UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
DISTRICT OF NEVADA

WILLIAM MCKNIGHT and ELLA
MCKNIGHT,

Plaintiffs

v.

NOBU HOSPITALITY GROUP LLC and DESERT PALACE, INC.,

Defendants

Case No.: 2:16-cv-02643-APG-PAL

Order (1) Denying Defendant's Motion to Dismiss and (2) Granting Defendants'
Motions to Strike

[ECF Nos. 59, 73]

9 This dispute arises from plaintiff William McKnight's slip and fall in the Nobu Hotel in 10 Caesars Palace. Over the course of nearly two years, the parties have disputed who the correct
11 defendants are. In response to an order and clarification from the court, the McKnights filed a 12 First Amended Complaint (FAC), naming Nobu Hospitality Group LLC and Desert Palace, Inc.
13 as defendants. The FAC, while not adding new claims, also added two pages of new language.
14 Nobu moves to dismiss the FAC or in the alternative, strike the newly added language. Nobu
15 contends the McKnights did not have the court's permission to add a new defendant, only to 16 substitute Desert Palace for Nobu. Nobu also contends that the newly added language violates 17 the court's order permitting amendment. Desert Palace moves to strike the new language on the 18 same grounds.

19 The McKnights respond that Magistrate Judge Leen allowed them to add Desert Palace
20 as a defendant, not simply to substitute it for Nobu. They also argue that the FAC does not add 21 any new causes of action and that any language differences are stylistic.

22 I deny Nobu's motion to dismiss, but grant the defendants' motions to strike in part. The 23 court granted the McKnights leave to file an amended complaint naming both defendants.

1 However, the court did not grant them permission to change anything else about their complaint.
2 Therefore, any language other than that identifying the newly added defendant Desert Palace
3 must be stricken as explained more fully below.

4 I. ANALYSIS

5 A. Nobu’s Motion to Dismiss

6 In June 2017, Magistrate Judge Leen entered an order granting the McKnights’ request to 7 substitute the proper party defendant. ECF No. 16. I affirmed this order in its entirety. ECF No.
8 48. In a scheduling conference on January 8, 2018, Judge Leen clarified that the McKnights had 9 leave to file an amended complaint naming both Nobu and Desert Palace as defendants, but
10 otherwise could not amend the complaint. Nobu did not file an objection to Judge Leen’s
11 statement at that hearing. “The district court is given broad discretion in supervising the pretrial
12 phase of litigation . . .” Miller v. Safeco Title Ins. Co., 758 F.3d 364, 369 (9th Cir. 1985). Judge
13 Leen’s clarification in the January hearing expressly allowed the McKnights to name both Nobu
14 and Desert Palace as defendants in the FAC. Therefore, I deny Nobu’s motion to dismiss.

15 B. Motions to Strike

16 Both defendants move to strike the new language in the FAC. They argue the McKnights 17 added sixteen new paragraphs and new language in thirteen other paragraphs, in violation of the 18 court’s order allowing amendment only to add a defendant. The McKnights respond that the 19 new language does not change the alleged claims and is the result of stylistic changes.<sup>1</sup>

22 <sup>1</sup> The McKnights also argue that Desert Palace’s motion to strike was filed after it
23 answered the complaint and is therefore improper. However, the answer and motion were filed at the same time, and Desert Palace’s answer stated the language and paragraphs at issue should be struck and that it was answering without waiving that objection. See ECF Nos. 72; 73.

1 Under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 15(a), once a responsive pleading is served, a
2 party may amend only with the opposing party's consent or the court's leave. In this case, the 3 McKnights sought the court's leave to amend their pleading, but it was granted only in part.
4 Judge Leen granted the McKnights leave to amend their pleading to add a defendant but for no
5 other purpose. To the extent that any of the new language in the FAC addresses the addition and 6 identification of Desert Palace as a defendant, it would be acceptable. However, Judge Leen did 7 not grant leave to amend the complaint in any other way.

8 The sixteen new paragraphs in the FAC are not simply "stylistic changes." Those 9 paragraphs set forth new allegations and theories of liability not included in the original
10 complaint, and are therefore improper amendments. Paragraphs 2, 3, 7, 10, 14, 16, 17, 19, 24, 11 25, 26, 32, 33, 34, 35, and 49 are stricken.

12 Some of the newly added language in other paragraphs is more a matter of style and 13 precision than anything else. For example, where the original complaint referred to 14 "Defendants," the FAC refers to "one or more of the Defendants." This specific phrasing in 15 paragraphs 1, 6, 21, 22, 28, 29, 30, 31, 37, 38, 40, 41, and 47 will not be stricken, as it pertains to 16 the addition of Desert Palace and does not materially change the complaint in any other way.
17 However, all other new language added in paragraphs 6, 12, and 30 is stricken, as that language
18 does not address the newly added defendant.

19 II. CONCLUSION

20 IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED that defendant Nobu Hospitality Group LLC's motion to 21 dismiss or in the alternative to strike (ECF No. 59) is GRANTED in part. I deny the motion to 22 dismiss but grant the motion to strike in part as described above.

1 IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that defendant Desert Palace, Inc.'s motion to strike (ECF
2 No. 73) is GRANTED in part as described above.

3 DATED this 7th day of August, 2018.
