1	UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
2	DISTRICT OF NEVADA
3	HERBIE MOORE,	Case No. 3:20-cv-00315-RCJ-WGC
4	Petitioner,
5	V.	ORDER
6	WILLIAM GITTERE, et al. ,
7	Respondents.
8	On April 29, 2021, the Court ordered Petitioner to show cause why Ground 1(a), (b), (c),
9	and (f) should not be dismissed based on his failure to exhaust those subclaims. (ECF No. 10.) In
10	response, Petitioner asserted that he was not aware that his post-conviction counsel withdrew those
11	claims after he had raised the claims pro se. (ECF No. 12.) Petitioner further seeks a stay and
12	abeyance so that he may exhaust those claims in state court. (Id. at 3-4.)
13	In Rhines v. Weber, 544 U.S. 269 (2005), the Supreme Court placed limitations upon the
14	district courts' discretion to facilitate habeas petitioners' return to state court to exhaust claims:
15	[S]tay and abeyance should be available only in limited circumstances. Because granting a stay effectively excuses a petitioner's failure to present his claims first to the state courts, stay and abeyance is only appropriate when the district court determines there was good cause for the petitioner's failure to exhaust his claims first in state court . Moreover, even if a petitioner had good cause for that failure, the district court would abuse its discretion if it were to grant him a stay when his unexhausted claims are plainly meritless. Cf. 28 U.S.C. § 2254(b)(2) ("An
19	application for a writ of habeas corpus may be denied on the merits, notwithstanding the failure of the applicant to exhaust the remedies available in the
20	courts of the State").
21	Id. at 277 (emphasis added). The Rhines Court further held that a district court would likely abuse
22	its discretion by denying a stay and dismissing a mixed petition "if the petitioner had good cause
23	for his failure to exhaust, his unexhausted claims are potentially meritorious, and there is no
24	indication that the petitioner engaged in intentionally dilatory litigation tactics." Id. at 278.
25	The Ninth Circuit has acknowledged that the Rhines "good cause" standard does not
26	require "extraordinary circumstances." Wooten v. Kirkland, 540 F.3d 1019, 1024 (9th Cir. 2008);
27		Jackson v. Roe, 425 F.3d 654, 661-62 (9th Cir. 2005). This Court has declined to prescribe the
28	strictest possible standard for issuance of a stay.	strictest possible standard for issuance of a stay. E.g., Riner v. Crawford, 415 F. Supp. 2d 1207,

1210 (D. Nev. 2006). "[G]ood cause under Rhines, at least in this Circuit, should not be so strict 1 a standard as to require a showing of some extreme and unusual event beyond the control of the 2 defendant." Id. Thus, a petitioner's confusion over whether his petition would be timely filed 3 4 constitutes good cause for the petitioner to file his unexhausted petition in federal court. Id. (citing 5 Pace v. DiGuglielmo, 544 U.S. 408, 416-17 (2005)). Ineffective assistance of post-conviction counsel or a lack of counsel can also constitute good cause. Blake v. Baker, 745 F.3d 977, 982-6 7 83 (9th Cir. 2014); Dixon v. Baker, 847 F.3d 714, 721 (9th Cir. 2017) (a "statement that 'there was 8 no counsel' in [the petitioner's] state post-conviction case is sufficient to establish good cause") 9 (quoting Martinez v. Ryan, 566 U.S. 1, 17 (2012)).

Petitioner alleged that his post-conviction counsel was ineffective for withdrawing the four ineffective assistance of counsel theories from consideration during the state habeas proceeding. (ECF No. 1-1.) The Court further finds that the unexhausted grounds are not "plainly meritless," and that Petitioner has not engaged in intentionally dilatory litigation tactics. Because Petitioner has satisfied Rhines as to at least one claim, this habeas action will be stayed and held in abeyance until he has presented his claims to the Nevada courts. Accordingly, this action is stayed pending exhaustion of the unexhausted claims in the petition.
