ORDER

On December 5, 2017, certain tax information of the Plaintiff Jason Recor was provided to the Court for purposes of an in camera review pursuant to the Court's directive.

See Dkt. No. 253. The documents were provided in an electronic form that was initially inaccessible, but were then resubmitted on December 21, 2017, in a Google document form that was capable of review. That review has now been completed and has disclosed certain limited information that may be relevant to the issues at hand. Accordingly, counsel for Plaintiffs is directed to make a copy of the following pages¹ of the reviewed documents to be provided to Defendants' counsel: pp. 3-26, 29-54, 68-69, 75-76, 85-86, 89-163, 167, 170-172, 175-176, 179-180, 182-236, 242, 248, 250-252, 256, 260, 265, 267, 273-366, 368-383, 385-420, and 424-425.

The Court directs that the Plaintiffs' Counsel immediately retrieve from the Court's courtroom deputy, Daniel Krug, the LLJ Accounting, LLC tax documents, together with the paginated copy created by the Court, and maintain both sets of documents pending the final resolution of the case.

IT IS SO ORDERED.

Date: January 10, 2018.
Albany, New York

Daniel J. Stewart
U.S. Magistrate Judge

¹ The documents provided by LLJ Accounting, LLC, totaled 427 pages. The Court has created a paginated copy of the documents, and reference is made to that pagination which appears on the bottom center of each page.
