

1 Acceptance, Inc. (“AHMA”) on April 26, 2007. (First Amended Compl. (“FAC”, ¶13, ECF No.
2 3.) However, the Deed of Trust submitted by Defendants shows that Plaintiffs executed a 3 promissory note in favor of American Brokers Conduit (“ABC”) in the amount of $520,000.00
4 on April 30, 2007. (Id.) The DOT named Defendant MERS as the nominee beneficiary and First 5 American Title as the trustee. (Id.) Plaintiff alleges that AHMS is the servicer of Plaintiffs’ loan.
6 (FAC at ¶22.)

7 Plaintiffs’ complaint is a peculiar case compared to the sea of wrongful foreclosure cases 8 this court reviews. It does not allege any facts regarding an improper notice of default. Instead, 9 the FAC alleges six causes of action: (1) breach of contract; (2) breach of the covenant of good
10 faith and fair dealing; (3) intentional or negligent misrepresentation; (4) violation of Nevada 11 Deceptive Trade Practices, NRS 598; (5) quiet title; and (6) declaratory and injunctive relief.

12 DISCUSSION

13 A. Legal Standard

14 Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 8(a)(2) requires only “a short and plain statement of the 15 claim showing that the pleader is entitled to relief” in order to “give the defendant fair notice of 16 what the . . . claim is and the grounds upon which it rests.” Conley v. Gibson, 355 U.S. 41, 47
17 (1957). Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(b)(6) mandates that a court dismiss a cause of action
18 that fails to state a claim upon which relief can be granted. A motion to dismiss under Rule 19 12(b)(6) tests the complaint’s sufficiency. See North Star Int’l. v. Arizona Corp. Comm’n., 720 20 F.2d 578, 581 (9th Cir. 1983). When considering a motion to dismiss under Rule 12(b)(6) for 21 failure to state a claim, dismissal is appropriate only when the complaint does not give the 22 defendant fair notice of a legally cognizable claim and the grounds on which it rests. See Bell 23 Atl. Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 554, 127 S.Ct. 1955, 1964 (2007). However, facts must be 24 sufficient to edge a complaint from the conceivable to the plausible in order to state a claim. Id.
25 In considering whether the complaint is sufficient to state a claim, the court will take all material

1 allegations as true and construe them in the light most favorable to the plaintiff. See NL Indus., 2 Inc. v. Kaplan, 792 F.2d 896, 898 (9th Cir. 1986). The court, however, is not required to accept 3 as true allegations that are merely conclusory, unwarranted deductions of fact, or unreasonable
4 inferences. See Sprewell v. Golden State Warriors, 266 F.3d 979, 988 (9th Cir. 2001).

5 The Supreme Court clarified that, in order to avoid a motion to dismiss, the complaint 6 must contain “factual content that allows the court to draw the reasonable inference that the 7 defendant is liable for the misconduct alleged.” Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 129 S.Ct. 1937, 1949 (2009).
8 The Court in Ashcroft further stated “[w]here a complaint pleads facts that are “merely consistent 9 with” a defendant’s liability, it “stops short of the line between possibility and plausibility of 10 entitlement to relief.” Id. Therefore, merely making an allegation is not enough to survive a 11 motion to dismiss; facts that a particular defendant may plausibly be liable for the alleged 12 conduct must be pled.

13 If the court grants a motion to dismiss, it must then decide whether to grant leave to 14 amend. The court should “freely give” leave to amend when there is no “undue delay, bad 15 faith[,] dilatory motive on the part of the movant . . . undue prejudice to the opposing party by 16 virtue of . . . the amendment, [or] futility of the amendment . . .” Fed. R. Civ. P. 15(a); Foman v.
17 Davis, 371 U.S. 178, 182 (1962). Generally, leave to amend is only denied when it is clear that 18 the deficiencies of the complaint cannot be cured by amendment. See DeSoto v. Yellow Freight 19 Sys., Inc., 957 F.2d 655, 658 (9th Cir. 1992).

20 Local Rule 7-2 (d) provides that “[t]he failure of an opposing party to file points and 21 authorities in response to any motion shall constitute a consent to the granting of the motion.” D.
22 Nev. R. 7-2(d). As the Ninth Circuit has held, “[f]ailure to follow a district court’s local rules is 23 a proper ground for dismissal.” Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 53 (9th Cir. 1995); see, e.g., 24 Roberts v. United States of America, 01-cv-1230-RLH-LRL, 2002 WL 1770930 (D. Nev. June 25 13, 2002). However, before dismissing a case for failing to follow local rules or for failure to

1 prosecute, the district court must weigh five factors: “(1) the public’s interest in expeditious 2 resolution of litigation; (2) the court’s need to manage its docket; (3) the risk of prejudice to 3 defendants/respondents; (4) the availability of less drastic sanctions; and (5) the public policy
4 favoring disposition of cases on their merits.” Pagtalunan v. Galaza, 291 F.3d 639, 642 (9th Cir.
5 2002).

6 B. Discussion

7 As a preliminary matter this Court finds that it can grant Defendants’ Motion to Dismiss 8 and Motion to Expunge Lis Pendens pursuant to Local Rule 7-2(b). Under the five factor test, 9 “the public’s interest in expeditious resolution of litigation always favors dismissal.” Yourish v.
10 California Amplifier, 191 F.3d 983, 990 (9th Cir. 1999). Also, the Court’s need to manage its 11 docket is manifest. See State Farm Mutual Automobile Insurance Company v. Ireland, No. 2:07-
12 cv-01541-RCJ-RJJ, 2009 WL 4280282 (D. Nev. Nov. 30, 2009). Plaintiffs’ counsel does not 13 give the court any reason to believe that he will be more diligent in other aspects of this lawsuit 14 given that he failed to timely respond twice and does not address his failure to respond timely.
15 Furthermore, even when Plaintiffs did finally respond to the motions, the issues raised regarding 16 claims one through four were not addressed. Alternatively, the Court also finds that Plaintiffs 17 have failed to state a claim upon which relief can be granted.

18 1. Breach of Contract

19 Plaintiffs’ first claim for breach of contract fails to state a claim. To state a claim for 20 breach of contract in Nevada, a Plaintiff must demonstrate (1) the existence of a valid contract, 21 (2) that plaintiff performed or was excused from performance, (3) that the defendant breached the 22 contract, and (4) that the plaintiff sustained damages. See Calloway v. City of Reno, 993 P.2d 23 1259, 1263 (2000). Plaintiff states that “Defendant PMC breached its agreement because it 24 purported and promised to be ‘Lender’ in the trust deed yet did not lend funds to Plaintiffs.”
25 (FAC at ¶95.) Plaintiff goes on to allege that only the “Lender” or its successor or assignee can

1 execute written notice or the occurrence of an event of default to cause the Property to be sold.
2 (Id. at ¶96.) “Since [AHMA] was not the ‘Lender’ . . . neither it nor its successor is entitled to 3 invoke the power of sale.” (Id.) Plaintiff alleges that AHMS, MERS and AHMA invoked the 4 power of sale and thus breached the material term.

5 First of all, the Court is unsure who Defendant PMC is since the first mention of this 6 entity is in paragraph 95. Earlier in the FAC, Plaintiff alleges that AHMA is the lender on the 7 loan documents. (Id. at ¶13.) However, this is contradicted by the judicially noticeable DOT
8 submitted by Defendants. In fact, most of Plaintiffs’ alleged facts are contradicted by the DOT.
9 Although the Court must accept as true facts as alleged in the complaint, when those facts do not 10 actually establish a plausible inference that would lead to the cause of action, the claim must be 11 dismissed. The DOT is dated April 30, 2007 which is very close to Plaintiffs’ alleged execution
12 of the promissory note on April 26, 2007. The DOT lists Plaintiffs as the borrowers and covers 13 the disputed Property. However, the DOT shows that American Brokers Conduit (“ABC”) is the 14 lender. As such, Plaintiffs’ allegations that they entered into a contract with AHMA or that 15 AHMA’s successors did not have the power of sale, does not establish a claim for a breach of 16 contract because AHMA is not a party to the DOT.

17 2. Breach of the Covenant of Good Faith and Fair Dealing

18 In order to recover for breach of the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing, a 19 plaintiff must be in a contractual relationship with a defendant. Hilton Hotels Corp. v. Butch
20 Lewis Productions, Inc., 107 Nev. 226, 233 (Nev., 1991). Accordingly, Plaintiffs’ second claim 21 for breach of the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing is dismissed.

22 3. Intentional or Negligent Misrepresentation

23 Plaintiffs’ third cause of action also fails to state a claim for intentional or negligent
24 misrepresentation. A claim of “fraud or mistake” must be alleged “with particularity.”
25 Fed.R.Civ.P. 9(b); see also Desaigoudar v. Meyercord, 223 F.3d 1020, 1022 (9th Cir.2000)

1 (“Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 9(b) ... require[s] [plaintiff] to plead her case with a high 2 degree of meticulousness.”). A complaint alleging fraud or mistake must include allegations of 3 the time, place, and specific content of the alleged false representations and the identities of the 4 parties involved. See Swartz v. KPMG LLP, 476 F.3d 756, 764 (9th Cir.2007). The plaintiff must 5 also “set forth an explanation as to why the statement or omission complained of was false and 6 misleading.” In re GlenFed, Inc. Sec. Litig., 42 F.3d 1541, 1548 (9th Cir.1994) (en banc). Rule 7 9(b) also governs claims for negligent misrepresentation. Glen Holly Entm't, Inc. v. Tektronix, 8 Inc., 100 F.Supp.2d 1086, 1093 (C.D.Cal.1999).

9 Plaintiffs’ claims do not state any misrepresentation. Plaintiffs allege that Defendants 10 made misrepresentations by failing to disclose the identity of the “true beneficiary” of the Note 11 and DOT, misrepresenting the “current foreclosing’s [sic] authority to foreclose,” and failing to 12 disclose that the loan would be securitized. However, the court finds that all of these allegations 13 are conclusory allegations of wrongdoing that are too vague to state a valid claim for fraud under 14 the heightened pleading standards. These allegations also suffer from the same shortcomings of 15 Plaintiff’s first and second cause of action. The facts that are alleged do not provide a plausible 16 inference of wrongdoing as most of the facts are contradicted or self-contradictory.

17 4. Violation of Nevada Deceptive Trade Practices, NRS 598

18 Plaintiffs make a conclusory statement that by Defendants’ actions they have violated the 19 Nevada Deceptive Trade Practices at NRS 598. This does not put Defendants on notice as to 20 which subsection of NRS 598 they could have violated. However, only subsection fifteen of 21 NRS § 598.0915 could plausibly state a claim upon which relief could be granted because NRS 22 598.0923 applies to defendants who conduct their business without a license (which has not been 23 alleged) and all other subsections of NRS § 598 apply specifically to goods and/or services.

24 Pursuant to subsection fifteen of NRS § 598.0915, knowingly making any false 25 representation in a transaction constitutes a deceptive trade practice. Plaintiffs’ claims that any

1 of the named Defendants made false representations during the loan process is implausible since 2 it does not appear that they were the lender.

3 5. Quiet Title

4 Under Nevada law, a quiet title action may be brought by someone who claims an adverse 5 interest in property. N.R.S. § 40.010. “In a quiet title action, the burden of proof rests with the 6 plaintiff to prove good title in himself.” Brelant v. Preferred Equities Corp., 918 P.2d 314, 318
7 (Nev.1996). Specifically, when an adverse claim exists, the party seeking to have another party’s 8 right to property extinguished, must overcome the “presumption in favor of the record 9 titleholder.” Id. (citing Biasi v. Leavitt, 692 P.2d 1301, 1304 (Nev.1985)). Courts of this district 10 have held that an action for quiet title “should be dismissed where plaintiff’s claim is not based 11 on a cognizable legal theory.” Manderville v. Litton Loan Servicing, No. 2:10-cv-1696-JCM-12 GWF, 2011 WL 2149105, at *3 (D.Nev. May 31, 2011) (internal quotation marks omitted). In 13 this case, Plaintiffs aim to only quiet title against Defendants and “not necessarily with respect to 14 the true owner of the Note [and] Deed of Trust.” (Response, pg. 17 n. 5, ECF No. 14.)

15 Courts within this district have repeatedly held that a plaintiff who has not discharged the 16 debt owed on the mortgage cannot quiet title. See Fuleihan v. Wells Fargo, No. 2:09-cv-1877-
17 RCJ-PAL, 2010 WL 3724186 at *5 (D.Nev. Sept. 15, 2010) (a borrower cannot quiet title to a 18 property without discharging any debt owed); Harold v. One West Bank, No. 2:10-cv-2204-KJD-19 GWF, 2011 WL 4543998, at *3(D.Nev. Sept. 29, 2011). Plaintiffs do not allege that they have 20 discharged the debt owed.

21 6. Declaratory and Injunctive Relief.

22 Declaratory and injunctive relief are not separate causes of actions but are remedies.
23 Plaintiffs’ untimely Response does not respond to any of Defendants’ arguments regarding their 24 first four causes of action and instead focuses solely on Plaintiffs’ right to seek declaratory relief
25 and quiet title. However, the complaint does not even set forth facts regarding the supposed

1 foreclosure action that AHMS and MERS are threatening to take. As such, there is no justiciable
2 controversy for the court to decide. Since the Court has dismissed each of Plaintiffs' underlying 3 claims, they are not entitled to declaratory or injunctive relief.²

4 CONCLUSION

5 IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that Defendants American Home Mortgage Servicing, Inc.
6 (AHMS) and Mortgage Electronic Registration Systems, Inc.'s (MERS) Motion to Dismiss (ECF 7 No. 10) and Motion to Expunge Lis Pendens (ECF No. 16) are GRANTED.

8 Plaintiffs' First Amended Complaint is DISMISSED with prejudice.

9 The Clerk of the Court shall close this case.
