a remedy in cases, such as this, where the 9 ambiguity of a complaint denies the responding party the opportunity to prepare an adequate
10 responsive pleading. Pursuant to Rule 12(e), the trial court has the discretion to require 11 plaintiff to provide a more definite statement, and at the very least, give the responding party
12 fair notice of the nature and grounds for the asserted claims. See Rendon v. Fresno Police
13 Department, No. 1:05-CV-00661OWWDLB, 2005 WL 1925859, at *2 (E.D. Cal. Aug. 11, 14 2005). As Plaintiff's Complaint fails to meet even the minimum standard of clarity and 15 definition, IQL requests a more particularized statement or that Plaintiff be required to file an 16 Amended Complaint.
17

18 IQL is entitled to a more definite statement because Plaintiff's Complaint fails to 19 identify a single infringing product, process, or action. Though federal case law requires a
20 plaintiff to specify which products allegedly infringed plaintiff's patents, Plaintiff's Complaint
21 makes no mention of any product names, product components, or product descriptions. See,
22 e.g., Agilent Technologies, Inc. v. Micromuse, Inc., No. 04 Civ. 3090 (RWS), 2004 WL
23 2346152, at *5-6 (S.D.N.Y. Oct. 19, 2004) (where a complaint does not specify which products 24 allegedly infringed plaintiffs' patents, defendant is entitled to know which of its products or 25 services are alleged to have infringed . . . and a more definite statement setting forth that 26 information is appropriate); Ondeo Nalco Co v. EKA Chemicals, Inc., No. Civ. A. 01-537-SLR, 27 2002 WL 1458853, at *1, n.2 (D. Del. June 10, 2002) (where counterclaims contained minimal 28

1 description of infringed products, counterclaims were too vague to provide the plaintiff with 2 fair notice of which products were accused of infringing) (citation omitted); In re Papst
3 Licensing GmbH Patent Litig., No. Civ. A. MDL 1298, Civ. A. 99-3118, 2001 WL 179926, at 4 *1 (E.D. La. Feb. 22, 2001) (granting Rule 12(e) motion and requiring plaintiff to amend 5 complaint to specify which products allegedly infringed).

6 Despite the fact that IQL is entitled to notice of which of its products or services are 7 alleged to have infringed upon Plaintiff's patent, and such information is necessary for IQL to 8 form an adequate responsive pleading, Plaintiff alleges only that an IQL "software product"
9 infringed one of more claims of the "'001 Patent." (See Complaint, ¶ 5.) Plaintiff's Complaint
10 is similarly silent as to the alleged timeframe of infringement and any of IQL's alleged 11 infringing actions. Accordingly, IQL is entitled to a more definite statement because Plaintiff's 12 Complaint fails to identify a single infringing product or process.

13
14 No additional burden is imposed on Plaintiff by requiring it to provide a more definite 15 statement. Rule 11 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure required Plaintiff to make a 16 reasonable pre-suit inquiry entailing a comparison of specific IQL products to the specific 17 claims of the '001 patent. See e.g., Antonious v. Spalding & Evenflo Companies, Inc., 275 F.3d
18 1066 (Fed. Cir. 2002) (in patent cases, Rule 11 requires at a minimum, that an attorney
19 interpret the asserted patent claims and compare the accused device with those claims before
20 filing a claim alleging infringement). Therefore, in making this request, IQL merely asks
21 Plaintiff to articulate, in an Amended Complaint, conclusions that it was required to have made 22 prior to the initiation of this lawsuit.

23 24 25 III. CONCLUSION

26 Plaintiff's Complaint fails to demonstrate that IQL has the required minimum contacts
27 within the state of Nevada sufficient to support a finding of jurisdiction. Therefore, Plaintiff's 28 claims against IQL should be dismissed, pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(2), for lack of
