UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
DISTRICT OF NEVADA

DEBBIE MONTOYA, et al.,

Plaintiffs,

Case No. 2:13-cv-01505-JCM-CWH

ORDER

CAROLYN W. COLVIN, Acting Commissioner of Social Security, Defendant.

This matter is before the Court on Plaintiff Debbie Montoya's ("Montoya") Motion for Clerk's Default (#7), filed on December 4, 2013. The Court also considered Plaintiff's Exhibit (#8), filed on January 13, 2014.

BACKGROUND

This case involves judicial review of administrative action by the Commissioner of Social Security ("Commissioner") denying Montoya's request for disability benefits on behalf of Laurie J. Wainwright. On June 21, 2013, the Appeals Council denied Montoya's request for review, and, at that time, the ALJ's decision became the final decision of the Commissioner. On August 7, 2013, Montoya requested an extension of time in which to commence a civil action. No response from the Appeals Council was indicated. On August 21, 2013, Montoya commenced this action by filing a Motion/Application for Leave to Proceed in forma pauperis and attached a complaint. The Court denied without prejudice Montoya's Motion on August 22, 2013 and ordered her to file a new, completed application or pay the filing fee. On September 3, 2013, Montoya paid the filing fee and summons was issued to the Social Security Administration Office of the Regional Chief Counsel in San Francisco. On December 3, 2013, Montoya filed certified mail receipts indicating that the Office of the Regional Chief Counsel in San Francisco and the Attorney General's Office in Washington D.C. were served. One day later, on December 4, 2013, Montoya filed the instant motion for clerk's default.

DISCUSSION

Obtaining a default judgment is a two-step process governed by the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. Eitel v. McCool, 782 F.2d 1470, 1471 (9th Cir.1986). First, "[w]hen a party against whom a judgment for affirmative relief is sought has failed to plead or otherwise defend, and that failure is shown by affidavit or otherwise, the clerk must enter the party's default." Fed. R. Civ. P. 55(a). Second, after the clerk enters default, a party must seek entry of default judgment under Rule 55(b). The choice of whether to enter a default judgment lies within the discretion of the court. Aldabe v. Aldabe, 616 F.3d 1089, 1092 (9th Cir.1980). The Ninth Circuit has identified several relevant factors in determining whether to grant default judgment including: (1) the possibility of prejudice to plaintiff, (2) the merits of the claims, (3) the sufficiency of the complaint, (4) the amount of money at stake, (5) the possibility of a dispute concerning material facts, (6) whether default was due to excusable neglect, and (7) the policy favoring a decision on the merits. Eitel, 782 F.2d at 1471–72.

Rule 55(a) requires the entry of clerk's default "[w]hen a party against whom a judgment for affirmative relief is sought has failed to plead or otherwise defend, and that failure is shown by affidavit or otherwise." However, a prerequisite to entering default is finding that the defendant has been properly served. Here, Montoya has failed to show that Defendant was properly served. Additionally, a default judgment may be entered against an United States agency "only if the claimant establishes a claim or right to relief by evidence that satisfies the court." Fed. R. Civ. P. 55(d). The Courts review of Montoya's Complaint reveals several issues including whether she can state a claim for herself and for Laurie Wainwright. Accordingly, the Courts finds that ordering the clerk to enter default is not warranted at this time and will deny Montoya's motion without prejudice.

Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 4(i) requires a plaintiff to deliver a copy of the summons and complaint to "the United States attorney for the district where the action is brought - or an assistant United States attorney or clerical employee whom the United States attorney designates in a writing filed with the court clerk - or send a copy of each by registered or certified mail to the civil-process clerk at the United States attorney's office." Fed. R. Civ. P. 4(i)(1)(A)(i)-(ii). Additionally, a plaintiff must also send a copy of the summons and complaint to the Attorney General of the United States at Washington D.C. and by registered or certified mail to the Social Security Administration. See Fed. R. Civ. P. 4(i)(B)-(C). Acceptable proof of service is provided by the server's affidavit. See Fed. R. Civ. P. 4(l)(1). Plaintiff failed to submit an affidavit proving that service was accomplished on the United States Attorney for the District of Nevada. Furthermore, she provided mail receipts for the Office of the Regional Chief Counsel and Attorney General, but not for the United States Attorney for the District of Nevada. Accordingly, the Court finds that Montoya has failed to properly serve Defendant.

The Court notes that Plaintiff is proceeding pro se. "In civil cases where the plaintiff appears pro se, the court must construe the pleadings liberally and must afford plaintiff the benefit of any doubt." Karim–Panahi v. Los Angeles Police Dep't, 839 F.2d 621, 623 (9th Cir.1988); see also Haines v. Kerner, 404 U.S. 519, 520–21 (1972). Accordingly, under Rule 4(i) the Court will grant Plaintiff a reasonable time of thirty (30) days to cure her failure to serve the United States Attorney for the District of Nevada. Fed. R. Civ. P. 4(i)(4).

Based on the foregoing and good cause appearing therefore,

ORDER

IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that Plaintiff Debbie Montoya's Motion for Clerk's Default (#7) is denied without prejudice.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED Plaintiff Debbie Montoya shall have until March 3, 2014 to accomplish service on Defendant and provide the Court will acceptable proof of service pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 4(1).

DATED this 30th day of January, 2014.

C.W. Hoffman, Jr.

United States Magistrate Judge
