

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
DISTRICT OF NEVADA

KATIE F. WILSON,
Plaintiff,

vs.

WAL-MART STORES, INC., et.al.,
Defendant.

Case No. 2:15-cv-1791-RCJ-VCF

ORDER

MOTION TO EXCLUDE UNTIMELY DAMAGES
CLAIMS (DOC. #48); MOTION TO STRIKE
REBUTTAL EXPERT (DOC. #61)

This matter involves Plaintiff Katie F. Wilson's civil action against Defendant Wal-Mart Store, Inc. Before the court are Wal-Mart's motion to exclude untimely damages claims (Doc. #48), Wilson's response (Doc. #65), and Wal-Mart's reply (Doc. #78). Also before the court is Wilson's motion to strike Wal-Mart's rebuttal expert (Doc. #61), Wal-Mart's response (Doc. #77), and Wilson's reply (Doc. #85). For the reasons stated below, Wal-Mart's motion to exclude untimely damages claims (Doc. #48) is granted. Wilson's motion to strike Wal-Mart's rebuttal expert is also granted.

I. Background

The instant motions arise from the parties' allegedly untimely disclosures. On November 5, 2015, the court set the following discovery deadlines: (1) initial disclosures under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 26(a)(1) were due on November 3, 2015, (2) expert witnesses disclosures were due on January 15, 2016, (3) rebuttal expert witness disclosures were due on February 14, 2016, and (4) discovery would close on March 15, 2016. (Doc. #9). The court granted a limited extension of discovery so that the parties would be able to depose certain witnesses. (Doc. #67). The discovery deadline, the expert witness disclosure deadline, and the rebuttal expert witness disclosure deadline were not extended.

1 On October 20, 2015, as part of her initial disclosures, Wilson claimed $86,743.05 in past
2 medical expenses. (Doc. #48-2 at 10). Wilson did not claim any future medical expenses or lost
3 income. On December 18, 2015, Wilson served her second supplement to her initial disclosures, in 4 which her past medical expenses increased from $86, 743.05 to $248,541.03. (Doc. #48-6 at 11).
5 Wilson’s second supplement to her initial disclosures did not claim any future medical expenses or lost
6 income. On January 20, 2016, Wilson served her fifth supplement to her initial disclosures, in which her
7 past medical expenses increased from $248,541.03 to $337,446.86. Wilson also claimed $657,254.80 in 8 future medical care and $117,972.00 - $295,505.00 in “los[t] household services.” Wilson’s special
9 damages now total $1,112,673.66 - $1,290,206.66. Wal-Mart now moves to exclude Wilson’s damages
10 claims over $86,743.05 as Wal-Mart alleges that Wilson’s additional damages were untimely disclosed.
11

12 On January 15, 2016, Wal-Mart disclosed Dr. Steven McIntire as its expert witness. (Doc. #61-2
13 at 2). On February 16, 2016, Wal-Mart disclosed Dr. Arthur Dublin as its rebuttal expert witness. (Doc.
14 #61-4 at 2). Wilson now moves to strike Dr. Dublin’s opinion as Wilson alleges that he is not a proper
15 rebuttal witness, thus Wal-Mart did not timely disclose him as an initial expert witness on January 15, 16 2016.

17 II. Legal Standard

18 “[A] party must, without awaiting a discovery request, provide to the other parties ... a 19 computation of each category of damages claimed by the disclosing party.” FED. R. CIV. P. 26(a)(1)(iii).

20 “In addition to the disclosures required by Rule 26(a)(1), a party must disclose to the other
21 parties the identity of any witness it may use at trial to present evidence under Federal Rule of Evidence
22 702, 703, or 705.” FED. R. CIV. P. 26(a)(2)(A).

23 “If a party fails to provide information or identify a witness as required by Rule 26(a) or (e), the 24 party is not allowed to use that information or witness to supply evidence on a motion, at a hearing, or at 25

1 trial, unless the failure was substantially justified or is harmless.” FED. R. CIV. P. 37(c)(1). “In addition
2 to or instead of this sanction, the court, on motion and after giving an opportunity to be heard: (A) may
3 order payment of the reasonable expenses, including attorney’s fees, caused by the failure; (B) may 4 inform the jury of the party’s failure; and (C) may impose other appropriate sanctions.” FED. R. CIV. P.
5 37(c)(1)(A)-(C).

6 III. Discussion

7 The parties present three issues: (1) whether Wilson’s additional damages claims may be
8 excluded due to their untimely disclosure, (2) whether Wal-Mart’s expert Dr. Arthur Dublin is a proper
9 rebuttal expert, and (3) whether Dr. Dublin’s opinion may be excluded due to its untimely disclosure.

10 1. Wilson’s Additional Damages Claims are Excluded

11 “A party must make its initial disclosure based on the information then reasonably available to 12 it.” FED. R. CIV. P. 26(a)(1)(E). “A party is not excused from making its disclosures because it has not 13 fully investigated the case.” FED. R. CIV. P. 26(a)(1)(E).

14 Wilson’s claims for damages over $86,743.05 are excluded as untimely. On December 18, forty-
15 five days after initial disclosures were due, Wilson increased her claimed past medical damages from 16 $86,743.05 to $248,541.03. On January 20, seventy-eight days after initial disclosures were due,
17 Wilson: (1) increased her past medical expenses $248,541.03 to $337,446.86, (2) claimed $657,254.80
18 in future medical damages, and (3) $117,972.00 - $295,505.00 in “los[t] household services.” Wilson’s
19 January 20 supplemental disclosure was the first time Wilson claimed future medical damages or 20 damages for lost household services. Wilson’s disclosure of damages over $86,743.05 are untimely,
21 thus Wilson must show that her untimely disclosures were substantially justified or harmless.
22

23 Wilson argues that Wal-Mart was not harmed by her untimely disclosures of additional damages
24 as Wilson promptly informed Wal-Mart of her medical expenses as she incurred them. Wilson’s
25

1 argument is unpersuasive. Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 26(a)(1) requires a party to give other parties
2 an estimate of the damages he will claim at trial; assertions that a party is continuing to treat does not
3 excuse the party from providing a reasonable estimate of her damages as part of her initial disclosures.
4 Montilla v. Wal-Mart Stores, Inc., Case No. 2:13-cv-2348-GMN-VCF, 2015 WL 5458781 at* 3 (D.
5 Nev. Sept. 16, 2015). Here, Wilson’s failure to disclose the full amount of past medical expenses, as 6 well as her future medical damages and damages related to the loss of household services, prejudiced
7 Wal-Mart. Wal-Mart likely would have had a different litigation strategy had it known Wilson was 8 claiming over $1 million in damages versus only $86,743.05 in damages. Thus Wilson’s damages over 9 $86,743.05 are excluded.

10 2. Dr. Dublin is Not a Proper Rebuttal Witness

11 Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 26(a)(2)(D)(ii) “permits the admission of rebuttal expert
12 testimony that is ‘intended solely to contradict or rebut evidence on the same subject matter identified’
13 by an initial expert witness.” R & O Const. Co. v. Rox Pro Intern. Group, Ltd., Case No. 2:09-cv-1749-
14 LRH-LRL, 2011 WL 2923703 at* 2 (D. Nev. July 18, 2011). “Rebuttal expert reports necessitate a 15 showing of facts support the opposite conclusion of those at which the opposing party’s experts arrived
16 in their respective reports.” Id. “Rebuttal expert reports are proper if they contradict or rebut the subject
17 matter of the affirmative expert report.” Id. “They are not, however, the proper place for presenting 18 new arguments.” Id. “Rather, rebuttal expert testimony is limited to new unforeseen facts brought out
19 in the other side’s case.” Id.; see also Amos v. Makita U.S.A., Inc., Case No. 2:09-cv-1304-GMN-RJJ, 20 2011 WL 43092 at* 2 (D. Nev. Jan 6, 2011) (finding that expert’s opinion that proffered an alternative 21 causation theory was not a proper rebuttal expert opinion).
22

23 Dr. Dublin’s opinion is not a proper rebuttal expert opinion. Dr. Dublin reviewed portions of 24 Wilson’s medical records and concluded that Wilson sustained no “active or recent trauma.” Dr.
25

1 Dublin's expert report also state that he "did not review the medical examinations." Dr. Dublin's expert
2 report presents an alternative explanation for Wilson's claimed injuries, namely that Wilson's injuries
3 are the result of her pre-incident health problems.

4 Since Dr. Dublin's expert report presents an alternative theory about the cause of Wilson's
5 complained of injuries, Dr. Dublin is not a proper rebuttal expert witness. In Amos, the defendant's
6 proposed rebuttal expert opined that faulty electrical wiring, and not the defendant's power tool, was the 7 cause of the fire that damaged the plaintiff's home. 2011 WL 43092 at* 2. The Amos court held that the 8 defendant's expert was not a proper rebuttal expert as the defendant's expert presented a new argument,
9 an alternative theory of causation, instead of addressing unforeseen facts raised in the plaintiff's experts'
10 reports. Id. Here, Dr. Dublin's proposed testimony is similar; he proposes to testify about an alternative
11 theory about Wilson's injuries. The cause of Wilson's injuries is a central issue in this action, thus 12 injury causation cannot be the type of "unforeseen facts" that a rebuttal expert witness may properly
13 address. Dr. Dublin is not a proper rebuttal expert witness, thus Wal-Mart's disclosure of Dr. Dublin on 14 February 16 was untimely.

15
16 3. Dr. Dublin's Opinion is Excluded

17 "Among the factors that may properly guide a district court in determining whether a violation of 18 a discovery deadline is justified or harmless are: (1) prejudice or surprise to the party against whom the 19 evidence is offered; (2) the ability of that party to cure the prejudice; (3) the likelihood of disruption of 20 the trial and (4) bad faith or willfulness involved in not timely disclosing the evidence." Lanard Toys
21 Ltd. v. Novelty, Inc., 375 Fed. Appx. 705, 713 (9th Cir. 2010). "The burden is on the party facing 22 exclusion of its expert's testimony to prove the delay was justified or harmless." Id.

23 Here, Wal-Mart fails to meet its burden to show that Dr. Dublin's untimely disclosure was 24 justified or harmless. Wal-Mart's argument, that Wilson's use of a spinal cord stimulator is a novel
25

1 issue that justifies Wal-Mart's untimely disclosure of Dr. Dublin, is unpersuasive. In Lanard Toys, the
2 plaintiff's untimely disclosure of his expert witness was held justified and harmless as the plaintiff had
3 served a "preliminary" expert declaration, that contained plaintiff's expert's background information,
4 resume, and detailed information about how he had formed his opinion, before the initial expert witness
5 disclosure deadline. Id. Here, Wal-Mart fails to show that its untimely disclosure of Dr. Dublin is 6 justified or harmless. Wal-Mart likely knew from the outset of discovery that injury causation would be 7 a central issue in this action, irrespective of the particular medical treatments Wilson was receiving at 8 the time of the incident. Unlike Lanard Toys, Wal-Mart failed to disclose any information about Dr.
9 Dublin before the initial expert witness disclosure deadline. Further, the novelty of Wilson's injury does
10 not justify Wal-Mart's untimely disclosure of Dr. Dublin; Wal-Mart deposed Wilson on January 7, 2016
11 and was then able to timely disclose Dr. McIntire as its expert witness. Wal-Mart fails to explain why it
12 could not timely disclose Dr. Dublin, in light of the brevity of his report and the report's failure to 13 specifically address the spinal stimulator. (Doc. #77-9). Finally, the delay is not harmless; if Dr. Dublin
14 is permitted to testify, Wilson will likely need to depose him, then possibly retain her own rebuttal
15 expert witness.
16

17 ACCORDINGLY, and for good cause shown,

18 IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that Wal-Mart's motion to exclude untimely damages claims (Doc.
19 #48) is GRANTED. Wilson may not offer evidence to support any claim of damages over $86,743.05.

21 /// /// ///

22 /// /// ///

23 /// /// ///

1 IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that Wilson's motion to strike Wal-Mart's rebuttal expert is
2 GRANTED. Wal-Mart may not use Dr. Dublin's expert opinion for any purpose.

3 IT IS SO ORDERED.

4 DATED this 21st day of March, 2016.
