 22 FOR LACK OF SUBJECT MATTER JURISDICTION

23 Defendants Vote for the Worst, LLC, Nathan E. Palmer, and David J. Della Terza
 24 (collectively, "VFTW," or the "Defendants"), by and through their counsel, move to dismiss
 25 Plaintiff Righthaven, LLC's (hereinafter "Righthaven[']s," or the "Plaintiff[']s") Complaint
 26 (Doc. # 1) filed on June 28, 2010 for lack of subject matter jurisdiction, pursuant to Federal Rule 27 of Civil Procedure 12(b)(1) and Local Rule 7.2.

28 I. Introduction

Plaintiff filed this lawsuit against the Defendants on June 28, 2010, which VFTW responded to with a Motion to Dismiss for lack of personal jurisdiction on August 16, 2010

1 (Doc. # 14). Righthaven filed an opposition to the Defendants’ motion on September 1, 2010
2 (Doc. # 15) and the Defendants replied on September 13, 2010 (Doc. # 17). The Court
3 subsequently denied the Defendants’ motion on March 30, 2011 (Doc. # 28) and the Defendants 4 filed an Answer to the Complaint on April 13, 2011 (Doc. # 32).

5 Pursuant to this Court’s April 14, 2011 Order in Righthaven LLC v. Democratic 6 Underground LLC, Case No. 2:10-cv-01356, Doc. # 93 (D. Nev., filed Apr. 14, 2011), new 7 evidence regarding Righthaven’s relationship with Stephens Media LLC (hereinafter “Stephens 8 Media”) has been unsealed and released to the public. On April 15, 2011, an unredacted version
9 of the Defendants’ Supplemental Memorandum Addressing Recently Produced Evidence 10 Relating to Pending Motions in the Democratic Underground case was made available on the 11 Public Access to Court Electronic Records (“PACER”) system, as well as this court’s CM/ECF
12 system. Case No. 2:10-cv-01356 Doc. # 79 (D. Nev., filed Mar. 9, 2011). See Decl. of J.
13 Malcolm DeVoy ¶¶ 2-3. A true and correct copy of Exhibit A to Doc. # 79 in Democratic 14 Underground is attached to this Motion as Exhibit A as well, for consistency. DeVoy Decl. ¶¶ 4-15 5; Exh. A.

16 This document clearly reveals that Righthaven lacked the rights to bring this suit, and 17 thus this court lacks jurisdiction over this matter. Under Rule 12(b)(1), subject matter 18 jurisdiction is an essential element to every lawsuit, and must be present for any court to hear a 19 dispute. In this case, Righthaven does not have sufficient rights in the work putatively assigned 20 to it by Stephens Media to bring – or maintain – its case against VFTW. As such, the Court 21 should dismiss Righthaven’s suit.

22 II. Legal Standard

23 Subject matter jurisdiction is an essential element to every lawsuit and must be 24 demonstrated “at the successive stages of the litigation.” Chapman v. Pier 1 Imports (U.S.), Inc., 25 631 F.3d 939, 954 (9th Cir. 2011) (citing Lujan v. Defenders of Wildlife, 504 U.S. 555, 561 26 (1992)). The existence of subject matter jurisdiction is an ongoing inquiry that a court must 27 conduct sua sponte in order to continue the case. Chapman, 631 F.3d at 954; Bernhardt v.

1 County of Los Angeles, 279 F.3d 862, 868 (9th Cir. 2002). Where subject matter jurisdiction is 2 absent, a court has no discretion and must dismiss the case. Chapman, 631 F.3d at 954.

3 A central component to subject matter jurisdiction is the question of standing, which 4 requires that the party experience actual or imminent harm. Lujan, 504 U.S. at 561 (citing 5 Whitmore v. Ark., 495 U.S. 149, 155 (1990)). A party’s standing to bring a case is not subject to 6 waiver, and can be used to dismiss the instant action at any time. Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(h)(3); U.S. v.
7 Hays, 515 U.S. 737, 742 (1995); Chapman, 631 F.3d at 954.

8 III. Argument

9 A. Righthaven Has No Standing to Bring This Case

10 Righthaven is neither the owner nor exclusive holder of any rights in the copyrighted
11 work underlying this lawsuit. As such, Righthaven has suffered no injury or other cognizable 12 harm required for it to have standing under Lujan. Absent this very basic requirement of 13 standing, there is no subject matter jurisdiction in this case, and it must be dismissed.

14 For a plaintiff to sue for copyright infringement, it must have an exclusive right in a 15 copyright. Silvers v. Sony Pictures Entm’t, Inc., 402 F.3d 881, 885 (9th Cir. 2005); see 16 Sybersound Records v. UAV Corp., 517 F.3d 1137, 1144 (holding that only owners and 17 “exclusive licensees” may enforce a copyright or license). Without such exclusivity, a plaintiff 18 has no standing to enforce a copyright. Sybersound, 517 F.3d at 1144. As status as a copyright 19 owner or exclusive licensee is prerequisite for enforcing such a right, a plaintiff with neither 20 lacks standing to pursue an infringement claim on that copyright, as it cannot experience the 21 injury requisite for Article III standing under Whitmore and Lujan.

1 Righthaven lacks sufficient rights under Silvers and Sybersound to bring this lawsuit.
2 The Strategic Alliance Agreement (hereinafter, the “Agreement”) between Stephens Media and 3 Righthaven found in Exhibit A obviates the need to examine the copyright assignment for the 4 work at issue in this case.¹ Indeed, the Agreement makes it abundantly clear that Righthaven 5 actually has no rights in the copyrights it claims. Most importantly, Section 7.2 of the 6 Agreement, Exhibit A, provides as follows:

7 Despite any such Copyright Assignment, Stephens Media shall retain (and is 8 hereby granted by Righthaven) an exclusive license to Exploit the Stephens 9 Media Assigned Copyrights for any lawful purpose whatsoever and Righthaven 10 shall have no right or license to Exploit or participate in the receipt of 11 royalties from the Exploitation of the Stephens Media Assigned Copyrights
12 other than the right to proceeds in association with a Recovery. To the extent 13 that Righthaven's maintenance of rights to pursue infringers of the Stephens 14 Media Assigned Copyrights in any manner would be deemed to diminish
15 Stephens Media's right to Exploit the Stephens Media Assigned Copyrights, 16 Righthaven hereby grants an exclusive license to Stephens Media to the greatest 17 extent permitted by law so that Stephens Media shall have unfettered and 18 exclusive ability to Exploit the Stephens Media Assigned Copyrights. Righthaven 19 shall have no Obligation to protect or enforce any Work of Stephens Media that is 20 not Stephens Media Assigned Copyrights.

21 Emphasis added; “Exploit” defined in Exhibit A, Schedule 1. Thus, while Stephens Media gives 22 Righthaven the illusory rights for Righthaven to be recognized as the copyright holder of the 23 works at issue in its lawsuits, it does not provide any transfer any of the rights in 17 U.S.C. § 106 24 that must be transferred to make a valid copyright assignment or license, and thus grant the 25 assignee the right to sue. See Silvers, 402 F.3d at 885. The “assignment” is a transparent sham
26 that is designed to make Righthaven appear to be a copyright assignee for the purposes of filing 27 suit, meanwhile the actual rights at issue are governed by this Agreement, which renders the 28 assignment meaningless. (Exh. A.) The Agreement even specifically precludes Righthaven from

¹ Judge Hunt ordered this document to be made public in Righthaven LLC v. Democratic Underground LLC, Case 2:10-cv-1356 Order, Doc. # 93 (D. Nev., filed Apr. 14, 2011). His rationale included the fact that the contents of this document would have an impact on all Righthaven cases. “As I have read these and other motions in this case, and considered the multitude of cases filed by Righthaven, on the claimed basis that Righthaven owns the copyrights to certain Stephens Media copy, it appears to the Court that there is certainly an interest and even a right in all the other defendants sued by [Righthaven] to have access to this material.” Id. at 4.

1 the most basic of assignee rights and prohibits Righthaven from “Exploit[ing]” (Exh. A, 2 Schedule 1) the copyrighted works through distribution, publication or licensing. In the end,
3 Stephens Media is the only party to the Agreement with any exclusive rights in the copyrighted 4 content.

5 But that is not the full extent of the sham and the fraud that has been perpetrated upon 6 this court hundreds of times – as a right of reversion is also included in the Agreement. As seen
7 in Section 8 of the Agreement, Exhibit A:

9 Stephens Media shall have the right at any time to terminate, in good faith, any 10 Copyright Assignment (the "Assignment Termination") and enjoy a right of 11 complete reversion to the ownership of any copyright that is the subject of a 12 Copyright Assignment; provided, however, that if Righthaven shall have 13 commenced an action to prosecute an infringer of the Stephens Media Assigned 14 Copyrights, Stephens Media shall be exclusively responsible for effecting 15 termination of such action including, without limitation, all Losses associated 16 with any dismissal with prejudice.

17 In addition to Stephens Media having the exclusive license to use the copyrights for everything 18 but Righthaven’s lawsuits, it also retains the ability to reclaim those rights at any time.
19 Righthaven does not even acquire the exclusive right to sue, as the full text of Section 8, found in 20 Exhibit A, specifically contemplates Stephens Media litigating the infringement of the copyrights 21 it assigns to Righthaven.

22 This is not a true copyright ownership that Righthaven has acquired, nor is it even an 23 exclusive license – it is simply an attempt to illegally assign a copyright claim. And it is exactly 24 that narrow, exploitative interest that the Ninth Circuit held flew in the face of the Copyright Act,
25 and clearly stated could not be the basis of a copyright infringement lawsuit, in Silvers. 402 F.3d
26 at 890; see also Sybersound, 517 F.3d at 1144.

27
28 B. Righthaven has Willfully Deceived this Court

Righthaven fought mightily to keep this evidence from the public and from all defendants in its legion of cases brought in this District. See Righthaven LLC v. Democratic Underground LLC, Case No. 2:10-cv-1356. An examination of the document and its implications for

1 Righthaven’s business model make the reason plain – it reveals the unlawful nature of 2 Righthaven’s actions before this court and renders all of its lawsuits null and void. For this 3 reason, the Court has an independent justification for dismissing this case.

4 This Court has the inherent power to dismiss an action when a party has “willfully
5 deceived” the Court and “engaged in conduct utterly inconsistent with the orderly administration 6 of justice.” Wyle v. R.J. Reynolds Indus., Inc., 709 F.2d 585, 589 (9th Cir. 1983); Phoceene Sous-
7 Marine, S.A. v. U.S. Phosmarine, Inc., 682 F.2d 802, 806 (9th Cir. 1982). Such conduct is 8 inimical to the proper and equitable use of not only this Court’s resources, but the justice system 9 as a whole. There is little doubt, though, that this is exactly what Righthaven has done in this 10 case.

11 In the Agreement, Stephens Media retains an “exclusive license” to exploit the copyrights
12 allegedly assigned to Righthaven. (Exh. A § 7.2.) Righthaven has no right to receive royalties 13 for the copyrighted work’s use, other than the recovery it is entitled to from litigation;
14 additionally, Righthaven specifically gives Stephens Media an unspecified – but expansive² –
15 exclusive license to exploit the copyrights. (Id.) The extent to which Righthaven putatively owns 16 the copyright is further undermined by Stephens Media’s right to reversion, which allows it to 17 take back the copyright at almost any time (Id. § 8.)

18 Meanwhile, in Righthaven’s Complaint, it deceptively claims to be the “owner” of the 19 copyrighted work (Doc. # 1 ¶¶ 9, 25) and avers to have the exclusive rights to reproduce the 20 work, create derivatives of the copyrighted work, distribute copies of the work and publicly 21 display the work under 17 U.S.C. § 106. (Doc. # 1 ¶¶ 32-35.) All of these claims are clearly 22 contradicted by Section 7.2 of the Agreement, which makes it clear that Righthaven has no rights
23 to use the work for any purpose other than litigation, and is assigned the copyright solely to coat
24 its lawsuits with the veneer of legitimacy. (Exh. A §§ 3.1, 3.3, 3.4, 7.1, 7.2.)

25 The Agreement embodied in Exhibit A defines the full scope of Stephens Media’s 26 relationship with Righthaven, rendering any analysis of an individual copyright assignment 27 superfluous. It is clear from the Agreement that whatever rights Righthaven does have from

28 ² “[T]o the greatest extent permitted by law.” (Id.)

1 Stephens Media are insufficient to lawfully bring its lawsuit against these defendants (and others 2 as well), and that it lacks standing to do so. Righthaven willfully hid this information from the 3 Court, and when one party discovered it, Righthaven fought extensively to keep the information 4 from other Defendants. Now that it has seen the light of day, and this Court has opportunity to 5 gaze upon it, Righthaven's deception stands starkly revealed. This case must be dismissed.

6 Conclusion

7 Under the law of this Circuit, Righthaven does not have the legal right to pursue its 8 copyright infringement claim in this case. As seen from Exhibit A, it has acquired no rights from 9 Stephens Media, and certainly not enough to claim its copyrights were infringed upon. As such, 10 it has not suffered an injury cognizable by law, and its case is not properly before this Court.
11 Therefore, consistent with Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(h)(3), this Court should dismiss 12 Righthaven's case against the Defendants.
