Hi Inga,

I think you got me wrong, or maybe I acted just a bit more aggressively than necessary.

I will explain the situation.

When you disappeared from MSN I was not expecting anything good. Then I waited, then asked Anna several times to check with you what's wrong, and so on and so forth. I've had no response from you, until today. Just put yourself in my position -- what was I supposed to think in that situation? That's the reason for all the subsequent reactions, if that's what put you off.

Regarding negotiations - I talked to Anna when she was in business. I would have definitely discussed everything with you too, if you expressed any interest. But you kept silent and I decided that that's what you wanted.

Now Anna told me that she's leaving the business. Therefore, you are the one I should be talking to now and, indeed, there are things that we need to discuss.

In fact, I have just a couple basic things:

- I want my mom and Taska to be paid for the designs (as soon as possible). I am in a very unpleasant situation because of all of this, as you may understand. As for the amount, it looks like you are right about the first trimester of 2007.

- I wanted to ask you to pay my compensation a bit faster, otherwise I have no resources left for developing new business. I'd be happy with $2.5K a month.

The rest are minor details.

So write me an email, I'm sure we'll reach an agreement on everything.

Polina
