UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
DISTRICT OF NEVADA

TONY SMITH,
Plaintiff,
vs.
STEPHEN CONNELL, et al.,
Defendants.

Case No. 2:12-cv-02140-JCM-GWF
ORDER
Motion to Proceed in Forma
Pauperis (#1); Motion to Amend
Complaint (#2)

This matter comes before the Court on Plaintiff’s Motion to Proceed in Forma Pauperis (#1), filed on December 17, 2012. Plaintiff filed a Motion for Leave to Amend his Complaint (#2) on January 2, 2013.

BACKGROUND

The Court construes the Complaint (#1-1) attached to Plaintiff’s Application (#1) as asserting claims of wrongful arrest and malicious prosecution under 42 U.S.C. § 1983. Plaintiff’s claims arise out of an underlying criminal proceeding in the Eighth Judicial District Court of Nevada, which, according to the pleadings, is ongoing. Plaintiff claims he was wrongfully arrested for larceny for allegedly stealing a purse that Defendant-Officers were monitoring in a Las Vegas casino, and that the ongoing prosecution is malicious. In his proposed Amended Complaint (included in Motion to Amend (#2)), Plaintiff alleges a continuance in his case and the state judge’s refusal to appoint new counsel violated his Sixth Amendment rights to a speedy trial and effective assistance of council.

1 DISCUSSION

2 I. Application to Proceed In Forma Pauperis

3 Plaintiff filed this instant action and attached a financial affidavit to his Application and 4 Complaint as required by 28 U.S.C. § 1915(a). Having reviewed Plaintiff’s financial affidavit 5 under 28 U.S.C. § 1915, the Court finds that Plaintiff is unable to pre-pay the filing fee. Therefore, 6 Plaintiff’s request to proceed in forma pauperis in federal court is granted.

7 II. Motion for Leave to Amend

8 Under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 15(a)(1), Plaintiff may amend his Complaint one 9 time as a matter of course. Therefore, the Court will grant Plaintiff’s Motion to Amend (#2). Local 10 Rule 15-1 , however, requires that an amended complaint be complete in itself without reference to 11 any prior pleading. This is because, as a general rule, an amended complaint supersedes the 12 original complaint. See Loux v. Rhay, 375 F.2d 55, 57 (9th Cir. 1967). Once Plaintiff files an 13 amended complaint, the original pleading no longer serves any function in the case. Accordingly, 14 because Plaintiff’s Amended Complaint supersedes the original Complaint and does not re-allege 15 the original Complaint’s false arrest and malicious prosecution claims, those claims are not before 16 the Court for screening. Nevertheless, for the sake of thoroughness, the Court will address the 17 merits of the claims.

18 III. Screening the Complaint

19 Upon granting a request to proceed in forma pauperis, a court must additionally screen a 20 complaint pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1915(e). Specifically, federal courts are given the authority to 21 dismiss a case if the action is legally “frivolous or malicious,” fails to state a claim upon which 22 relief may be granted, or seeks monetary relief from a Defendant/Third Party Plaintiff who is 23 immune from such relief. 28 U.S.C. § 1915(e)(2). A complaint, or portion thereof, should be 24 dismissed for failure to state a claim upon which relief may be granted “if it appears beyond a 25 doubt that the plaintiff can prove no set of facts in support of his claims that would entitle him to 26 relief.” Buckey v. Los Angeles, 968 F.2d 791, 794 (9th Cir. 1992). A complaint may be dismissed 27 as frivolous if it is premised on a nonexistent legal interest or delusional factual scenario. Neitzke 28 v. Williams, 490 U.S. 319, 327–28 (1989). Moreover, “a finding of factual frivolousness is

1 appropriate when the facts alleged rise to the level of the irrational or the wholly incredible, 2 whether or not there are judicially noticeable facts available to contradict them.” Denton v.
3 Hernandez, 504 U.S. 25, 33 (1992). When a court dismisses a complaint under Section 1915(e), 4 the plaintiff should be given leave to amend the complaint with directions as to curing its 5 deficiencies, unless it is clear from the face of the complaint that the deficiencies could not be 6 cured by amendment. See Cato v. United States, 70 F.3d 1103, 1106 (9th Cir. 1995). For the 7 purposes of this screening, all of Plaintiff’s factual allegations are taken as true.

8 a. False Arrest

9 “A claim for unlawful arrest is cognizable under § 1983 as a violation of the Fourth 10 Amendment, provided the arrest was without probable cause or other justification.” Dubner v. City 11 & Cnty. of S.F., 266 F.3d 959, 964 (9th Cir. 2001). “Probable cause exists when there is a fair 12 probability or substantial chance of criminal activity.” United States v. Patayan Soriano, 361 F.3d 13 494, 505 (9th Cir. 2004) (quoting United States v. Bishop, 264 F.3d 919, 924 (9th Cir.2001)) 14 (internal quotation marks omitted). “It is well-settled that ‘the determination of probable cause is 15 based upon the totality of the circumstances known to the officers at the time of the search.’” Id.
16 (quoting Bishop, 264 F.3d at 924).

17 Plaintiff avers that on October 5, 2012 at the Planet Hollywood Casino in Las Vegas, he 18 noticed a purse on a stool. Believing it to be misplaced, Plaintiff claims he picked up the purse and 19 brought it to a “patron station” to give it to a casino employee. Upon reaching the station, several 20 police officers apprehended Plaintiff and detained him in a secured room. According to Plaintiff, 21 he later learned the purse was a “bait purse” planted and monitored by the Las Vegas Metropolitan 22 Police Department, and contained a casino redemption ticket for $650.00. Plaintiff was arrested 23 and transported to a detention facility. On or around November 8, 2012, the State of Nevada filed 24 an information charging Plaintiff with grand larceny. Plaintiff maintains he had no knowledge of 25 the redemption ticket inside the purse, and merely intended to give the purse to a casino employee 26 for safeguarding. The Court finds that Plaintiff has pled sufficient facts, taken as true, to proceed 27 on his wrongful arrest claim. Plaintiff represents, however, that the underlying criminal matter is 28 ongoing and has not yet proceeded to trial.

1 The Supreme Court has held that

2 to recover damages for allegedly unconstitutional conviction or 3 imprisonment, or for other harm caused by actions whose 4 unlawfulness would render a conviction or sentence invalid, a § 1983 5 plaintiff must prove that the conviction or sentence has been reversed on direct appeal, expunged by executive order, declared invalid by a state tribunal authorized to make such determination, or called into question by a federal court's issuance of a writ of habeas corpus[.]

6 Heck v. Humphrey, 512 U.S. 477, 486-87 (1994). “A claim for damages bearing that relationship 7 to a conviction or sentence that has not been so invalidated is not cognizable under § 1983.” Id. at 8 487. When a state prisoner seeks damages under section 1983, the district court “must consider 9 whether a judgment in favor of the plaintiff would necessarily imply the invalidity of his conviction 10 or sentence.” Id. If it would, the court must dismiss the complaint unless the conviction or 11 sentence has already been invalidated. Id. If the court determines that the plaintiff's success would 12 not demonstrate the invalidity of any outstanding criminal judgment against the plaintiff, “the 13 action should be allowed to proceed, in the absence of some other bar to the suit.” Id. As an 14 example of “some other bar,” the Court noted that if a plaintiff brings a section 1983 claim “during 15 the pendency of his criminal trial, [...] abstention may be an appropriate response[.]” Id. at 487 n.
16 8.

17 The Supreme Court has further refined Heck's recommendation to stay section 1983 actions 18 pending ongoing state litigation. In Wallace v. Kato, the Court affirmed a dismissal of a section 19 1983 false arrest claim as untimely. 549 U.S. 384, 397 (2007). The petitioner in Wallace argued 20 that in light of Heck, the statute of limitations for filing a false arrest claim under section 1983 was 21 tolled until the conviction was ultimately set aside. Id. at 393. Rejecting the argument, the Court 22 held “[l]imitations begin to run against an action for false imprisonment when the alleged false 23 imprisonment ends.” Id. at 389 (citing 2 H. Wood, Limitation of Actions § 187d(4), p. 878 (rev.
24 4th ed.1916)). For the purposes of false arrest, which the Court noted is a species of false 25 imprisonment, “imprisonment ends once the victim becomes held pursuant to such process--when, 26 for example, he is bound over by a magistrate or arraigned on charges.” Id. Because “§ 1983 27 actions [...] sometimes accrue before the setting aside of--indeed, even before the existence of--the 28 related criminal conviction,” if a plaintiff files a false arrest claim before he has been convicted, “it

1 is within the power of the district court, and in accord with common practice, to stay the civil 2 action until the criminal case or the likelihood of a criminal case is ended.” Id. at 393-394.

3 The Court finds Plaintiff pleads sufficient facts to proceed on his false arrest claim. As 4 stated above, however, Plaintiff did not re-allege the claim in his proposed amended complaint 5 (included in Doc. #2). The claim is therefore not currently before the Court. The Court shall grant 6 Plaintiff leave to file an additional amended complaint that alleges his false arrest claim. In light of 7 Heck and Wallace, any such claim shall be stayed pending resolution of the underlying criminal 8 proceeding.

9 b. Malicious Prosecution

10 Generally, a malicious prosecution claim is not cognizable under section 1983 if process is 11 available in the state judicial system to provide a remedy. Usher v. City of Los Angeles, 828 F.2d 12 556, 561 (9th Cir. 1987). “[A]n exception exists [...] when a malicious prosecution is conducted 13 with the intent to deprive a person of equal protection of the laws or is otherwise intended to 14 subject a person to a denial of constitutional rights.” Bretz v. Kelman, 773 F.2d 1026, 1031 (9th 15 Cir. 1985) (en banc). To proceed on a malicious prosecution claim under section 1983, then, a 16 plaintiff must show he was prosecuted “with malice and without probable cause,” and “for the 17 purpose of denying [him] equal protection or another specific constitutional right.” Freeman v.
18 City of Santa Ana, 68 F.3d 1180, 1189 (9th Cir.1995).

19 Plaintiff here does not allege his prosecution is for the purpose of denying him his 20 constitutional rights. Furthermore, had Plaintiff made such a showing, his claim is nevertheless 21 premature. A malicious prosecution claim under section 1983 is based on state law elements.
22 Usher, 828 F.2d at 562. Under Nevada law, the elements of a malicious prosecution claim are: “(1) 23 want of probable cause to initiate the prior criminal proceeding; (2) malice; (3) termination of the 24 prior criminal proceedings; and (4) damage.” LaMantia v. Redisi, 38 P.3d 877, 879 (Nev. 2002).
25 Because Plaintiff’s criminal prosecution is ongoing, he cannot satisfy prongs (3) or (4). Therefore, 26 Plaintiff has not pled sufficient facts to proceed on his malicious prosecution claim.

27 c. Ineffective Assistance of Counsel

28 To establish a claim for ineffective assistance of counsel, a plaintiff must satisfy a two-part

1 test. First, he must show “that counsel’s representation fell below an objective standard of 2 reasonableness.” Strickland v. Washington, 474 U.S. 668, 688 (1984). Second, the plaintiff must 3 establish he was prejudiced by showing “that there is a reasonable probability that, but for counsel's 4 unprofessional errors, the result of the proceeding would have been different.” Id. at 694. Here, 5 Plaintiff represents that his underlying criminal proceeding is ongoing. Because Plaintiff has not 6 suffered an adverse outcome, he cannot satisfy Strickland’s prejudice prong. Therefore, the Court 7 finds Plaintiff has not pled sufficient facts to proceed on his ineffective assistance of counsel claim.

8 d. Denial of Speedy Trial

9 Finally, Plaintiff alleges he suffered violation of his right to a speedy trial under the Sixth 10 Amendment. Courts consider four factors in assessing a claim asserting violation of the Sixth 11 Amendment right to a speedy trial: “(1) the length of the delay; (2) the reason for the delay; (3) the 12 defendant’s assertion of his right; and (4) prejudice to the defendant.” U.S. v. Sperow, 494 F.3d 13 1223 (9th Cir. 2007) (citing Barker v. Wingo, 407 U.S. 514, 530-32 (1972)). Courts evaluate any 14 prejudice in light of three interests: (I) to prevent oppressive pretrial incarceration; (ii) to minimize 15 anxiety and concern of the accused; and (iii) to limit the possibility that the defense will be 16 impaired. Barker, 407 U.S. at 532.

17 According to Plaintiff’s pleadings, he was arrested on October 5, 2012 and bound over to 18 Nevada state district court after a preliminary hearing on November 7, 2012. Plaintiff was 19 arraigned on November 15, 2012. At the arraignment, Plaintiff claims the court agreed to assign 20 Plaintiff new counsel, set calendar call for January 28, 2013, and set trial for February 4, 2013.
21 Plaintiff further represents that upon motion by the State, the district judge granted a continuance to 22 ensure the availability of a State witness. Plaintiff does assert that he did not waive his right to a 23 speedy trial. Plaintiff has not pled any facts, however, that establish he has suffered any prejudice 24 as a result of the delay, and resolution of his trial is still pending. The Court therefore finds that 25 Plaintiff has not pled sufficient facts to proceed on his Sixth Amendment speedy trial claim.

26 CONCLUSION

27 The Court finds Plaintiff pleads sufficient facts to proceed on a false arrest claim, and 28 Plaintiff shall be permitted to file an amended complaint that asserts the claim. Plaintiff did not re-

1 allege his malicious prosecution claim in his proposed amended complaint, and, additionally, the 2 claim is not supported by sufficient factual allegations. Plaintiff has not plead sufficient facts to 3 proceed on any of the claims in his amended complaint. Accordingly,

4 IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that Plaintiff's Application to Proceed In Forma Pauperis
5 (Doc. #1) is granted.

6 IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that the movant herein is permitted to maintain this action 7 to conclusion without necessity of prepayment of any additional fees or costs or the giving of 8 security therefor. This Order granting leave to proceed in forma pauperis shall not extend to the 9 issuance of subpoenas at government expense.

10 IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that Plaintiff's Motion to Amend (#2) is granted.

11 IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that the Clerk of the Court shall file Plaintiff's Amended 12 Complaint (#2).

13 IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that Plaintiff's Amended Complaint is dismissed, without 14 prejudice, for failure to state a claim upon which relief can be granted.

15 IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that, in the event Plaintiff elects to proceed by filing an 16 amended complaint, he may do so no later than 30 days after the date of this Order.

17 IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that, in the event Plaintiff files an amended complaint, he 18 shall include therein the status of his criminal prosecution in the underlying state case.

19 DATED this 6th day of March, 2013.
