Dear Mr McMahon

Re: Authors Guild v. Google Inc., No. 05 – CIV-8136 (DC)

I write to object to the Proposed Settlement as a class member in support of the New Zealand Society of Author's objection. I am a New Zealand author and citizen and my books are published by New Zealand and Australian publishers. The grounds for my objection are:

- Court has misapplied the Berne Convention
- Court has exceeded its jurisdiction
- Author Sub-Class not applicable to NZ authors
- Insufficient notice to satisfy notice requirements
- Inadequate compensation
- Overriding contractual relationships between author and publisher
- Unfair treatment of non US authors
- Unfair treatment of non US public
- Antitrust issue surrounding the significant market power Google would acquire through the settlement

A full description of these reasons is enclosed in the NZSA's objection, including legal argument.

The Author's Guild et al v. Google Inc.

Doc. 416

I urge the Court to reject the Proposed Settlement on the grounds as detailed above.
Please provide written receipt of this objection

Yours truly,

Deborah Burnside
