COMPLAINT IN INTERVENTION

The Intervenors.

1. Lewis Hyde is the Richard L. Thomas Professor of Creative Writing at Kenyon College and was formerly director of the creative-writing program at Harvard University. The University of Michigan library lists eight books authored by Professor Hyde that were presumably digitized by Google in the course of their creation of Google Book Search. These include The Gift (Random House, 1983), This Error is the Sign of Love (Milkweed Editions, 1988), and Trickster Makes this World (Farrar, Straus, 1998).
2. Harry Lewis is the Gordon McKay Professor of Computer Science at Harvard University and was formerly Dean of Harvard College. He is the author of Excellence Without a Soul: How a Great University Forgot Education (Public Affairs, 2006) and, co-author with Hal Abelson and Ken Ledeen of Blown to Bits: Your Life, Liberty, and Happiness After the Digital Explosion (Addison-Wesley, 2008).
3. Nicholas Negroponte is the Jerome B. Wiesner Professor of Media Technology at MIT, the Chairman Emeritus of the MIT Media Laboratory, and a founder of both Wired Magazine and the One Laptop Per Child Association. He is the author of Being Digital (Vintage Books, 1995).

4. Charles Nesson, is the William F. Weld Professor of Law at Harvard University, the founder of the Berkman Center for Internet & Society at Harvard, and co-author with Eric Green and Peter Murray of Evidence, (Aspen, 2000).

Complaint

5. The interests (and those interests of fair use and open access to knowledge of the reading public that Intervenor support) are not being adequately represented by the settling parties.

6. The settling parties are proposing to charge the public (including Intervenor) royalties for the use of orphaned works that do not belong to them, and to convert the proceeds from such charges to their own use. Users of orphaned works and the public domain are entitled to the revenue generated by orphaned works.

7. The Settling Parties are proposing an agreement that restrains trade in digitized books by establishing a substantial monopoly on all out-of-print books and a total monopoly on the subset of out-of print books that are orphan works.

8. The Settling Parties are proposing to establish a Copyright Registry Board of Directors with a Mandated Representation on the public interest in fair use.

9. Disposing of this action by approving the proposed settlement will, as a practical matter, impair and impede the Intervenor's ability to protect their interest.

Wherefore, Intervenor seek as immediate relief that the Court:

(1) deny approval to the Proposed Settlement;

(2) recognize Intervenor's claim as of right to intervene in this case and admit them as parties for purposes of all further proceedings and settlement negotiations, and

(3) declare the rights and legal relations of the parties as described in the memorandum in support of Intervenor's motion to intervene and in all other respects related to Google Books and any now- or later-proposed settlement."

Respectfully submitted,
