

1
2
3
4
5
6
7
8
9
10
11
12
13
14
15
16
17
18
19
20
21
22
23
24
25
26
27
28

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
DISTRICT OF NEVADA

ON DEMAND DIRECT RESPONSE, LLC,
et al.,

Case No.: 2:15-cv-01576-MMD-NJK

Plaintiff(s),

Order

v.

SHANA LEE MCCART-POLLAK,

Defendant(s).

Pending before the Court is an order for Third-Party Defendant Kevin Harrington and his attorneys (Michael Feder and Gabriel Blumberg) to show cause why they should not be sanctioned for failing to comply with the Court’s previous discovery order. Docket No. 345. Mr. Harrington (through his attorneys) initially responded to document requests with a boilerplate recitation that he found no responsive documents after his records were searched and his files were reviewed. See Docket No. 310. The Court held that such a response violated Rule 34(a)(1) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, which requires the responding party to come forward with an explanation of the search conducted with sufficient specificity to allow the Court to determine whether a reasonable inquiry was made. Docket No. 310 at 3-4. The Court ordered supplemental responses. Id. at 4. Mr. Harrington’s supplemental responses marginally altered his original responses by indicating that he “searched and reviewed physical files in his home office as well as electronic files” to no avail, but that he reserved the right to supplement to provide responsive documents in the future. See Docket No. 345 at 2. Given the obvious deficiency with the supplemental responses, the Court

1 ordered that further supplements be provided, and ordered Mr. Harrington and his attorneys to show
2 cause why they should not be sanctioned in a fine for violating the Court’s previous order. Id. at 3-5.

3 The response to that order to show cause indicates in general terms that Mr. Harrington has
4 been participating in discovery in good faith and that his counsel believed the supplemental responses
5 were sufficient. See Docket No. 353. The response misses the mark.¹ For example, it indicates that
6 “[Mr.] Harrington and his counsel should not be sanctioned for lacking responsive documents and 7 performing a search for responsive documents despite knowing none would be located.” Docket No.
8 353 at 3 n.3. Such an assertion is ridiculous as that is obviously not the issue before the Court.² The 9 Court has made clear on multiple occasions that a party is not entitled to simply assert that he looked
10 for responsive documents and did not find any; he must make a reasonable inquiry to find responsive
11 documents and must provide a detailed explanation of that inquiry so the Court can judge whether it
12 was sufficient due diligence. Docket No. 310 at 3-4; Docket No. 345 at 2; see also Docket No. 289 at 13 3-4. This is not a novel proposition, but rather reflects well-settled law. See, e.g., Rogers v. Giurbino,
14 288 F.R.D. 469, 485 (S.D. Cal. 2012); A. Farber & Partners, Inc. v. Garber, 234 F.R.D. 186, 189
15 (C.D. Cal. 2006). Mr. Harrington (through his counsel) failed to provide a detailed description even
16 after being ordered by the Court to do so, and the response to the order to show cause lacks a plausible
17 explanation as to how Mr. Harrington and his counsel could have reasonably believed they were 18 complying with the Court’s order. Instead, Mr. Harrington and his counsel waited until fines were on 19 the table for violating the Court’s order to file a belated declaration providing a more detailed recitation
20 of the search undertaken. See Docket No. 353-2 at ¶¶ 8-9.³

21
22 ¹ The order to show cause was premised on two rules, Rule 37(b)(2)(A) and Rule 26(g).
23 The response to the order to show cause addresses only the latter rule. See Docket No. 353 at 3.

24 ² What is more, counsel clearly knows that is not the issue before the Court because he has
25 attached to the response to the order to show cause a declaration providing a more detailed 26 recitation of the search undertaken. See Docket No. 353-2 at ¶¶ 8-9. Counsel’s assertion that the 27 Court is considering imposing sanctions because a party lacks responsive documents is, at best,
28 disingenuous.

³ Concurrently with the filing of the response to the order to show cause, Mr. Harrington was required to provide further supplemental discovery responses to Ms. McCart-Pollak. Docket
No. 345 at 3-4. The Court expresses no opinion herein as to whether the latest search description provided in response to the order to show cause is sufficient.

