Case No.: 2:16-cv-00872-GMN-VCF

ORDER

10 Pending before the Court is the Motion to Dismiss, (ECF No. 13), filed by Defendants 11 Las Vegas Metropolitan Police Department (“LVMPD”) and Officers Anthony Ash, Jonathan 12 Smith, John Collins, Jerrod Grimmett, Sgt. McGrath, and David Dockendorf (“Officer 13 Defendants”) (collectively “Defendants”). Plaintiff Lowell Shade, Jr. (“Plaintiff”) filed a 14 response, (ECF No. 16), and Defendants filed a reply, (ECF No. 17). For the reasons discussed 15 herein, Defendants’ Motion to Dismiss is GRANTED in part and DENIED in part.

16 I. BACKGROUND

17 This case arises out of an alleged unlawful search and seizure involving marijuana plants 18 at Plaintiff’s residence. At the time of the incident, Plaintiff was a minor living with his 19 parents. (See Compl ¶¶ 1, 22, ECF No. 1).

20 Plaintiff alleges that on March 19, 2011, Defendants illegally entered and searched 21 Plaintiff’s home under the pretext of conducting a “premises freeze.” (Id. ¶ 21). Plaintiff 22 claims this search occurred “without consent, exigent circumstances, or a warrant” (Id. ¶ 23 11). Using information obtained in this search, Plaintiff alleges that Defendant Grimmett 24 acquired a search warrant from Justice of the Peace Melanie Tobiasson. (Id.).

1 In acquiring this warrant, Plaintiff asserts that “Defendant Grimmatt deliberately omitted 2 exculpatory information from [the] search warrant to mislead the magistrate.” (Id. ¶ 12).
3 Specifically, Plaintiff alleges that Defendant Grimmatt: (1) omitted that Defendant Ash lied to 4 Plaintiff’s parents to gain entry into the residence; and (2) omitted that Plaintiff’s parents had a 5 “physician’s exemption to grow an excess number of medical marijuana plants.” (Id. ¶¶ 12, 13).
6 Plaintiff further alleges that “Defendant Grimmatt falsely stated that [Plaintiff’s parents’] 7 cultivation of medical marijuana plants was ‘in excess of the Nevada law.’” (Id. ¶ 13). Absent 8 these misrepresentations, Plaintiff alleges that Defendants “lacked probable cause to believe a 9 crime had been committed.” (Id. ¶ 14).

10 After obtaining the warrant, Plaintiff alleges that Defendants “illegally searched 11 Plaintiff’s residence in violation of [his] Fourth Amendment Rights.” (Id. ¶ 23). During this 12 search, Plaintiff claims he was “held inside the residence by the Defendants. . . while the 13 Defendants displayed their firearms and weapons.” (Id. ¶ 24). According to Plaintiff, 14 Defendants “maliciously executed the illegal search warrant because LVMPD has de facto 15 policies to ignore Nevada’s medical marijuana statutes and violate the constitutional rights of 16 medical marijuana patients and their family members.” (Id. ¶ 15).

17 On April 15, 2016, Plaintiff filed his Complaint before this Court, alleging two causes of 18 action: (1) Unlawful search and seizure in violation of 42 U.S.C. § 1983 and the Fourth 19 Amendment; and (2) Monell violation under 42 U.S.C. § 1983. (Id. ¶¶ 20–35). On May 27, 20 2016, Defendants filed the instant Motion seeking dismissal on both of Plaintiff’s claims. (Mot.
21 to Dismiss, ECF No. 13).¹

24 ¹ Defendants request that the Court take judicial notice of two court documents that show the search warrant and 25 supporting declaration referenced in the Complaint. (Def.’s Request, ECF No. 14); see also United States v. Wilson, 631 F.2d 118, 119 (9th Cir. 1980) (stating that a court may take judicial notice of court records in another case). Plaintiff does not contest the accuracy of these documents. Accordingly, the Court takes judicial notice.

1 II. LEGAL STANDARD

2 Rule 12(b)(6) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure mandates that a court dismiss a 3 cause of action that fails to state a claim upon which relief can be granted. See North Star Int'l 4 v. Ariz. Corp. Comm'n, 720 F.2d 578, 581 (9th Cir. 1983). When considering a motion to 5 dismiss under Rule 12(b)(6) for failure to state a claim, dismissal is appropriate only when the 6 complaint does not give the defendant fair notice of a legally cognizable claim and the grounds 7 on which it rests. See Bell Atl. Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 555 (2007). In considering 8 whether the complaint is sufficient to state a claim, the Court will take all material allegations 9 as true and construe them in the light most favorable to the plaintiff. See NL Indus., Inc. v.
10 Kaplan, 792 F.2d 896, 898 (9th Cir. 1986).

11 The Court, however, is not required to accept as true allegations that are merely 12 conclusory, unwarranted deductions of fact, or unreasonable inferences. See Sprewell v. Golden 13 State Warriors, 266 F.3d 979, 988 (9th Cir. 2001). A formulaic recitation of a cause of action 14 with conclusory allegations is not sufficient; a plaintiff must plead facts showing that a 15 violation is plausible, not just possible. Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 678 (2009) (citing 16 Twombly, 550 U.S. at 555) (emphasis added). In order to survive a motion to dismiss, a 17 complaint must allege “sufficient factual matter, accepted as true, to state a claim to relief that 18 is plausible on its face.” Id. “A claim has facial plausibility when the plaintiff pleads factual 19 content that allows the court to draw the reasonable inference that the defendant is liable for the 20 misconduct alleged.” Id.

21 “Generally, a district court may not consider any material beyond the pleadings in ruling 22 on a Rule 12(b)(6) motion However, material which is properly submitted as part of the 23 complaint may be considered on a motion to dismiss.” Hal Roach Studios, Inc. v. Richard 24 Feiner & Co., 896 F.2d 1542, 1555 n.19 (9th Cir. 1990) (citations omitted). Similarly, 25 “documents whose contents are alleged in a complaint and whose authenticity no party

1 questions, but which are not physically attached to the pleading, may be considered in ruling on 2 a Rule 12(b)(6) motion to dismiss” without converting the motion to dismiss into a motion for 3 summary judgment. Branch v. Tunnell, 14 F.3d 449, 454 (9th Cir. 1994). Under Federal Rule 4 of Evidence 201, a court may take judicial notice of “matters of public record.” Mack v. S. Bay 5 Beer Distrib., 798 F.2d 1279, 1282 (9th Cir. 1986). Otherwise, if the district court considers 6 materials outside of the pleadings, the motion to dismiss is converted into a motion for 7 summary judgment. See Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(d); Arpin v. Santa Clara Valley Transp. Agency, 261
8 F.3d 912, 925 (9th Cir. 2001).

9 If the court grants a motion to dismiss, it must then decide whether to grant leave to 10 amend. Pursuant to Rule 15(a), the court should “freely” give leave to amend “when justice so 11 requires,” and in the absence of a reason such as “undue delay, bad faith or dilatory motive on 12 the part of the movant, repeated failure to cure deficiencies by amendments previously allowed, 13 undue prejudice to the opposing party by virtue of allowance of the amendment, futility of the 14 amendment, etc.” Foman v. Davis, 371 U.S. 178, 182 (1962). Generally, leave to amend is 15 only denied when it is clear that the deficiencies of the complaint cannot be cured by 16 amendment. See DeSoto v. Yellow Freight Sys., Inc., 957 F.2d 655, 658 (9th Cir. 1992).

17 III. DISCUSSION

18 1. Unlawful Search and Seizure in Violation of 42 U.S.C. § 1983

19 To sustain an action under section 1983, a plaintiff must show: (1) that the conduct 20 complained of was committed by a person acting under color of state law; and (2) that the 21 conduct deprived the plaintiff of a federal constitutional or statutory right.” Wood v. Ostrander, 22 879 F.2d 583, 587 (9th Cir. 1989). In the Complaint, Plaintiff appears to advance four separate 23 theories to support his claim for unlawful search and seizure. These include: (1) illegal entry 24 under a false pretext; (2) judicial deception to obtain an invalid warrant; (3) illegal search of 25

1 Plaintiff's residence; and (4) illegal seizure of Plaintiff's person. The Court addresses the 2 sufficiency of each theory in turn.

3 a) Illegal Entry Under a False Pretext

4 Plaintiff alleges that Defendants "made unlawful entry into Plaintiff's residence without 5 consent, exigent circumstances, or a warrant," and such entry occurred "under the pretext of 6 conducting a premises freeze." (Compl. ¶¶ 11, 21). Additionally, Plaintiff alleges that 7 "Defendant Ash lied to the Plaintiff's parents in a ruse to gain entry into the residence." (Id. ¶ 8 12).

9 The Fourth Amendment bars only those searches and seizures that are unreasonable.
10 Skinner v. Railway Labor Executives' Assn., 489 U.S. 602, 613 (1989). In general, the search 11 of a house or office is not reasonable without a warrant issued on probable cause. Maryland v.
12 Buie, 494 U.S. 325, 331 (1990). However, there are certain circumstances where the public 13 interest is such that a warrant is not required. Id. For instance, police may enter a home without 14 a warrant where they possess probable cause and exigent circumstances exist. Murdock v.
15 Stout, 54 F.3d 1437, 1440 (9th Cir. 1995). Exigent circumstances include "those circumstances 16 that would cause a reasonable person to believe that entry . . . was necessary to prevent physical 17 harm to the officers or other persons, the destruction of evidence, the escape of the suspect, or 18 some other consequence improperly frustrating legitimate law enforcement efforts." Id. at 1441 19 (quoting United States v. Lai, 944 F.2d 1434, 1442 (9th Cir. 1991)).

20 Plaintiff's factual allegations do not support a finding that Defendants' entry of his 21 residence was illegal. As noted above, conclusory, unwarranted deductions of fact, or 22 unreasonable inferences are insufficient to state a claim. See Sprewell, 266 F.3d at 988. Here, 23 the Complaint provides no factual context to Defendants' entry beyond the conclusory 24 statements that it was "illegal" and without "exigent circumstances." While Plaintiff does 25

1 allege that the search occurred “under the pretext of conducting a premises freeze,” this alone 2 does not plausibly establish that the underlying justification for the search was illegal.

3 Plaintiff’s allegations that Defendant Ash used a “ruse” to gain entry are similarly 4 insufficient. In the Fourth Amendment context, a “ruse” only becomes a search if it intrudes on 5 a person’s reasonable, subjective expectation of privacy. United States v. Garcia, 997 F.2d 6 1273 (9th Cir. 1993). Here, the Complaint does not allege any facts related to whether the 7 “ruse” falls into this category. Furthermore, by not providing any context as to the actions that 8 constituted the “ruse,” the Complaint also fails to provide Defendants fair notice of the grounds 9 for the claim. Twombly, 550 U.S. at 555. Accordingly, the Complaint fails to plausibly allege 10 an illegal entry claim in violation of Plaintiff’s constitutional rights.

11 b) Judicial Deception to Obtain an Invalid Warrant

12 Plaintiff alleges that “[t]he fact that [his] parents were lawful medical marijuana patients, 13 in possession of a physician’s exemption, demonstrated the absence of any illegal activity, or 14 mere suspicion of illegal activity, at the Plaintiff’s residence to support the issuance of a search 15 warrant.” (Compl. ¶ 17). Specifically, Plaintiff asserts that “Defendant Grimmett obtained an 16 invalid search warrant by deliberately omitting the facts that Plaintiff’s parents had been 17 granted a physician’s exemption to grow an excess number of medical marijuana plants . . .
18 [and] falsely stated that Plaintiff’s parent’s cultivation of medical marijuana was ‘in excess of 19 Nevada law.’” (Id. ¶ 22).

20 The Fourth Amendment prohibits a search conducted pursuant to “an ill-begotten or 21 otherwise invalid warrant.” Bravo v. City of Santa Maria, 665 F.3d 1076, 1083 (9th Cir. 2011).
22 To establish a judicial deception claim under § 1983, a plaintiff must “(1) establish that the 23 warrant affidavit contained misrepresentations or omissions material to the finding of probable 24 cause, and (2) make a ‘substantial showing’ that the misrepresentations or omissions were 25 made intentionally or with reckless disregard for the truth.” Id. at 1083. The “materiality”

1 element in a judicial deception claim is a question of law for the court. See Butler v. Elle, 281
2 F.3d 1014, 1024 (9th Cir. 2002).

3 At issue here is whether the allegedly omitted and misrepresented facts were material to 4 the finding of probable cause. The relevant Nevada marijuana law states:

5 1. Except as otherwise provided in this section and NRS 453A.300, 6 a person who holds a valid registry identification card issued for the 7 person pursuant to NRS 453A.220 or 453A.250 is exempt from 8 state prosecution for . . . (a) possession, delivery or production of 9 marijuana.

10 *****

11 4. If the persons described in subsection 3 possess, deliver or 12 produce marijuana in an amount which exceeds the amount 13 described in paragraph (b) of that subsection, those persons:

14 (a) Are not exempt from state prosecution for possession, 15 delivery or production of marijuana.

16 (b) May establish an affirmative defense to charges of 17 possession, delivery, or production of marijuana . . . in the 18 manner set forth in NRS 453A.310.

19 Nev. Rev. Stat. Ann § 453A.200 (2011) (emphasis added).

20 1. Except as otherwise provided in this section and NRS 453A.300, 21 it is an affirmative defense to a criminal charge of possession, 22 delivery or production of marijuana . . . that the person charged 23 with the offense:

24 (a) Is a person who:

25 *****

(3) Possesses, delivers, or produces marijuana only in the amount described in paragraph (b) of subsection 3 of NRS 453A.200 or in excess of that amount if the person proves by a preponderance of the evidence that the greater amount is medically necessary as determined by the person's attending physician . . .

1 Nev. Rev. Stat. Ann § 453A.310 (emphasis added).

2 By the clear language of the statute, Plaintiff’s parents were not exempt from 3 prosecution by virtue of having a “physician’s exemption” to grow an excess number of 4 marijuana plants. Such exemption is only relevant as an affirmative defense after criminal 5 charges are brought and the exemption is proven applicable by a preponderance of evidence.
6 Accordingly, the omission of this information was not material to an initial finding of probable 7 cause. See Sinclair v. City of Grandview, 973 F. Supp. 2d 1234, 1251 (E.D. Wash. 2013) 8 (holding that the existence of a medical marijuana permit as an affirmative defense was 9 immaterial to a finding of probable cause for a search warrant); see also Rocha v. County of 10 Tulare, Cal., 627 Fed. Appx. 623, 624 (9th Cir. 2015) (“Without more, Rocha’s allegation that 11 defendants knew he possessed a medical marijuana recommendation does not negate probable 12 cause . . .”).

13 Nonetheless, Plaintiff also alleges that Defendant Grimmatt “falsely stated that 14 Plaintiff’s parent’s cultivation of medical marijuana was ‘in excess of Nevada law.’” (Id. ¶ 22).
15 On this point, the Complaint appears to contradict itself. Plaintiff simultaneously alleges that 16 his parents were not cultivating medical marijuana in excess of Nevada law, and yet asserts that 17 issuance of the search warrant was improper because “Plaintiff’s parents had been granted a 18 physician’s exemption to grow an excess number of medical marijuana plants.” (Id.). As 19 alleged, the fact that Plaintiff’s parents had an exemption to grow an excess number of plants 20 would not render Defendant Grimmatt’s statement false. Accordingly, the Court finds that 21 Plaintiff has failed to plausibly allege a judicial deception claim.

22 c) Illegal Search of Plaintiff’s Residence

23 Plaintiff alleges that after obtaining the illegal search warrant, “Defendants and each of 24 them illegally searched Plaintiff’s residence in violation of [his] Fourth Amendment rights. (Id.

1 ¶ 23). This allegation is premised on the invalidity of the search warrant and therefore fails for 2 the same reasons as detailed above.

3 d) Illegal Seizure of Plaintiff's Person

4 Plaintiff alleges that “[he] was illegally seized by all of the Defendants because [he] was 5 held inside the residence by the Defendants, and each of them, while the Defendants displayed 6 their firearms and weapons.” (Id. ¶ 24). According to Plaintiff, “[a]ny reasonable person who is 7 detained by an armed law enforcement officer would not reasonably believe that they were free 8 to leave.” (Id.).

9 “[A] person has been ‘seized’ within the meaning of the Fourth Amendment only if, in 10 view of all of the circumstances surrounding the incident, a reasonable person would have 11 believed that he was not free to leave.” United States v. Mendenhall, 446 U.S. 544, 554 (1980).
12 The Supreme Court has noted that “because it is well known that most officers are armed, the 13 presence of a holstered firearm is unlikely to be coercive absent active brandishing of the 14 weapon.” United States v. Drayton, 536 U.S. 194, 195 (2002).

15 Drawing reasonable inferences in favor of Plaintiff, the allegation that Defendants 16 “displayed” their firearms is sufficient to support a theory that Defendants seized Plaintiff.
17 However, this is not the end of the analysis. In order for a seizure to violate the Fourth 18 Amendment, it must also be unreasonable. Skinner, 489 U.S. at 613. Here, the 19 unreasonableness of the seizure is tied to Plaintiff’s other insufficiently pled theories. On its 20 own, the Complaint only alleges that Plaintiff was “illegally seized” by being held in his 21 residence. This conclusory fact alone is inadequate to state a plausible claim for illegal seizure.
22 Based on the foregoing, the Court finds that Plaintiff has failed to state a claim for unlawful 23 search and seizure and grants dismissal on this claim.

1 2. Monell Violation Under 42 U.S.C. § 1983

2 Plaintiff alleges that “LVMPD has de facto policies to ignore Nevada’s medical 3 marijuana statutes and violate the constitutional rights of medical marijuana patients and their 4 family members.” (Compl. ¶ 24).

5 To bring a claim for the deprivation of a constitutional right by a local governmental 6 entity, Plaintiff must establish that the alleged violation was attributable to the enforcement of a 7 municipal custom or policy. Monell v. Dep’t of Soc. Servs, 436 U.S. 658, 690 (1978) (“Local 8 governing bodies, therefore, can be sued directly under § 1983 for monetary, declaratory, or 9 injunctive relief where . . . the action that is alleged to be unconstitutional implements or 10 executes a policy statement, ordinance, regulation, or decision officially adopted and 11 promulgated by that body’s officers”). Thus, to survive a motion to dismiss, Plaintiff must 12 have asserted facts making each of the following elements plausible: (1) that he possessed a 13 constitutional right of which he was deprived; (2) that the municipality had a policy; (3) that 14 this policy ‘amounts to deliberate indifference’ to the [P]laintiff’s constitutional right; and (4) 15 that the policy is the ‘moving force behind the constitutional violation. See Oviatt By & 16 Through Waugh v. Pearce, 954 F.2d 1470, 1474 (9th Cir. 1992).

17 Defendants argue that Plaintiff’s Monell claim fails because the allegations in the 18 Complaint are “both conclusory and contrary to the law.” (Mot. to Dismiss 14:28–15:2). In the 19 Ninth Circuit, “a claim of municipal liability under [section] 1983 is sufficient to withstand a 20 motion to dismiss even if the claim is based on nothing more than a bare allegation that the 21 individual officers’ conduct conformed to official policy, custom, or practice.” AE ex rel.
22 Hernandez v. Cnty. of Tulare, 666 F.3d 631, 636 (9th Cir. 2012) (citation omitted).

23 Plaintiff’s Complaint alleges that Defendants’ unconstitutional actions occurred pursuant 24 to LVMPD’s customs, policies, practices, and procedures. (Compl. ¶ 29). Accordingly, under 25 controlling Ninth Circuit law, Plaintiff’s Complaint sufficiently alleges the requisite official policy. However, as Plaintiff has failed to establish a violation of constitutional rights under his

1 first cause of action, this element is likewise absent here. For this reason, the Court grants 2 dismissal on this claim.²

3 3. Leave to Amend

4 Rule 15(a)(2) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure permits courts to “freely give 5 leave [to amend] when justice so requires.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 15(a)(2). The Ninth Circuit “ha[s] 6 held that in dismissing for failure to state a claim under Rule 12(b)(6), ‘a district court should 7 grant leave to amend even if no request to amend the pleading was made, unless it determines 8 that the pleading could not possibly be cured by the allegation of other facts.’” Lopez v. Smith, 9 203 F.3d 1122, 1127 (9th Cir. 2000) (quoting Doe v. United States, 58 F.3d 494, 497 (9th Cir.
10 1995)).

11 The Court finds that Plaintiff may be able to plead additional facts to support both 12 causes of action in the Complaint. Accordingly, the Court will grant Plaintiff leave to file an 13 amended complaint.³ Plaintiff shall file his amended complaint within twenty-one days of the 14 date of this Order if he can allege sufficient facts that plausibly establish his claims against 15 Defendants. Failure to file an amended complaint by this date shall result in the Court 16 dismissing this action.

17 4. Request to Strike Impertinent Material

18 Defendant Dockendorf moves to strike impertinent material from the Complaint 19 pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(f). (Mot. to Dismiss 12:1–4). Specifically, 20 Defendant Dockendorf moves to strike the portion of paragraph 8 stating: “As an LVMPD 21 lieutenant, Defendant Dockendorf has a history of concocting ill conceived schemes that have 22 resulted in the violations of citizens’ civil rights.” (See Compl. ¶ 8). In response, Plaintiff

24 ² Defendants also request dismissal of Plaintiff’s prayer for punitive damages. Punitive damages are a remedy 25 and not an independent claim. See Douglas v. Miller, 864 F. Supp. 2d 1205, 1220 (W.D. Okla. 2012). Therefore, punitive damages are not properly subject to a motion to dismiss under 12(b)(6).

³ As the Court is granting leave to amend, the Court finds it premature to rule on Defendants’ qualified immunity argument.

1 argues that the language is “relevant to his Monell claim and Dockendorf’s liability.” (Pl.’s 2 Response 15:11–12, ECF No. 16).

3 Under Rule 12(f), a “court may strike from a pleading . . . any redundant, immaterial, 4 impertinent, or scandalous matter.” Righthaven LLC v. Democratic Underground, LLC, 791 F.
5 Supp. 2d 968, 977 (D. Nev. 2011). Here, Plaintiff’s statement is too vague and conclusory to 6 be material to any issue in the Complaint. Accordingly, the Court grants the request to strike 7 the language from the Complaint.

8 IV. CONCLUSION

9 IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that Defendants’ Motion to Dismiss, (ECF No. 13), is 10 GRANTED in part and DENIED in part.

11 IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that Plaintiff’s claims are DISMISSED without 12 prejudice. Plaintiff shall have twenty-one days from the filing of this Order to file an amended 13 complaint. Failure to file an amended complaint by this date shall result in the Court 14 dismissing this action.

16 DATED this 29 day of March, 2017.
