

EXHIBIT 29

My 100 Dime Winner is on MIAMI-OHIO. The line I am seeing at 3:30 a.m. pacific is currently ranging from -9 1/2 and -10 across the board. I want you to be sure to shop the numbers, as I want you getting the best numbers on this play. Now here's the thing, this is one of those rare occasions I want you buying the hook on a 10-point spread, as the MAC can be wacky sometime. I want you laying only 9 1/2 points in this one if your book is offering a 10.

TODAY'S ANALYSIS

Thank Ohio University for this play right here.

The Bobcats went into Philadelphia and dismantled Temple last night. Like it was nothing.

And by doing so, Miami-Ohio's motivation went up a notch, knowing it will meet the Bobcats next week, quite possibly for the MAC East Division title.

Miami-Ohio might not boast a high-scoring offense - it ranks 103rd in the nation - but it does have the 32nd-best passing game in the nation, and could very well look like Hawaii, the nation's leader, against Akron's 113th-ranked pass defense, and overall worst scoring defense.

Now, there are some who believe Akron has motivation also, that would be to not be the only team in the country to finish winless this season. Easier said than done, though, as Akron just might be the worst team in the nation overall.

Yes, even worse than New Mexico and UNLV.

No pun intended, but Akron has no zip this year, ranking near the bottom of every major statistical category in Division I FBS football. And at 0-10, the Zips are losing by an average margin of 23.7 points.

Akron is arguably the worst offensive team in the nation, ranking in the bottom 20 in the nation in rushing yards, passing yards, total offense (last) and scoring offense. The Zips have a combined 17 rushing/passing touchdowns.

They came close to earning their first win, but lost in double overtime to Ball State on Nov. 6, 37-30. They've given no less than 30 points their last four times out and in eight of their 10 games this season.

Checking the betting trends, Miami-O is on winning runs of 5-1 against losing teams, 4-1 in conference play, 5-2 on the highway and 16-5 when the visit teams with a losing home record.

On the flipside, the Zips are on ATS slides of 2-8 against winning teams, 3-13 on turf, 1-5 when catching points in this range at home, 0-6 at home and 0-5 after an ATS cover.

The favorite has also covered five of the last six meetings.

Lay the chalk, and don't forget to buy the half point down under 10 points.

EXHIBIT 30

NCAAB
15* Wisconsin Green Bay Phoenix

Join Date: May 2007
Location: Ohio
Posts: 92,998

Reply With Quote

11-17-2010 03:06 PM

#85 lastguyoffthabench ◊

RX Member
[Profile Icon]

chris jordan 200 spurs

Join Date: Feb 2009
Location: Philadelphia
Posts: 511

Reply With Quote

11-17-2010 03:13 PM

#86

vitterd ◊

RX Senior
[Profile Icon]

Northcoast marquee

Join Date: Oct 2010
Location: pa
Posts: 1,768

Bowlgreen/toledo over

Reply With Quote

11-17-2010 03:13 PM

#87

Dr_Baseball ◊

RX Junior
[Profile Icon]

Join Date: Feb 2009
Location: US
Posts: 47

Originally Posted by Can'tPickaWinner [Profile Icon]

NBA Guru

Wednesday NBA

2 NYK/Sac OVER 107 FH*

FYI - I've been following this guy (NBA Guru). He's a new guy over at bettingtalk. He just does the NBA and is doing very well. Here is his YTD record...

5* 0-0 = 0.0 units
4* 0-0 = 0.0 units
3* 1-0 = +3.0 units
2* 5-0 = +10.0 units
1* 31-23 = +5.7 units
=====
TOTAL: 37-23 = +18.7 units

Reply With Quote

11-17-2010 03:19 PM

#88

Can'tPickaWinner ◊

Super Moderator
[Profile Icon]

Join Date: May 2007
Location: Ohio
Posts: 92,998

SCOTT DELANEY
MAC GAME OF THE YEAR
100 DIME* Miami-OH Redhawks

100 Dime Winner MIAMI-OHIO. The line I am seeing at 3:30 a.m. pacific is currently ranging from -9 1/2 and -10 across the board. I want you to be sure to shop the numbers, as I want you getting the best numbers on this play. Now here's the thing, this is one of those rare occasions I want you buying the hook on a 10-point spread, as the MAC can be wacky sometime. I want you laying only 9 1/2 points in this one if your book is offering a 10.

TODAY'S ANALYSIS
Thank Ohio University for this play right here.
The Bobcats went into Philadelphia and dismantled Temple last night. Like it was nothing.

And by doing so, Miami-Ohio's motivation went up a notch, knowing it will meet the Bobcats next week, quite possibly for the MAC East Division title.
 Miami-Ohio might not boast a high-scoring offense - it ranks 103rd in the nation - but it does have the 32nd-best passing game in the nation, and could very well look like Hawaii, the nation's leader, against Akron's 113th-ranked pass defense, and overall worst scoring defense.
 Now, there are some who believe Akron has motivation also, that would be to not be the only team in the country to finish win-less this season. Easier said than done, though, as Akron just might be the worst team in the nation overall.
 Yes, even worse than New Mexico and UNLV.
 No pun intended, but Akron has no zip this year, ranking near the bottom of every major statistical category in Division I FBS football. And at 0-10, the Zips are losing by an average margin of 23.7 points.
 Akron is arguably the worst offensive team in the nation, ranking in the bottom 20 in the nation in rushing yards, passing yards, total offense (last) and scoring offense. The Zips have a combined 17 rushing/passing touchdowns.
 They came close to earning their first win, but lost in double overtime to Ball State on Nov. 6, 37-30. They've given no less than 30 points their last four times out and in eight of their 10 games this season.
 Checking the betting trends, Miami-O is on winning runs of 5-1 against losing teams, 4-1 in conference play, 5-2 on the highway and 16-5 when the visit teams with a losing home record.
 On the flip-side, the Zips are on ATS slides of 2-8 against winning teams, 3-13 on turf, 1-5 when catching points in this range at home, 0-6 at home and 0-5 after an ATS cover.
 The favorite has also covered five of the last six meetings.
 Lay the chalk, and don't forget to buy the half point down under 10 points.

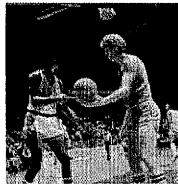

Reply With Quote

11-17-2010 03:19 PM

#89

Can'tPickaWinner ◊

Super Moderator
 ██████████

Join Date: May 2007
 Location: Ohio
 Posts: 92,998

SPORTS BETTING PROFESSOR

Wednesday's NBA Picks:
 Los Angeles Lakers -6.5*
 Oklahoma City Thunder -6.5
 San Antonio Spurs -6.5
 Sacramento Kings -3.5

Reply With Quote

11-17-2010 03:36 PM

#90

Dr_Baseball ◊

RX Junior
 █

Join Date: Feb 2009
 Location: US
 Posts: 47

Originally Posted by Dr_Baseball █

FYI - I've been following this guy (NBA Guru). He's a new guy over at bettingtalk. He just does the NBA and is doing very well. Here is his YTD record...

5* 0-0 = 0.0 units
 4* 0-0 = 0.0 units
 3* 1-0 = +3.0 units
 2* 5-0 = +10.0 units
 1* 31-23 = +5.7 units
 =====
 TOTAL: 37-23 = +18.7 units

He actually plays a lot of 1st half plays but his full game results are being tracked at The Sports Monitor too. He's 4th overall there in the NBA in terms of win% (20-7)

Reply With Quote

11-17-2010 03:39 PM

#91

Can'tPickaWinner ◊

Super Moderator
 ██████████

Join Date: May 2007
 Location: Ohio
 Posts: 92,998

FREDDY WILLS

ODDSLINE ERROR
 3.85 DIME* Bowling Green+10.5

EXHIBIT 31

-APPLICATION-

Title _____

Title of Work: Analysis Thank Ohio University for this play 11-17-10

Completion/Publication _____

Year of Completion: 2010

Date of 1st Publication: November 17, 2010

Nation of 1st Publication: United States

Author _____

▪ Author: Stevo Design, Inc.

Pseudonym: Scott Delaney

Author Created: text

Work made for hire: Yes

Citizen of: United States

Domiciled in: United States

Pseudonymous: Yes

Copyright claimant _____

Copyright Claimant: Righthaven LLC

9960 West Cheyenne Avenue, Suite 210, Las Vegas, NV, 89129-7701, United States

Transfer Statement: By written agreement

Rights and Permissions _____

Organization Name: Righthaven LLC

Name: Chief Executive Officer

Email: sgibson@righthaven.com

Telephone: 702-527-5900

Address: 9960 West Cheyenne Avenue

Suite 210

Las Vegas, NV 89129-7701 United States

Certification _____

Name: Steven A. Gibson

Date: February 11, 2011

Applicant's Tracking Number: SD010

Registration #:

Service Request #: 1-563365754

Priority: Routine

Application Date: February 11, 2011 03:34:47 AM

Note to C.O.: Please contact Steven A. Gibson or Raisha Y. Gibson at (702) 527-5900 with any questions or concerns regarding this copyright registration. Thank you.

Correspondent

Organization Name: Righthaven LLC

Name: Steven A. Gibson

Email: sgibson@righthaven.com

Telephone: 702-527-5900

Address: 9960 West Cheyenne Avenue
Suite 210
Las Vegas, NV 89129-7701 United States

Alt. Telephone: 702-541-6300

Fax: 702-527-5909

Mail Certificate

Righthaven LLC
Steven A. Gibson
9960 West Cheyenne Avenue
Suite 210
Las Vegas, NV 89129-7701 United States

EXHIBIT 32

15 Dime NBA selection on the PHOENIX SUNS plus the points at Miami. Phoenix opened as an 8½-point road underdog, but that number has since dropped to a consensus of Heat - 8. Keep monitoring the line moves here and make sure you get the best of the number.

10 Dime NBA selection on the L.A. LAKERS minus the points at Detroit. Los Angeles opened as a 7 ½-point road favorite and as I release this play, that number is holding steady both here in Vegas and offshore.

SUNS

Absolutely ridiculous pointspread here, guys, as the oddsmakers – no doubt fully aware of the public's infatuation with LeBron, Wade and the Heat – continue to overvalue this overrated team. Miami is on a five-game no-cover streak, the last four of those contests coming in South Beach. Not only have the Heat failed to cash in their last five games, but they've only won two of them (beating lowly New Jersey and Toronto).

In their last three contests, the Heat's defense has disappeared, allowing 116, 112 and 100 points, this after holding their first seven foes to 96 points or less (with five of those seven failing to crack 90 points).

While the Heat are ice cold, the Suns are red hot. They're coming off an impressive back-to-back performance against the Lakers on Sunday (121-116 road win when the scorched the nets with 28 made three-pointers) and Nuggets on Monday (100-94 home win). Phoenix has cashed in each of its last three games and four of the last five, and only twice all season have the high-octane Suns failed to crack triple digits in scoring (99 points at Memphis; 92 points in the season-opener at Portland).

Both teams are 6-4, but those records really aren't at all identical. See, the Suns have defeated four quality opponents (Jazz, Lakers, Hawks, Nuggets, with two of those being on the road). Meanwhile, if you take out Miami's 26-point rout of the Magic in its home-opener, and here's the list of the Heat's victims: Philadelphia, New Jersey (twice), Minnesota, and Toronto.

Now, please explain to me how the Heat, who clearly are going to need time to mesh as a team, can be laying this big of a number tonight? Makes zero sense.

Throw in the following pointspread trends – Phoenix is on ATS runs of 41-19-1 overall, 9-4 as a road underdog, 40-17-1 after one day off, 10-3 following a victory and 5-1 against the Eastern Conference; Miami is in ATS slumps of 0-5 overall, 0-4 at home, 1-4 against winning teams and 7-19 after three or more days off – and this one is a no-brainer!

Not only does Phoenix cover this spread wire to wire, but it will be there challenging for the outright victory in the final two minutes.

LAKERS

Impressive statement win last night by the Lakers, who followed up two tough losses to the Nuggets and Suns – their first two defeats of the season – with a 118-107 win in Milwaukee against a solid Bucks team. Even though L.A. is in a back-to-back spot here, I believe Kobe and Co. are in a better situation than the Pistons, who return home off a four-game West Coast road trip, which ended with Monday's 101-97 loss at Golden State.

True, the Pistons have won four of six overall and they've been hot against the number (6-1 ATS last seven, all as an underdog). However, against the upper-echelon of the NBA this season, here's how Detroit has fared: 105-104 home loss to the Thunder; 101-91 road loss to the Bulls; 109-86 home loss to the Celtics; 94-85 road loss to the Hawks; 100-78 road loss to the Blazers. Detroit's other games have come against the Nets, Bobcats, Warriors (twice), Clippers and Kings.

Pretty telling there, huh?

The Lakers have crushed the Pistons in the last three meetings, winning by 15 (road), 13 (home) and 12 (road), and L.A. is 5-1 ATS in its last six versus the Pistons. Furthermore, the Lakers have cashed in four of their last five trips to Motown; the favorite is 5-2 ATS in the last seven; and the visitor is 4-1 ATS in the last five.

And while Detroit does have some strong pointspread trends working in its favor (such as 14-3 ATS in its last 17 as an underdog), it is also 2-5 ATS in its last seven as a big home pup (5 to 10½ points). Meanwhile, the Lakers are on ATS runs of 4-1 when playing on back-to-back days, 4-1 against the Central division and 4-1 when laying 5 to 10½ points.

EXHIBIT 33

50,000+ Mavericks

Reply With Quote

11-17-2010 03:58 PM

#96

Can'tPickaWinner ◊

Super Moderator

Join Date: May 2007
Location: Ohio
Posts: 92,998

The shark

miami o -10
b green over 54.5

Reply With Quote

11-17-2010 04:13 PM

#97

Can'tPickaWinner ◊

Super Moderator

Join Date: May 2007
Location: Ohio
Posts: 92,998

LENNY DEL GENIO

UNDERDOG OF THE WEEK
10* Columbia Lions +18.5

Reply With Quote

11-17-2010 04:13 PM

#98

Can'tPickaWinner ◊

Super Moderator

Join Date: May 2007
Location: Ohio
Posts: 92,998

INDIAN COWBOY
5 UNIT* NBA- Hornets -4.5
5 UNIT* NCAA- Rider +11.5

Reply With Quote

11-17-2010 04:15 PM

#99

1drmain ◊

RX Member

Join Date: Mar 2010
Location: Chicago
Posts: 312

jeff benton

0-2 saturday 0-2 sunday 0-1 monday (redskins, lol) 0-2 tuesday....hmmmm..0-7 his last seven. i guess his outstanding success for 15 days came quickly to a halt.

WEDNESDAY'S ACTION

15 Dime NBA selection on the PHOENIX SUNS plus the points at Miami. Phoenix opened as an 8½-point road underdog, but that number has since dropped to a consensus of Heat -8. Keep monitoring the line moves here and make sure you get the best of the number.

10 Dime NBA selection on the L.A. LAKERS minus the points at Detroit. Los Angeles opened as a 7 ½-point road favorite and as I release this play, that number is holding steady both here in Vegas and offshore.

SUNS

Absolutely ridiculous pointspread here, guys, as the oddsmakers – no doubt fully aware of the public's infatuation with LeBron, Wade and the Heat – continue to overvalue this overrated team. Miami is on a five-game no-cover streak, the last four of those contests coming in South Beach. Not only have the Heat failed to cash in their last five games, but they've only won two of them (beating lowly New Jersey and Toronto).

In their last three contests, the Heat's defense has disappeared, allowing 116, 112 and 100 points, this after holding their first seven foes to 96 points or less (with five of those seven failing to crack 90 points).

While the Heat are ice cold, the Suns are red hot. They're coming off an impressive back-to-back performance against the Lakers on Sunday (121-116 road win when they scorched the nets with 28 made three-pointers) and Nuggets on Monday (100-94 home win). Phoenix has cashed in each of its last three games and four of the last five, and only twice all season have the high-octane Suns failed to crack triple digits in scoring (99 points at Memphis; 92 points in the season-opener at Portland).

Both teams are 6-4, but those records really aren't at all identical. See, the Suns have defeated four quality opponents (Jazz, Lakers, Hawks, Nuggets, with two of those being on the road). Meanwhile, if you take out Miami's 26-point rout of the Magic in its home-opener, and here's the list of the Heat's victims: Philadelphia, New Jersey (twice), Minnesota, and Toronto.

Now, please explain to me how the Heat, who clearly are going to need time to mesh as a team, can be laying this big of a number tonight? Makes zero sense.

Throw in the following pointspread trends – Phoenix is on ATS runs of 41-19-1 overall, 9-4 as a road underdog, 40-17-1 after one day off, 10-3 following a victory and 5-1 against the Eastern Conference; Miami is in ATS slumps of 0-5 overall, 0-4 at home, 1-4 against winning teams and 7-19 after three or more days off – and this one is a no-brainer!

Not only does Phoenix cover this spread wire to wire, but it will be there challenging for the outright victory in the final two minutes.

LAKERS

Impressive statement win last night by the Lakers, who followed up two tough losses to the Nuggets and Suns – their first two defeats of the season – with a 118-107 win in Milwaukee against a solid Bucks team. Even though L.A. is in a back-to-back spot here, I believe Kobe and Co. are in a better situation than the Pistons, who return home off a four-game West Coast road trip, which ended with Monday's 101-97 loss at Golden State.

True, the Pistons have won four of six overall and they've been hot against the number (6-1 ATS last seven, all as an underdog). However, against the upper-echelon of the NBA this season, here's how Detroit has fared: 105-104 home loss to the Thunder; 101-91 road loss to the Bulls; 109-86 home loss to the Celtics; 94-85 road loss to the Hawks; 100-78 road loss to the Blazers. Detroit's other games have come against the Nets, Bobcats, Warriors (twice), Clippers and Kings.

Pretty telling there, huh?

The Lakers have crushed the Pistons in the last three meetings, winning by 15 (road), 13 (home) and 12 (road), and L.A. is 5-1 ATS in its last six versus the Pistons. Furthermore, the Lakers have cashed in four of their last five trips to Motown; the favorite is 5-2 ATS in the last seven; and the visitor is 4-1 ATS in the last five.

And while Detroit does have some strong points spread trends working in its favor (such as 14-3 ATS in its last 17 as an underdog), it is also 2-5 ATS in its last seven as a big home pup (5 to 10½ points). Meanwhile, the Lakers are on ATS runs of 4-1 when playing on back-to-back days, 4-1 against the Central division and 4-1 when laying 5 to 10½ points.

Reply With Quote

11-17-2010 04:24 PM

#100

missy ▾

RX Junior

Join Date: Apr 2008

Location: maui

Posts: 294

Any plays from the boss. Thanks.

+ Reply to Thread

Reply With Quote

Page 4 of 6 « First « 1 2 3 4 5 6 » Last »

The Rx Service Plays Forum Top

« Previous Thread | Next Thread »

Forum Current Sports/Free Picks The Rx Service Plays Forum Service Plays Wednesday 11/17/10

Posting Permissions

You may not post new threads

You may not post replies

You may not post attachments

You may not edit your posts

BB code is On

Smilies are On

[IMG] code is On

HTML code is Off

Forum Rules

Contact Us Therx.com Community Forum Archive Top

All times are GMT -5. The time now is 02:08 PM.

Powered by vBulletin™ Version 4.0.8
Copyright © 2011 vBulletin Solutions, Inc. All rights reserved.

US CITIZENS PLEASE NOTE: The information contained at this site is for news and entertainment purposes only. Any use of this information in violation of any federal, state or local law is prohibited.

EXHIBIT 34

-APPLICATION-

Title _____

Title of Work: Suns Absolutely ridiculous pointspread 11-17-10

Completion/Publication _____

Year of Completion: 2010

Date of 1st Publication: November 17, 2010

Nation of 1st Publication: United States

Author _____

▪ Author: Stevo Design, Inc.

Pseudonym: Jeff Benton

Author Created: text

Work made for hire: Yes

Citizen of: United States

Domiciled in: United States

Pseudonymous: Yes

Copyright claimant _____

Copyright Claimant: Righthaven LLC

9960 West Cheyenne Avenue, Suite 210, Las Vegas, NV, 89129-7701, United States

Transfer Statement: By written agreement

Rights and Permissions _____

Organization Name: Righthaven LLC

Name: Chief Executive Officer

Email: sgibson@righthaven.com

Telephone: 702-527-5900

Address: 9960 West Cheyenne Avenue

Suite 210

Las Vegas, NV 89129-7701 United States

Certification _____

Name: Steven A. Gibson

Date: February 11, 2011

Applicant's Tracking Number: SD011

Registration #:

Service Request #: 1-563365779

Priority: Routine

Application Date: February 11, 2011 03:35:00 AM

Note to C.O.: Please contact Steven A. Gibson or Raisha Y. Gibson at (702) 527-5900 with any questions or concerns regarding this copyright registration. Thank you.

Correspondent

Organization Name: Righthaven LLC

Name: Steven A. Gibson

Email: sgibson@righthaven.com

Telephone: 702-527-5900

Address: 9960 West Cheyenne Avenue
Suite 210
Las Vegas, NV 89129-7701 United States

Alt. Telephone: 702-541-6300

Fax: 702-527-5909

Mail Certificate

Righthaven LLC
Steven A. Gibson
9960 West Cheyenne Avenue
Suite 210
Las Vegas, NV 89129-7701 United States

EXHIBIT 35

60 Dime NFL release on the SAINTS plus the points at Baltimore. New Orleans is raXging from a 2- to 2½-point road underdog both here in Vegas and offshore. Very surprising to see this number climb on Saturday night from 1½ to a solid 2 and in some spots 2½, as I thouYght the late money would come in on New Orleans (a very public team). That still might happen, so monitor this line closely and if you start to see a shift back down toward 1 ½, jump on the Saints imZediately and grab the +2 ½ or – worst – +2.

SAINTS

Don't look now, but the defending champs have won six in a row overall (4-2 ATS) and four in a row on the highway. And Drew Brees has the New Orleans offense in high gear, putting up 34, 34, 30, 34 and 31 points the last five weeks and 30-plus points during their four-game road winning streak.

Now you would think the Saints would be hard-pressed to continue those point-scoring binge streaks today at Baltimore, facing the Ravens' defense. Except for the fact that defense is a fraud, particularly in the secondary. Baltimore is giving up more than 220 passing yards per game, and over the last three games the Ravens' have been torched for 258 passing ypg.

And when you look at the Ravens' four losses, you see the following starting quarterbacks that beat them: Carson Palmer, Tom Brady, Matt Ryan and Ben Roethlisberger. Obviously, Palmer is the QB who stands out – he's been horrific this year, and in actuality it was Ravens QB Joe Flacco who cost the Ravens in that 15-10 loss back in Week 2. But the other three quarterbacks? All of them are studs, with Brady and Roethlisberger possessing a combined five Super Bowl rings and Ryan piloting the team with the best record in the AFC.

Two other QBs – Buffalo's Ryan Fitzpatrick (29-for-43, 382 passing yards, 4TDs and 34 points) and Houston's Matt Schaub (31-for-62, 393 yards, 3 TDs and 28 points last week) also lit up the Ravens' defense. Even though Baltimore escaped with overtime wins in both of those games, if you add them to the Ravens' four losses, you get an average of 23.2 points per game allowed. In their other seven contests (all wins), Baltimore surrendered just 14.7 ppg and only nine total touchdowns.

Now look at the list of quarterbacks from those seven games: Mark Sanchez, Seneca Wallace, Charlie Batch, Kyle Orton, Chad Henne, Brian St. Pierre and Josh Freeman.

See a trend there?

So why has Baltimore struggled so much against quality quarterbacks? The main reason two raw, inexperienced cornerbacks. But the dirty little secret is Ray Lewis and the pass rush has been virtually nonexistent. The Ravens have just 24 sacks (only seven teams have fewer, and four of those seven have either 22 or 23 sacks, meaning Baltimore is very close to ranking near the bottom of the league in that category. In their four losses to the Bengals, Patriots, Falcons and Steelers, Baltimore recorded only nine sacks.

How does all this relate to today's game against New Orleans? Well, Drew Brees has been dropped 18 times in 13 games, including just five times in the last five weeks. And while Brees has been uncharacteristically careless with the football this season (tied for the NFL lead with 18 INTs), the Ravens – despite the pick-six in overtime last week that beat Houston – has just 13 interceptions this season.

Bottom line: At this time of year, I like to back teams with momentum, and the Saints with six straight wins clearly have it. Conversely, the Ravens are just 5-3 SU and 3-4-1 ATS in their last eight games. That includes the two overtime wins over the Texans and Bills (which obviously could've gone either way). The other victories were against overmatched opponents Tampa Bay, Carolina and Miami. In fact, the Ravens' last six victories have come against teams with losing records. Their last three games against winning teams? All losses to the Patriots, Falcons and Steelers (who are a combined 31-8).

Brees and the Saints offense continue to exploit Baltimore's secondary, and the underrated New Orleans defense (19 points or less allowed in seven games) contains the Ravens' suddenly one-dimensional offense (66 rushing ypg last three weeks) and the defending champs roll to a 31-21 win.

EXHIBIT 36

road in which Derek Fisher scored fewer than 10 points, 0-6 OU (-17.6 ppg) after a win on the road in which Kobe Bryant shot worse than 33% from the field and 0-5 OU since the start of the 2007-08 NBA season after two wins in which Lamar Odom increased his scoring by at least 15 points over their past two games, staying under by an average of 22.4 ppg.

This is a revenge game for Toronto, as they lost 108-103 in LA on the 5th of November. The Raptors are 0-8 OU at home when facing a Western Conference team they lost to in their first match-up of the season, staying under by an average of 14.1 ppg. This includes an overtime game that stayed UNDER.

Fitting in nicely here is the fact that the Lakers are 0-4 OU (-16.6 ppg) when facing an Eastern Conference team that is seeking same-season revenge. They have had two active dates this season (vs Chicago and vs Washington) and both stayed under by double digits. Take these two UNDER this number. MTI's FORECAST: LA Lakers 100 TORONTO 94

Wagerwarrior

12-19-2010, 08:31 AM

Priority Sports Info CBA New Mexico -22

Billy Irish NHL Detroit -200

LPW Sports Forecast Iowa.St -25

drf1225

12-19-2010, 08:32 AM

Bama Sports NFL

Colts -4

Giants -3 (-105)

Seahawks +6

Seahawks Over 45

Jets +6

kylem923

12-19-2010, 08:35 AM

anyone have kelso? he has 100 and 50 unit, thanx

Can'tPickaWinner

12-19-2010, 08:41 AM

MTI SPORTS

4-Star LA Lakers at Toronto UNDER 208.5 - Take these two UNDER this number. MTI's FORECAST: LA Lakers 100 TORONTO 94

boogie down bronx

12-19-2010, 08:46 AM

Mike francesca wfan & nfl now

jags

cowboys

t bay

1drmain

12-19-2010, 08:53 AM

SUNDAY'S NFL ACTION

60 Dime NFL release on the SAINTS plus the points at Baltimore. New Orleans is raaging from a 2- to 2½- point road underdog both here in Vegas and offshore. Very surprising to see this number climb on Saturday night from 1½ to a solid 2 and in some spots 2½, as I thoueght the late money would come in on New Orleans (a very public team). That still might happen, so monitor this line closely and if you start to see a shift back down toward 1 ½, jump on the Saints immediatly and grab the +2 ½ or - worst - +2.

SAINTS

Don't look now, but the defending champs have won six in a row overall (4-2 ATS) and four in a row on the highway. And Drew Brees has the New Orleans offense in high gear, putting up 34, 34, 30, 34 and 31 points the last five weeks and 30-plus points during their four-game road winning streak.

Now you would think the Saints would be hard-pressed to continue those point-scoring binge streaks today at Baltimore, facing the Ravens' defense. Except for the fact that defense is a fraud, particularly in the secondary. Baltimore is giving up more than 220 passing yards per game, and over the last three games the Ravens' have been torched for 258 passing ypg.

And when you look at the Ravens' four losses, you see the following starting quarterbacks that beat them: Carson Palmer, Tom Brady, Matt Ryan and Ben Roethlisberger. Obviously, Palmer is the QB who stands out – he's been horrific this year, and in actuality it was Ravens QB Joe Flacco who cost the Ravens in that 15-10 loss back in Week 2. But the other three quarterbacks? All of them are studs, with Brady and Roethlisberger possessing a combined five Super Bowl rings and Ryan piloting the team with the best record in the AFC.

Two other QBs – Buffalo's Ryan Fitzpatrick (29-for-43, 382 passing yards, 4TDs and 34 points) and Houston's Matt Schaub (31-for-62, 393 yards, 3 TDs and 28 points last week) also lit up the Ravens' defense. Even though Baltimore escaped with overtime wins in both of those games, if you add them to the Ravens' four losses, you get an average of 23.2 points per game allowed. In their other seven contests (all wins), Baltimore surrendered just 14.7 ppg and only nine total touchdowns.

Now look at the list of quarterbacks from those seven games: Mark Sanchez, Seneca Wallace, Charlie Batch, Kyle Orton, Chad Henne, Brian St. Pierre and Josh Freeman.

See a trend there?

So why has Baltimore struggled so much against quality quarterbacks? The main reason two raw, inexperienced cornerbacks. But the dirty little secret is Ray Lewis and the pass rush has been virtually nonexistent. The Ravens have just 24 sacks (only seven teams have fewer, and four of those seven have either 22 or 23 sacks, meaning Baltimore is very close to ranking near the bottom of the league in that category. In their four losses to the Bengals, Patriots, Falcons and Steelers, Baltimore recorded only nine sacks.

How does all this relate to today's game against New Orleans? Well, Drew Brees has been dropped 18 times in 13 games, including just five times in the last five weeks. And while Brees has been uncharacteristically careless with the football this season (tied for the NFL lead with 18 INTs), the Ravens – despite the pick-six in overtime last week that beat Houston – has just 13 interceptions this season.

Bottom line: At this time of year, I like to back teams with momentum, and the Saints with six straight wins clearly have it. Conversely, the Ravens are just 5-3 SU and 3-4-1 ATS in their last eight games. That includes the two overtime wins over the Texans and Bills (which obviously could've gone either way). The other victories were against overmatched opponents Tampa Bay, Carolina and Miami. In fact, the Ravens' last six victories have come against teams with losing records. Their last three games against winning teams? All losses to the Patriots, Falcons and Steelers (who are a combined 31-8).

Brees and the Saints offense continue to exploit Baltimore's secondary, and the underrated New Orleans defense (19 points or less allowed in seven games) contains the Ravens' suddenly one-dimensional offense (66 rushing ypg last three weeks) and the defending champs roll to a 31-21 win.

http://www.sportsadvisors.com/Images/b_PrintableView.png
 (<http://www.sportsadvisors.com/PrintableSelections.aspx>)

Can'tPickaWinner 12-19-2010, 08:54 AM
 GREAT LAKES SPORTS
 4* (312) Cincinnati Bengals 1:00est
 3* (322) Baltimore Ravens 1:00est
 3* (316) New York Giants 1:00est

Can'tPickaWinner 12-19-2010, 08:58 AM
 Statbetting 12-19
 Cleveland Browns -1
 Dallas Cowboys -7
 Oakland Raiders -8.5

whiterussian5728 12-19-2010, 08:59 AM
 anybody have Fairway Jay? big ticket nfc underdog GOY out for today, 45-21 in NFL this year kermit16 12-19-2010, 09:11 AM

 anybody have Fairway Jay? big ticket nfc underdog GOY out for today, 45-21 in NFL this year
 Fairway is sizzling this year !

reservoirdog 12-19-2010, 09:12 AM
 Anybody seen Special K 33-14 in NFL this year

Can'tPickaWinner 12-19-2010, 09:15 AM

EXHIBIT 37

-APPLICATION-

Title

Title of Work: Don't look now, but the defending champs have won six in a row overall (4-2_ATS and four in a row on the highway. 12-19-10

Completion/Publication

Year of Completion: 2010

Date of 1st Publication: December 19, 2010

Nation of 1st Publication: United States

Author

▪ Author: Stevo Design, Inc.

Pseudonym: Jeff Benton

Author Created: text

Work made for hire: Yes

Citizen of: United States

Domiciled in: United States

Pseudonymous: Yes

Copyright claimant

Copyright Claimant: Righthaven LLC

9960 West Cheyenne Avenue, Suite 210, Las Vegas, NV, 89129-7701, United States

Transfer Statement: By written agreement

Rights and Permissions

Organization Name: Righthaven LLC

Name: Chief Executive Officer

Email: sgibson@righthaven.com

Telephone: 702-527-5900

Address: 9960 West Cheyenne Avenue

Suite 210

Las Vegas, NV 89129-7701 United States

Certification

Name: Steven A. Gibson

Date: March 18, 2011

Applicant's Tracking Number: SD015

Registration #:

Service Request #: 1-583999148

Priority: Routine

Application Date: March 18, 2011 09:29:49 PM

Note to C.O.: Please contact Steven A. Gibson or Raisha Y. Gibson at (702) 527-5900 with any questions or concerns regarding this copyright registration. Thank you.

Correspondent

Organization Name: Righthaven LLC

Name: Steven A. Gibson

Email: sgibson@righthaven.com

Telephone: 702-527-5900

Address: 9960 West Cheyenne Avenue
Suite 210

Alt. Telephone: 702-541-6300

Las Vegas, NV 89129-7701 United States

Fax: 702-527-5909

Mail Certificate

Righthaven LLC
Steven A. Gibson
9960 West Cheyenne Avenue
Suite 210
Las Vegas, NV 89129-7701 United States