This civil-rights action arises out of a shooting that occurred in plaintiff Juan Solis-Diaz's driveway on April 22, 2010. In June 2014, I granted summary judgment in favor of the defendants on all but the plaintiff's § 1983 excessive-force claim and the defendants' qualified-immunity defense.¹ Defendants immediately appealed the qualified-immunity issue to the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals, and that appeal remains pending.² In a September 2015, status report, the parties advised me that all briefing has been completed and the parties are still awaiting a decision.³ They ask that this case be stayed until the appeal has been resolved by the appellate court.⁴
