UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
DISTRICT OF NEVADA

LEE ARTHUR JOHNSON, et al.,

Plaintiffs,

v.

PAUL JOSEPH CARMOUCHE, et al.,

Defendants.

Case No. 2:15-cv-00597-JCM-PAL

ORDER

Presently before the court is defendants', Paul Carmouche and Weems, Schimpf, Gisoul, Haines, Landry, Schemwell ("defendants"), motion to dismiss pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(2). (Doc. # 7). Plaintiffs Lee Arthur Johnson, Carrie Cille Johnson, and Johnson & Riley, LLC ("plaintiffs") filed a response to the motion. (Doc. #14). Defendants filed a reply. (Doc. #18).

I. Background

Plaintiffs are residents of Nevada and owners of real estate situated in Bienville Parish, Louisiana. In 1985, plaintiff Lee Johnson, along with his six brothers, entered into a family contract dividing 70-acres of their parents' real property in Louisiana. Defendants allege that the family contract gave each brother the right of first refusal should a brother try to sell his interest in the property. In 2006, plaintiff Lee Johnson purchased his brother's, Louis Perry Johnson, interest in the land. Andrew Johnson and Paul Johnson, two other brothers, hired the defendants to represent them in a rescission of contract lawsuit based on the premise that the sale violated the family contract.

In October of 2009, defendants, on behalf of their clients Andrew Johnson and Paul Johnson, filed a petition for rescission of contract in Louisiana. Defendants served process upon

1 plaintiffs at their residence in Nevada for their participation in the Louisiana lawsuit. Defendants
2 litigated the lawsuit in Louisiana and plaintiffs prevailed at trial. Prior to October 2009, plaintiffs
3 entered into an oil, gas and mineral lease with Hunter Energy Corporation which proved productive
4 of natural gas. (Doc. #14 at 3). Plaintiffs allege that defendants filed a sham lawsuit to participate
5 in the revenues being generated by the natural gas land lease. Id.

6 Plaintiffs' complaint seeks three causes of action: (1) abuse of process; (2) intentional
7 infliction of emotional distress; and (3) intentional interference with contractual relations. (Doc.
8 #1). Defendants move to dismiss the complaint for lack of personal jurisdiction. (Doc. #7).

9 II. Legal Standard

10 a. Motion to dismiss for lack of personal jurisdiction

11 To avoid dismissal for lack of personal jurisdiction on the pleadings, a plaintiff bears the 12 burden of demonstrating that his or her allegations would establish a prima facie case for personal 13 jurisdiction. See Boschetto v. Hansing, 539 F.3d 1011, 1015 (9th Cir. 2008). Allegations in the 14 plaintiff's complaint must be taken as true and factual disputes should be construed in the 15 plaintiff's favor. Rio Props, Inc. V. Rio Int'l Interlink, 284 F.3d 1007, 1019 (9th Cir. 2002).

16 Nevada has authorized its courts to exercise jurisdiction over persons "on any basis not 17 inconsistent with . . . the Constitution of the United States." N.R.S. § 14.065. An assertion of 18 personal jurisdiction must comport with due process. See Wash. Shoe Co. v. A-Z Sporting Goods
19 Inc., 704 F.3d 668, 672 (9th Cir. 2012). For specific jurisdiction, a plaintiff must demonstrate that 20 each nonresident defendant has at least "minimum contacts" with the relevant forum.
21 Schwarzenegger v. Fred Martin Motor Co., 374 F.3d 797, 801 (9th Cir. 2004).

22 In order to establish personal jurisdiction over defendant within the confines of due 23 process, plaintiff must either show: (1) general jurisdiction, or (2) specific jurisdiction. F.D.I.C. v.
24 British-American Ins. Co., Ltd., 828 F.2d 1439, 1441 (9th Cir. 1987). "[I]t is the defendant, not the 25 plaintiff or third parties, who must create contacts with the forum state." Walden v. Fiore, 134
26 S.Ct. 1115, 1121, 188 L. Ed. 2d 12 (2014).

1 III. Discussion

2 a. Motion to dismiss for lack of personal jurisdiction

3 Defendants argue that the court should dismiss this case for lack of personal jurisdiction
4 under Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(2). Defendants assert their connections with Nevada are insufficient to 5 establish the minimum contacts required for Nevada courts to exercise jurisdiction over them.
6 (Doc. # 7).

7 Plaintiffs oppose defendants' motion and argue that personal jurisdiction over defendants
8 is proper because defendants' tortious abuse of process constitutes purposeful entry into Nevada.
9 (Doc. # 14 at 2).

10 i. General jurisdiction over defendants

11 General jurisdiction is appropriate where a defendant's activities in the forum state are so 12 "substantial" or "continuous and systematic" that the defendant is essentially at home in the 13 forum. Daimler AG v. Bauman, 134 S.Ct. 746, 754 (2014). "[T]he plaintiff must demonstrate the 14 defendant has sufficient contacts to 'constitute the kind of continuous and systematic general
15 business contacts that approximate physical presence.'" In re W. States Wholesale Natural Gas
16 Litig., 605 F. Supp. 2d 1118, 1131 (D. Nev. 2009) (citations omitted). A finding of general 17 jurisdiction must be a stringent standard because it permits a defendant to be haled into court in 18 the forum state to answer for its activities anywhere in the world. Schwarzenegger v. Fred Martin
19 Motor Co., 374 F.3d 797, 801 (9th Cir. 2004).

20 The court primarily considers the place of incorporation and the principal place of business
21 when determining general jurisdiction of a corporation. Daimler, 134 S.Ct. at 760.

22 Plaintiffs allege "a single act of tortious abuse of process" gives rise to this suit. (Doc. #14 23 at 2). However, a single contact with the state of Nevada cannot be considered continuous or 24 systematic and is not enough to approximate a physical presence in Nevada. Defendants contend
25 they do not perform business services to the state of Nevada. Defendants are not registered or 26 licensed to do business in Nevada, do not own property in Nevada, have never traveled to Nevada, 27 and have never been admitted pro hac vice into a Nevada court. Additionally, defendants have 28 never consented to personal jurisdiction in Nevada. (Doc. #7-1 at 2). Therefore, no basis exists for

1 defendants to anticipate being haled into a Nevada court.

2 Furthermore, defendant Weems Law Firm is incorporated under the laws of Louisiana with 3 its personal place of business in Louisiana and therefore is not subject to general jurisdiction in 4 Nevada under the Daimler test. Daimler AG v. Bauman, 134 S.Ct. 746, 760 (2014).

5 Accordingly, this court finds defendants' contacts with Nevada are far from substantial or 6 continuous, and the court cannot exercise general personal jurisdiction over defendants.

7 ii. Specific jurisdiction over defendants

8 The inquiry into whether a forum state may assert specific jurisdiction over a nonresident
9 defendant "focuses on 'the relationship among the defendant, the forum, and the litigation.'" Walden, 134 S.Ct. at 1121. For a state to exercise jurisdiction consistent with due process, the 10 defendant's suit related conduct must create a substantial connection with the forum state. Id.

11 The Ninth Circuit has established a three-prong test for analyzing an assertion of specific 12 personal jurisdiction:
13

- 14 (1) The non-resident defendant must purposefully direct his activities or 15 consummate some transaction with the forum or resident thereof; or perform
16 some act by which he purposefully avails himself of the privilege of conducting 17 activities in the forum, thereby invoking the benefits and protections of its laws;
18 (2) the claim must be one which arises out of or relates to the defendant's forum-
19 related activities; and (3) the exercise of jurisdiction must comport with fair play
20 and substantial justice, i.e., it must be reasonable.

21 Schwarzenegger, 374 F.3d at 802.

22 "The plaintiff bears the burden of satisfying the first two prongs of the test. If the plaintiff 23 fails to satisfy either of these prongs, personal jurisdiction is not established in the forum state."
24 Id. (internal citations omitted). The court applies the purposeful availment test for cases involving 25 a contractual dispute, whereas the purposeful direction test is used for tort matters.
26 Schwarzenegger, 374 F.3d at 801.

27 1. Purposeful availment

28 "The purposeful availment prong of the minimum contacts test requires a qualitative evaluation of the defendant's contact with the forum state, in order to determine whether [the defendant's] conduct and connection with the forum state are such that [the defendant] should reasonably anticipate being haled into court there." Harris Rutsky & Co. Ins. Servs., Inc. v. Bell

1 & Clements Ltd., 328 F.3d 1122, 1130 (9th Cir. 2003) (citations omitted) (internal quotation marks
2 omitted).

3 Plaintiffs allege that defendants' contact with the forum state is sufficient because 4 defendants effectuated service of process to plaintiffs within the state of Nevada. On its own,
5 service of documents in connection with a suit is not sufficient contact with the forum to justify
6 exercise of personal jurisdiction. Yahoo! Inc. v. La Ligue Contre Le Racisme Et L'Antisemitisme,
7 433 F.3d 1199, 1209 (9th Cir. 2006) (finding service documents in connection with a suit brought 8 in a foreign court are not regarded as contacts that justify exercise of personal jurisdiction).
9 Additionally, the fact that plaintiffs are Nevada residents does not confer personal jurisdiction
10 upon defendants. See, Walden, 134 S.Ct. at 1121 (holding that plaintiffs cannot be the defendant's 11 only connection to the forum state).

12 There is no relationship between the defendants and the forum state. Defendants, at the 13 behest of their clients, filed a lawsuit in Louisiana concerning plaintiff Lee Arthur Johnson's real 14 property interest in Louisiana. To initiate the lawsuit, the laws of Louisiana required defendants,
15 as attorneys, to serve plaintiffs at their residence, which happened to be in Nevada. Plaintiffs'
16 location in Nevada is defendants only connection to the forum state.

17 Defendants' single act of effectuating service on plaintiffs in Nevada is not a significant 18 connection to the state of Nevada. Defendant argues "it is not foreseeable that an attorney and law
19 firm . . . serv[ing] an out-of-state defendant through certified U.S. mail will become subject to 20 jurisdiction of the out-of-state defendant's state of residence." (Doc. 7 at 8). This court agrees.
21 Defendants have never consented to personal jurisdiction in Nevada. (Doc. #7-1 at 2). As a result,
22 effectuating service upon a party to litigation cannot automatically confer personal jurisdiction
23 over the serving attorney in that forum. It is plaintiffs who should reasonably expect to be haled
24 into a Louisiana court as a result of owning real property located in the state of Louisiana.

25 2. Purposeful direction

26 As plaintiffs assert tort claims, purposeful direction is the proper test. The U.S. Supreme 27 Court outlined a three-part "effects test" to evaluate purposeful direction. Calder v. Jones, 458
28 U.S. 783, 104 S. Ct. 1482 (1984). To find purposeful direction the defendant must have 1)

1 committed an intentional act, 2) expressly aimed at the forum state, 3) causing harm that the 2 defendant knows is likely to be suffered in the forum state. Id. Evidence of direction usually 3 consists of conduct taking place outside the forum that the defendant directs at the forum.
4 Schwarzenegger, 374 F.3d at 799. In Schwarzenegger, defendant’s intentional act—the creation
5 and publication of the advertisement—was found to be expressly aimed at Ohio rather than 6 California. Schwarzenegger, 374 F.3d at 807.

7 Plaintiffs rely on the third element of the Calder test and contend personal jurisdiction is 8 proper because the defendants allegedly caused harm to plaintiffs in Nevada. (Doc. 14 at 7-8).
9 However, plaintiffs cannot meet their burden of proving the first and second elements of the Calder
10 test: that defendants committed an intentional act aimed at the forum state.

11 Defendants’ intentional act was expressly aimed at Louisiana, not Nevada. (Doc. 7 at 10-12 11). The act was to represent their clients in the Louisiana lawsuit by serving plaintiffs at their 13 residence. The fact that plaintiffs resided in Nevada was incidental. Therefore, plaintiffs have not 14 adequately shown defendants purposefully directed their activities towards the state of Nevada. As 15 plaintiffs have failed to sustain their burden with respect to the first prong of the three-part test for 16 specific personal jurisdiction, we need not, and do not, reach the second and third prongs of the 17 test. Schwarzenegger, 374 F.3d at 802.

18 This court finds that defendants have insufficient contacts with Nevada to warrant specific 19 personal jurisdiction and thus, this court’s exercise of personal jurisdiction over defendants would 20 not comport with due process.

21 IV. Conclusion

22 The court finds that plaintiffs have failed to establish that the defendants have sufficient
23 minimum contacts with the state of Nevada. Therefore, the court will grant defendants’ motion to 24 dismiss for lack of personal jurisdiction without prejudice so that plaintiffs may file their case in 25 the appropriate forum if they desire.

26 Accordingly,

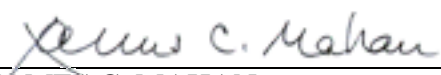

27 IT IS HEREBY ORDERED, ADJUDGED, AND DECREED that defendant’s motion to 28 dismiss for lack of personal jurisdiction, (doc. # 7), be, and the same hereby is, GRANTED.
