Pretrial Conf. Date:

Date First Paper Filed:

21 DEFENDANT MENU FOODS' RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFF'S OBJECTION TO
 22 EXHIBIT "A"

23 Defendant Menu Foods, Inc. ("Menu") responds to Plaintiff's Objection to Exhibit "A"
 24 (the "Objection") as follows:

25 Plaintiff's objections to Exhibit A, which is Defendant Menu's Press Release on the pet
 26 food recall (the "Recall"), should be overruled because the affidavit filed concurrently herewith
 27 authenticates Exhibit A. Moreover, the Recall is not extrinsic evidence and can be properly
 28 considered on a Rule 12(b) Motion to Dismiss because Plaintiff referenced the Recall in the

1 Complaint and the Recall is central to its claim that a single ingredient rendered the designation
2 “Made in the U.S.A.” deceptive. Finally, Exhibit A is directly relevant, as Plaintiff impliedly
3 concedes and it is not hearsay.

4 I. BECAUSE EXHIBIT A HAS NOW BEEN AUTHENTICATED, PLAINTIFF’S
5 CLAIM THAT EXHIBIT A IS UNAUTHENTICATED MUST BE OVERRULED.

6 Plaintiff objects to the admissibility of Exhibit A because, inter alia, Exhibit A is not
7 authenticated. Objection 1. The affidavit of Lucinda Bach, filed concurrently herewith,
8 authenticates Exhibit A pursuant to Federal Rule of Evidence 901. Therefore, Plaintiff’s claim 9 that Exhibit A is inadmissible for lack of authentication fails.

10 II. BECAUSE THE RECALL WAS REFERRED TO IN THE COMPLAINT AND IS 11 CENTRAL TO ALL OF PLAINTIFF’S CLAIMS, THE COURT MAY CONSIDER THE 12 RECALL ON THE MOTION TO DISMISS AND PLAINTIFF’S ARGUMENTS TO THE 13 CONTRARY SHOULD BE REJECTED.

14 The court should reject Plaintiff’s claim that the Recall cannot be considered on a Rule
15 12(b)(6) motion to dismiss. Certain written instruments attached to pleadings may be considered
16 part of the pleading. See FED. R. CIV. P. 10(c). Even if a document is not attached to a complaint,
17 it may be incorporated by reference into a complaint. U.S. v. Ritchie, 342 F.3d 903, 908 (9th Cir.
18 2003) (citing numerous cases). “Documents that a defendant attaches to a motion to dismiss are
19 considered part of the pleadings if they are referred to in the plaintiff’s complaint and are central 20 to her claim.” Venture Assoc. Corp. v. Zenith, 987 F.2d 429, 431 (7th Cir. 1993). In this case, 21 Plaintiff referred to the Recall in the Complaint. See Compl. ¶¶ 12, 44. The Recall is central to 22 Plaintiff’s claim that a single imported ingredient rendered the “Made in the U.S.A.” label on the 23 subject pet food deceptive. The Recall states that the pet food was manufactured in the U.S.A.
24 The Recall also states that that the timing of the consumer complaints coincided with the 25 introduction of an ingredient from a new supplier. The date the Recall was issued is also the date
26 that Plaintiff set for when the true origin of the subject pet food was revealed for the first time.
27 Compl. ¶ 39. Thus, because the Recall is referred to in the Complaint and is central to all of 28 Plaintiff’s claims, the Recall is considered part of the Complaint. Accordingly, the court can consider the Recall on the instant motion to dismiss.

1 Plaintiff cites Marder and Erickson for the proposition that the court may not consider the 2 Recall as evidence on the disputed factual issue of whether Defendant Menu Foods “retained a
3 benefit from the misrepresentation of geographic origin.” Objection 1-2. However, both of these 4 authorities recognize that, where as here, the document has been referred to in the complaint and
5 is central to a plaintiff’s claim such document may be properly considered part of the complaint.
6 Marder v. Lopez, 450 F.3d 445, 448 (9th Cir. 2006); Erickson v. Horing, No. 99-1468
7 (JRT/FLN), 2000 U.S. Dist. Lexis 22452, at *31 (D. Minn Oct. 23, 2000).

8 Plaintiff also argues that the court cannot consider the Recall because it “is being used to 9 contest the allegations of the pleading, which are assumed to be correct on a motion to dismiss.”

10 Objection 1. Plaintiff is simply wrong:

11 Conclusive allegations and unwarranted deductions of fact are not 12 admitted as true, [citation], especially when such conclusions are 13 contradicted by facts disclosed by a document appended to the 14 complaint. If the appended document, to be treated as part of the 15 complaint for all purposes under Rule 10(c), Fed.R.Civ.P., reveals 16 facts which foreclose recovery as a matter of law, dismissal is 17 appropriate.

18 Associated Builders, Inc. v. Alabama Power Co., 505 F.2d 97, 100 (5th Cir. 1974) (holding that 19 the investment prospectus was not misleading as a matter of law because it disclosed, contrary to 20 plaintiffs’ assertions, specific information relating to the sinking fund); see Hamilton v. Scott, 762
21 F. Supp. 794, 799 n.12 (N.D. Ill. 1991) (citing Associated Builders and holding that the rule on a
22 12(b)(6) motion to dismiss requiring the court to accept plaintiff’s allegations as true inapplicable
23 where the allegations are contradicted by documents attached to the complaint). In this case, the 24 Recall was incorporated by reference into the Complaint as shown above. All of Plaintiff’s
25 claims are based on the allegedly deceptive “Made in the U.S.A.” label on the subject pet food.
26 The Recall clearly states that the subject pet food was manufactured at two of Menu Foods’
27 United States Facilities. Therefore, there is nothing deceptive or misleading about the “Made in 28 the U.S.A.” label on the subject pet foods since the subject pet food was in fact made in the United States. Accordingly, Plaintiff’s claims are foreclosed as a matter of law and dismissal of all claims is proper.

1 III. THE COMPLAINT RELIES ON THE RECALL AND PLAINTIFF ADMITS IN
2 ITS OPPOSITION THAT EXHIBIT A IS RELEVANT TO ITS UNJUST ENRICHMENT
3 CLAIM.

4 Under Federal Rule of Evidence 401, "Relevant evidence" means evidence "having any 5 tendency to make the existence of any fact that is of consequence to the determination of the 6 action more probable or less probable than it would be without the evidence." Plaintiff claims in 7 her Objection that Exhibit A is irrelevant and, therefore, inadmissible under Federal Rule of 8 Evidence 402. Objection 1.

9 However, Plaintiff's claim is contradicted by her own allegations in the Complaint, as 10 well as by statements in her Opposition to Menu's Motion to Dismiss the Complaint. In the 11 Complaint, Plaintiff raised the issue of the Recall twice. The first time, Plaintiff stated that the 12 "2007 recall ... was ordered because of the presence of chemicals which were illegal for use in 13 food in the United States." Compl. ¶ 12. The second time, Plaintiff stated that the concern over 14 the use of illegal or banned chemicals or pesticides "is evidenced by the recall of [the subject pet
15 food] which was ordered because the products were found to contain substances which are not 16 approved for use in food products in the United States,..." Compl. ¶ 44. Plaintiff also raised the 17 recall issue another time in connection with one of the other defendant's recalls. See Compl. ¶ 39
18 (discussing that Chemnutra admitted in its recall notices that certain components of the subject
19 pet food was originally labeled as "Made in China.").

20 In the Opposition, Plaintiff states that Exhibit A is hearsay because it is being offered to 21 "contest the allegations of the pleading ... The Complaint ... plainly alleges that Defendants
22 retained the improper benefit. This important factual issue cannot be resolved by reference to a 23 single hearsay piece of evidence..." Objection 1. Whether Defendant Menu retained any 24 "improper benefit" tends to prove or disprove Plaintiff's claim for unjust enrichment. As such,
25 the Recall is clearly relevant and the court should reject Plaintiff's claim to the contrary. The 26 Recall is admissible evidence.

27 The Recall is also relevant because it tends to disprove the claim that the subject pet food
28 was not "Made in the U.S.A., as discussed above.

1 IV. THE RECALL IS NOT HEARSAY.

2 Plaintiff claims the Recall is hearsay "as to the disputed issue of whether a benefit was 3 retained." Objection 1. Hearsay" is a "statement, other than one made by the declarant while 4 testifying at the trial or hearing, offered in evidence to prove the truth of the matter asserted."
5 FED. R. EVID. 801(c). A statement is not hearsay if it is "offered against a party and is the party's 6 own statement in either an individual or a representative capacity." FED. R. EVID. 801(d)(2). In
7 this case, Plaintiff sought to use the Recall against Defendant Menu in the Complaint by arguing
8 that Menu recalled the subject pet food because of the presence of chemicals which were illegal
9 or unapproved for use in food in the United States. Compl. ¶¶ 12, 44.

10 As pointed out in Menu's Memorandum in support of its Motion to Dismiss, where a 11 defendant offers a document that has been referred to in plaintiff's complaint and is central to the 12 his or her claim, the court treats such document as part of the complaint. Ritchie, 342 F.3d at 908;
13 Venture Assoc., 987 F.2d at 431; Associated Builders, 505 F.2d at 100. Therefore, the Recall was 14 offered against Defendant Menu by Plaintiff. Further, because the Recall is Defendant Menu's
15 own statement, the Recall is not hearsay but an admission. Accordingly, the court should 16 overrule Plaintiff's hearsay objection.

17 V. CONCLUSION

18 For the reasons set forth above, Plaintiff's Objection to Exhibit A should be overruled.
