- 4. Failure to Identify or Mark: If a party produces a document or information constituting, comprising or containing Confidential Information without identifying and marking it as such, the disclosing party may so identify and mark such document or information at any time thereafter without waiver or prejudice to such rights as may thereafter arise under this Agreement.

5 Inadvertent Disclosure.

If, through inadvertence, a producing party provides any "Confidential" material in this litigation without marking the information as "Confidential," the producing party may subsequently inform the receiving party in writing of the "Confidential," nature of the disclosed information, and the receiving party shall treat the disclosed information in accordance with this Order after receipt of such written notice and make reasonable efforts to retrieve any such material that has been inadvertently disclosed to persons not authorized to receive the material under the terms hereof. such information. The person making such disclosures shall be responsible for any damages caused to the producing party by virtue of such disclosure.

Inadvertent disclosure of privileged or protected trial-preparation materials shall be governed by Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(b)(5)(B).

6. Challenges: The attorney of record for the party receiving Confidential Information may, at any time, give written notice to the attorney of record for the party that produced the information that the receiving party challenges the designation of the information. If the parties cannot resolve the dispute amicably, then the requesting party may file a motion seeking an Order of the Court with respect to the information in question. The party who designated the information shall bear the burden of demonstrating that the designation is appropriate. The party challenging the designation shall treat the information as being properly designated hereunder until the Court rules otherwise.

7. Filing Confidential Information With the Court:

A party seeking to file a confidential document under seal must file a motion to seal and must comply with the Ninth Circuit's directives in Kamakana v. City and County of Honolulu, 447 F.3d 1172 (9th Cir. 2006). The Court has adopted electronic filing procedures, and with a few exceptions not applicable here, the Clerk of the Court no longer maintains paper records. Special Order 109 requires the Clerk of the Court to maintain the official files for all cases filed on or after November 7, 2005, in electronic form. The electronic record constitutes the official record of the court. Attorneys must file documents under seal using the Court's electronic filing procedures. See LR 10-5(b). That rule provides:

Unless otherwise permitted by statute, rule or prior Court order, papers filed with the Court under seal shall be accompanied by a motion for leave to file those documents under seal and shall be filed in accordance with the Court's electronic filing procedures. If papers are filed under seal pursuant to prior Court order, the papers shall bear the following notation on the first page, directly under the case number: "FILED UNDER SEAL PURSUANT TO COURT ORDER DATED ______." All papers filed under seal will remain sealed until such time as the Court may deny the motion to seal or enter an order to unseal them, or the documents are unsealed pursuant to Local Rule.

Id. Documents filed under seal are not accessible to the public.

If the sole ground for a motion to seal is that the opposing party (or non-party) has designated a document as confidential, the opposing party (or non-party) shall file a declaration establishing good cause for the sealing along with a proposed order, or shall withdraw the designation. The declaration shall be filed within seven days of service on the opposing party (or non-party) of the request for a sealing order. If the declaration is not filed as required, the Court may order the document filed in the public record.

The parties shall comply with the requirements of LR 10-5(b), the Ninth Circuit's decision in Kamakana, 447 F.3d 1172, and the procedures outlined above, with respect to any documents filed under seal.

- 8. Retention of Jurisdiction. Jurisdiction is to be retained by this Court after final determination of this action for purposes of enabling any party or person affected by this Order to apply to the Court for such direction, order or further decree as may be appropriate for the construction, modification, enforcement or compliance herewith or for the punishment of any violation hereof, or for such additional relief as may become necessary.
- 9. Further Order: Nothing herein shall preclude any party from applying to the Court for any appropriate modification hereof; provided, however, that prior to such application, the parties shall certify in writing that they have endeavored unsuccessfully to resolve the matter.
- 10. Scope: This Order shall govern only the pretrial proceedings in this matter. The handling of Confidential Information at trial and thereafter shall be governed by a later Court order.
- 11. Return of Information: Upon termination of this action and all timely filed direct appeals, the Court shall return all documents containing Confidential Information to the attorney of record for the party who filed such document. Further, upon termination of this action, all materials containing or comprising Confidential Information, and any copies thereof, in the possession of any party, attorney or person shall be returned to the attorney of record for the party who produced the information, or shall be destroyed if the attorney of record for the party who produced the information authorizes such destruction; provided, however, that attorneys of record may retain their attorney work product that contains or comprises such materials. The restrictions of this Protective Order shall continue to apply to any such Confidential Information
