these actions (collectively, the "parties" and individually a "party"), believe that in the course of these actions certain information, documents, and testimony are likely to be disclosed and produced through discovery that may constitute or incorporate trade secrets and other confidential research, development, or commercial information within the meaning of Rule 26(c) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

WHEREAS the parties believe that entry of a protective order pursuant to Rule 26(c) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure is necessary to protect such trade secrets and other confidential research, development, or commercial information; and

WHEREAS, the Court finds that good cause exists for the entry of this protective order in this action pursuant to Rule 26(c) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure in order to protect trade secrets and other confidential research, development, or commercial information,

IT IS HEREBY AGREED AND ORDERED, pursuant to Rule 26(c) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, that the discovery taken by the parties in the above captioned cases, or by any parties that are added to either of the above-captioned cases, shall be conducted under the following terms:

1. Any documents, things or information produced or otherwise furnished by any of the parties in discovery that is not generally known and that the producing party would normally not reveal to third parties, or if disclosed, would require such third parties to maintain in confidence, may be designated CONFIDENTIAL by the producing party or a party who is the original source of the document or information. The producing party shall effectuate the designation of CONFIDENTIAL documents or information by stamping or marking on the documents or other material the term CONFIDENTIAL. Those documents or information shall be maintained by the other parties to this action and their counsel in confidence and used only for the purposes of this case. To the extent that any such items are filed with the Clerk of Court or with the Court, they shall be placed in an envelope marked CONFIDENTIAL MATERIALS SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER and sealed. Such sealed envelopes shall be opened only by the Clerk of Court or by the Court, or their agents. As provided by Paragraph 20, use of such documents and information at trial shall be governed by the Pretrial Order, not this provision.

2. Documents or other materials designated as CONFIDENTIAL shall be restricted to the following persons:

- a. The Court and its employees;
- b. outside counsel retained by a party for representation in this case, including associated personnel necessary to assist outside counsel in the case, such as paralegals, litigation assistants, clerical staff, technical staff, and vendors who are actively engaged in assisting such counsel with respect to this litigation;
- c. any certified shorthand or court reporters retained to report a deponent's testimony taken in this litigation;
- d. experts or any person retained or used by counsel for any party to assist counsel with respect to this litigation, and clerical, administrative or support staff (including staff such as research assistants and analysts) of such experts
- e. persons shown on the face of the document to have authored or received it,
- f. deposition or trial witnesses (including use in connection with the preparation of said witnesses) to the extent necessary in connection with this matter;
- g. any person whom the parties agree, in advance and in writing, may receive such protected information;
- h. employees of any party, as reasonably necessary for purposes of this litigation, for use only in connection with this litigation;

3. Any documents, things or information produced or otherwise furnished by any of the parties in discovery that the producing party reasonably believes in good faith to contain source code; nonpublic patent applications or related things and documents; technical research and development information; revenue share or confidential pricing information; confidential commercial, material or other non-public terms in business agreements with third parties; competitive business strategies and forward-looking business plans, including identification of targets for potential investments, marketing plans, forecasts, and financial performance parameters; market share and revenue projections; valuation of investments or potential investments (including licensing agreements, equity investments and acquisitions); due diligence materials related to investments or potential investments (including licensing agreements, equity investments and acquisitions); nonpublic concepts and plans for new entertainment programming; personally identifying information concerning users (which shall not be construed to include any information a user posts or uploads for public viewing on any website); advertising rates (e.g., cost per mille, click, or action); or proprietary information regarding web site traffic, may be designated HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL by the producing party or a party who is the original source of the document or information. Such designation shall be made by marking the documents or material (or part(s) thereof) in a conspicuous manner. The marking shall state HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL or some similar marking. Access to materials designated HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL and to any portion of any transcript, brief, affidavit, memorandum or other paper that contains, reveals or refers to materials so designated is limited to those persons set forth in paragraphs 2(a) – (g) above. To the extent that any such items are filed with the Clerk of Court or with the Court, they shall be placed in an envelope marked HIGHLY

CONFIDENTIAL and sealed. Such sealed envelopes shall be opened only by the Clerk of Court or by the Court, or their agents. As provided by Paragraph 20, use of such documents and information at trial shall be governed by the Pretrial Order, not this provision.

4. Any documents, things or information produced or otherwise furnished by any of the parties in discovery that are designated "Confidential" or "Highly Confidential" and contain a party's Source Code may be designated "RESTRICTED CONFIDENTIAL-SOURCE CODE."

a. Source Code will be produced to designated outside counsel for the requesting party ("Source Code Custodian") on a portable hard disk drive ("HDD"). Any supplemental production of Source Code shall be made consistent with the means for production provided herein, or by a means agreed to by the parties, at the option of the producing party. No party can request that more than three (3) duplicate HDDs be produced to the Source Code Custodian.

b. At the producing party's option, the Source Code, HDD, or both may be encrypted prior to production. Information necessary to gain access to encrypted Source Code or an encrypted HDD shall be provided by counsel for the producing party to the Source Code Custodian by reasonable means meeting the security interests of the producing party;

c. Access to information designated RESTRICTED CONFIDENTIAL-SOURCE CODE shall be limited to Source Code Custodians and experts retained or used by counsel for any party to assist counsel with respect to this litigation.

d. The Source Code shall be viewed only on non-networked computers in secure, locked areas within the confines of a United States office of the individuals identified in Paragraph 4(c);

e. Electronic copies of Source Code shall only be made within the confines of the HDD, however a Source Code Custodian may include excerpts of Source Code of length no more than necessary for purposes of the litigation in a pleading, exhibit, expert report, discovery document, deposition transcript, other Court document, or any drafts of these documents ("Restricted Confidential Documents").

f. To the extent excerpts of Source Code are quoted in a Restricted Confidential Document, Source Code Custodians and the persons described in paragraphs 2(a)-(d), shall be permitted to store and access Restricted Confidential Documents on a computer and on a computer network that limits access to only necessary viewers; Source Code Custodians and the persons described in paragraph 2(a)-(d), may also send Restricted Confidential Documents to authorized persons via electronic mail;

g. To the extent portions of Source Code are quoted in a Restricted Confidential Document, those pages or exhibits containing quoted Source Code will be separately bound, stamped and treated as RESTRICTED CONFIDENTIAL-SOURCE CODE. When any Restricted Confidential Document is filed with the Court, the separately bound portion stamped and treated as RESTRICTED CONFIDENTIAL-SOURCE CODE shall be filed under seal. When hard copies of any Restricted Confidential Document are retained in the offices of the Source Code Custodian, the Source Code Custodian shall keep the separately bound portions stamped and treated as RESTRICTED CONFIDENTIAL-SOURCE CODE in a secure, locked area of the office of the Source Code Custodian or destroy them in a manner that ensures they cannot be salvaged, such as cross-shred shredding or incineration;

h. Each Restricted Confidential Document or draft thereof containing Source

Code stored on a computer or computer network shall be individually password-protected so as to limit access to authorized persons;

i. Any and all printouts or photocopies of Restricted Confidential Documents or documents that otherwise contain Source Code shall be marked "RESTRICTED CONFIDENTIAL-SOURCE CODE." Should such printouts or photocopies be transferred back to electronic media, such media shall continue to be labeled "RESTRICTED CONFIDENTIAL-SOURCE CODE" and shall continue to be treated as such.

j. The Source Code Custodian shall maintain a log of all Restricted Confidential Documents or other files containing Source Code that are printed or photocopied.

k. If the Source Code Custodian or a party's expert, described in paragraph 2(d), makes printouts or photocopies of portions of Source Code, the Source Code Custodian shall keep the printouts or photocopies in a secured locked area of the office of the Source Code Custodian or destroy them in a manner that ensures they cannot be salvaged, such as cross-shred shredding or incineration.

l. The Source Code Custodian may temporarily keep or view the HDD or other materials containing Source Code at: (i) the sites where any depositions relating to the Source Code are taken for the dates associated with the taking of the deposition; (ii) the Court; or (iii) any intermediate location reasonably necessary to transport the information (e.g., a hotel prior to a deposition), provided that the Source Code Custodian takes all necessary precautions to protect the confidentiality of the HDD or other materials containing Source Code while the materials are in such intermediate locations.

5. Any copies, photographs, depictions, excerpts, notes concerning, or other information generated from an inspection of the matters designated CONFIDENTIAL or HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL shall be treated in the same manner as material marked CONFIDENTIAL or HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL.

6. In the case of a deposition:

a. Deposition transcripts shall be deemed temporarily designated as HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL, provided that within thirty (30) days after receipt of the transcript, counsel shall review the transcript and designate only those pages of the transcript that the designating party believes constitute, reflect, or disclose HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL information. If no specific designation is made, the entire transcript will be deemed CONFIDENTIAL. Notwithstanding any automatic or specific designations under this paragraph, the other parties may object to HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL or CONFIDENTIAL designations pursuant to paragraph 11.

b. Counsel for any party or the witness may also designate during a deposition that certain information disclosed during a deposition is to be treated as HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL by indicating on the record of the deposition and shall be part of a separate transcript of such material.

c. Notwithstanding the automatic designation of the deposition transcript as HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL pursuant to Paragraph 6(a), in-house counsel may attend any depositions. In-house counsel may be required to leave for portions of the deposition at the request of counsel taking or defending the deposition if that portion of the deposition involves information designated on the record as HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL.

d. When information or documents designated HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL are disclosed or discussed during a deposition, counsel for the witness or any party who may be affected by disclosure shall have the right to exclude from attendance during that portion of the deposition any person who is not entitled to receive such HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL information or documents pursuant to this Order. The presence of in-house counsel at a deposition (or the failure to request in-house counsel to leave for portions of a deposition when HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL information is discussed) does not constitute a waiver or preclude a party from designating all or part of the transcript of that deposition HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL.

7. An expert or any person retained or used by counsel for any party to assist counsel with respect to this litigation ("expert") may be shown Highly Confidential documents, things and information after compliance with this provision. (This provision does not apply to employees of a party who may provide expert advice or testimony but who will not see any other party's Highly Confidential information.) Any person working to support an expert shall be subject to this disclosure procedure if that person has himself served as a consultant or expert directly (rather than in a supporting capacity) on consulting or litigation matters that must be included on a CV under subparagraph a.

a. Before an expert reviews Highly Confidential information produced by any party in these cases (including any information that the retaining party has designated or intends to designate as Highly Confidential), the retaining party must disclose the identity of the expert to the other parties, along with a copy of the expert's curriculum vitae, including a list of non-litigation consulting retentions and list of matters in which the expert has been retained as a testifying expert (including testifying by deposition) within the preceding 5 years. Within 7 calendar days of such disclosure, another party may object to the expert if the objecting party believes that additional protections beyond those set forth in this Protective Order are necessary to protect that party's Highly Confidential information with respect that expert. If no objection is made within 7 calendar days of the disclosure of the expert's identity, then any such objection is waived, and the expert may view all Highly Confidential information produced in the case. The identities of the experts disclosed under this provision shall be treated as CONFIDENTIAL information under this protective order.

b. If a timely objection is made under subparagraph (a), the parties shall meet and confer to attempt to resolve the objection during the following 10 calendar days. If an agreement is reached resolving the issue within the 10-day meet-and-confer period, the agreement shall be filed with the Court.

c. If no agreement is reached with the 10-day meet-and-confer period under subparagraph (b), the objecting party may file a motion within 5 calendar days for an additional protective order concerning the expert's access to that party's Highly Confidential documents. If no motion for additional protective order is made within 5 calendar days after the expiration of the 10-day meet-and-confer period provided by subparagraph (b), then any objection is waived and the expert may view all Highly Confidential information produced in the case.

d. If a motion for additional protective order is timely filed within the 5-day period provided by subparagraph (c), the party retaining the expert shall have 3 calendar days to respond. No discovery of any kind shall be permitted in connection with such motion. It shall be the duty of both the objecting party and the responding party to request expedited resolution of the dispute by the Court. There shall be a rebuttable presumption that the existing provisions of this Protective Order are adequate, and the objecting party shall have the burden of persuasion to establish that additional protections, beyond the restrictions imposed by this Protective Order, are necessary under the standards of Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(c) to protect the party's Highly Confidential information. Relief that prohibits a retained expert's access to Highly Confidential information shall only be imposed if the Court is unable to impose other protections that reasonably safeguard the party's Highly Confidential information while also preserving the ability of the expert to access such information in order to assist counsel of the party retaining the expert.

e. No party shall be entitled to take any discovery of or regarding any expert disclosed hereunder, unless such expert is disclosed as a testifying expert pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(a)(2)(A). Discovery of such testifying experts shall be governed by the Stipulations Regarding Expert Discovery entered into by the parties in these cases. All other experts whose identities are disclosed hereunder shall be deemed to be consulting experts, and the activities, communications, impressions, and opinions of such experts shall be deemed to be privileged work product as to which no discovery may be had.

8. Notwithstanding anything herein to the contrary, (a) the filing of any information designated CONFIDENTIAL or HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL under seal shall be governed by the applicable Rules of the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York; (b) the party who designated the document, interrogatory answer, response to request for admission, or transcript as CONFIDENTIAL or HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL shall be deemed to be the party requesting the record be filed under seal; and (c) the other parties shall have no obligation hereunder with respect to the requirements of any applicable rule other than to cooperate in the request. Any information designated as CONFIDENTIAL or HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL may be introduced in any pretrial court proceeding in this case in open court unless the producing party obtains an appropriate protective order from the Court, and provided the party seeking to introduce the material has provided sufficient notice to the producing party of the intent to introduce or file the confidential material in open court to enable the producing party to obtain such an order.

9. Except for individuals designated in paragraphs 2. a., b., c., e., and f., all persons to whom any information subject to this Protective Order is disclosed shall, prior to any disclosure to them, be provided a copy of this Protective Order and execute a protective agreement in the form attached as Exhibit A to this Protective Order.

10. Any person provided CONFIDENTIAL or HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL information or documents pursuant to the terms of this protective order will maintain that information and documents in confidence and use it only for the purposes of this litigation.

11. No party shall be obligated to challenge the propriety of a designation of Discovery Materials as Confidential or Highly Confidential when initially received, and a failure to do so shall not preclude a subsequent challenge thereto. If, at any time, a party objects to a designation of Designated Discovery Materials as Confidential or Highly Confidential under this Stipulation and Order, the objecting party shall notify the Disclosing Party in writing. Within 10 calendar days of the receipt of such notification, counsel for the Disclosing Party and the objecting party shall meet-and-confer in an effort to resolve any disagreement regarding those Designated Discovery Materials. If, for whatever reason, the parties do not resolve their disagreement within that time period, the Disclosing Party may apply within 10 days from the conclusion of the meet and confer period for a ruling on the Disclosing Party's designation of the Designated Discovery Materials as Confidential or Highly Confidential. While any such application is pending, the documents or materials subject to that application will remain Confidential or Highly Confidential until the Court rules. If the parties do not resolve their disagreement and the Disclosing Party does not apply to the court for a ruling on its designation of Designated Discovery Materials as Confidential within 20 calendar days from the date of receipt of the notification, the Discovery Materials in question will no longer be deemed Confidential or Highly Confidential. The Disclosing Party shall have the burden of showing that the document or information is Confidential or Highly Confidential.

12. The inadvertent or unintentional production or failure to designate any information as CONFIDENTIAL or HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL shall not be deemed a waiver of the producing party's claim of confidentiality as to such information and the producing party may thereafter designate such information as CONFIDENTIAL or HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL as appropriate.

13. The inadvertent or unintentional production of documents or other information containing privileged information or attorney work product shall be governed by the terms of the parties' nonwaiver agreement dated August 3, 2007, which is incorporated herein by reference, and made applicable to any parties subsequently added.

14. CONFIDENTIAL or HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL information, including all copies and/or extracts thereof, and all information derived therefrom, shall be held in strict confidence by the receiving party in accordance with the terms of this Order and shall not be disclosed other than as necessary for, or used for any purpose other than, the prosecution or defense of this action by the original parties to the Original Complaint or the parties named in a later amended Complaint, in the action styled VIACOM INTERNATIONAL INC., COMEDY PARTNERS, COUNTRY MUSIC TELEVISION, INC., PARAMOUNT PICTURES CORPORATION, and BLACK ENTERTAINMENT TELEVISION LLC, Plaintiffs, v. YOUTUBE, INC. YOUTUBE, LLC, AND GOOGLE INC., Defendants, No. 07-CV-2103, filed with this Court on March 13, 2007, and the action styled THE FOOTBALL ASSOCIATION PREMIER LEAGUE LIMITED and BOURNE CO., on behalf of themselves and all others similarly situated, Plaintiffs, v. YOUTUBE, INC. YOUTUBE, LLC, AND GOOGLE INC., Defendants. No. 07-CV-3582, filed with this Court on May 4, 2007. In particular, neither CONFIDENTIAL nor HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL, nor any copies and/or extracts thereof nor anything derived therefrom shall be disclosed in any way to any person, attorney, government agency, or expert for use in any other litigation or contemplated litigation, or for any other purpose extraneous to this litigation.

15. In the event a receiving party is served with legal process seeking production of CONFIDENTIAL or HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL material obtained through discovery and protected hereunder, the receiving party shall promptly notify the producing party or non-party whose material is sought, of the service of legal process and afford the producing party or non-party the opportunity to object thereto.

16. Within 60 days of the final conclusion of this proceeding, including any appeal, or upon the settlement and/or dismissal of the proceeding, all documents and things or information subject to this Protective Order shall be returned to the party that produced them, or shall be destroyed. Counsel for each party will certify in writing their compliance with the provisions of this section. Counsel for the parties may preserve work product and privileged documents, and one hard copy and one electronic copy of each pleading, correspondence and deposition transcript, in their permanent files even though such documents may reflect or contain confidential documents or information. The conclusion of this proceeding shall not relieve any person or party from any of the requirements imposed by this Protective Order.

17. Any non-party subpoenaed or requested to produce documents and things or information, or to give deposition testimony, shall have the full benefits and protections of this Protective Order, and may designate documents or deposition testimony as CONFIDENTIAL or HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL in the manner, and subject to the same protections, set forth above.

18. Nothing contained in this Protective Order, nor any action taken in compliance with it, shall operate as an admission by any party or third party that any particular information is or is not CONFIDENTIAL or HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL matter within the contemplation of the law or prejudice in any way the right of any party or third party to seek a Court determination of whether or not any particular materials should be disclosed or if disclosed whether or not it should be subject to the terms of this Order. Further, nothing contained in this Protective Order shall operate as an admission by any party or third party as to the relevance, discoverability, authenticity or admissibility of any information or category or information addressed herein.

19. The relevance or admissibility of this Order for any purpose in this proceeding is reserved for the future decision of the Court.

20. The use of information designated by any party as CONFIDENTIAL or HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL at trial shall be governed by the Pretrial Order entered in the action.

21. Nothing herein shall impose any restrictions on the use or disclosure by a party of its own CONFIDENTIAL or HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL information.

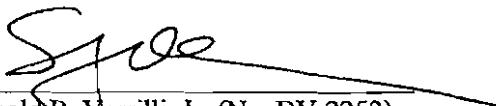

22. The provisions of this Order shall not preclude any party from seeking from the Court, for good cause shown, additional protections or limitations on the use of certain documents or information as permitted by Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(c).

EXHIBIT APROTECTIVE AGREEMENT ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I hereby acknowledge that I am being given access to Confidential and/or Highly Confidential information that is the subject of a Protective Order in the case entitled Viacom International Inc., Comedy Partners, Country Music Television, Inc., Paramount Pictures Corporation, and Black Entertainment Television LLC v. YouTube, Inc., YouTube, LLC, and Google, Inc., Civil File No. 07-CV-2103 (LLS) (FM), or THE FOOTBALL ASSOCIATION PREMIER LEAGUE LIMITED and BOURNE CO., on behalf of themselves and all others similarly situated, Plaintiffs, v. YOUTUBE, INC. YOUTUBE, LLC, AND GOOGLE INC., Defendants. No. 07-CV-3582, pending before the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York. I agree that I shall maintain that Confidential and/or Highly Confidential information in confidence and will use it for no other purpose than as provided in paragraph 1 of the Protective Order. I understand that I can be subject to sanctions for violation of this agreement, and I hereby submit myself to the jurisdiction of the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York, for the purpose of any proceeding arising out of a purported violation by me of the Protective Order. I further agree that upon the conclusion of my having any need for further access to confidential information provided to me, or upon request by the person making them available to me or Order of the Court, I shall return to the person making them available to me all Confidential and Highly Confidential items provided and all copies thereof.

NON-WAIVER AGREEMENT

WHEREAS, Plaintiffs Viacom International Inc., Comedy Partners, Country Music Television, Inc., Paramount Pictures Corporation, and Black Entertainment Television LLC, and Plaintiffs The Football Association Premier League Limited and Bourne Co., on behalf of themselves and all others similarly situated, and Defendants YouTube, Inc., YouTube, LLC, and Google Inc. (collectively, "the parties") have agreed to produce all documents deemed discoverable under the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, including Electronically Stored Information ("ESI"), that are responsive to each other's discovery requests and not privileged or otherwise exempted from discovery under the Federal Rules of Evidence, Federal Rules of Civil Procedure or other applicable source of law;

WHEREAS, some of the ESI and other documents produced in this matter may contain attorney-client privileged communications or other information protected as "privileged" under the Federal Rules of Evidence and not subject to discovery under the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure or the Federal Rules of Evidence ("Privileged Material");

WHEREAS, some of the produced ESI and other documents in this matter may contain protected attorney work-product material prepared or compiled in anticipation of litigation and not subject to discovery under the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure or the Federal Rules of Evidence ("Work-Product Material");

WHEREAS, the parties acknowledge that, despite each party's best efforts to conduct a thorough pre-production review of all ESI and other documents, some Work Product Material and Privileged Material (together "Protected Material") may be inadvertently disclosed to the other party during the course of this litigation;

WHEREAS, the volume of potentially discoverable ESI may substantially increase the total volume of documents that will be produced by the parties, thereby exacerbating the risk of inadvertent disclosure of Protected Material;

WHEREAS, the undersigned parties desire (a) to establish a mechanism to avoid waiver of privilege or any other applicable protective evidentiary doctrine as a result of the inadvertent disclosure of Protected Material; and (b) to keep disclosed Protected Material confidential to the maximum extent possible;

IT IS HEREBY STIPULATED AND AGREED by the parties that the following clauses of this Agreement shall govern the disclosure of Protected Material in this action.

1. The inadvertent disclosure of any document which is subject to a legitimate claim that the document should have been withheld from disclosure as Protected Material shall NOT waive any privilege or other applicable protective doctrine for that document or for the subject matter of the inadvertently disclosed document if the producing party, within 48 hours of becoming aware of the disclosure, promptly requests its destruction and takes reasonable precautions to avoid such inadvertent disclosure.
2. Except in the event that the receiving party disputes the claim, any documents which the producing party deems to contain inadvertently disclosed Protected Material shall be, upon written request or oral notice if notice must be delivered at a deposition, promptly destroyed. This includes all copies, electronic or otherwise, of any such documents, except that no party shall be required to take any action with respect to data that is stored on any backup media that is used for disaster recovery purposes, provided that the receiving party agrees that it will not access any such protected documents on such media. The receiving party shall provide written certification of compliance within thirty (30) days of such a request.

3. In the event that the receiving party disputes the producing party's claim as to the protected nature of the inadvertently disclosed material, a single set of copies may be sequestered and retained by and under the control of receiving party for the sole purpose of seeking determination of the issue pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 26(b)(5)(B) by the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York ("the Court"). If the receiving party disputes the producing party's claim, the receiving party may not use or disclose the information until the privilege claim has been resolved in the receiving party's favor.

4. If Protected Material has already been disclosed, the party causing such disclosure shall, within 48 hours of becoming aware of the inadvertent disclosure, inform the person receiving the Protected Material, make his or her best efforts to retrieve the Protected Material, destroy the Protected Material upon retrieval or arrange for the Protected Material to be destroyed, if possible, and promptly inform the producing party of the disclosure. The receiving party shall provide written certification that the Protected Material was destroyed within thirty (30) days of such a request, and if not destroyed, provide the circumstances of the non-destruction.

5. To the extent that the information contained in a document subject to a claim has already been used in or described in other documents generated or maintained by the receiving party, then the receiving party will sequester such documents until the claim has been resolved. The producing party shall preserve the specified information until the claim is resolved.

6. The receiving party shall have ten (10) days from receipt of notification of the inadvertent production to determine in good faith whether to contest such claim and to notify the producing party in writing of an objection to the claim of privilege and the grounds for that objection. It is understood that the fact of the production itself shall not be asserted as a ground for waiver of privilege.

7. The producing party will then have ten (10) days from the receipt of the objection notice to submit the specified information to the Court under seal for a determination of the claim and will provide the Court with the grounds for the asserted privilege or protection. Any party may request expedited treatment of any request for the Court's determination of the claim.

8. Upon a determination by the Court that the specified information is protected by the applicable privilege, and if the specified information has been sequestered rather than destroyed, the specified information shall be destroyed pursuant to the procedures outlined in Paragraph 2.

9. The receiving party shall have no confidentiality obligations with respect to any information which:

- a. is already known to the receiving party without restriction;
- b. is or becomes publicly known otherwise than by the receiving party's breach of this Agreement;
- c. is received by the receiving party without restriction from a third party who is not under an obligation of confidentiality;
- d. is independently developed by the receiving party;
- e. is approved for release by written authorization of the producing party; or
- f. is disclosed by the receiving party pursuant to judicial action, provided that producing party is notified at the time such action is initiated.

10. Any Protected Material disclosed by the producing party to the receiving party pursuant to this Agreement shall be and remain the property of the producing party.

11. No inadvertent production in this matter of a document for which a claim of privilege is later asserted shall constitute a waiver of any privileges or work product protections of the document in any other action, administrative proceeding, arbitration, or mediation or with any parties that are not signatories to this Agreement.

12. This Agreement terminates and supersedes all prior understandings or agreements on the subject matter hereof and is intended to supplement the stipulated pre-trial Protective Order entered into by the parties.

13. The parties agree to ask the Court to integrate this Agreement into its Case Management Order for, Viacom International, Inc., et al. v. YouTube Inc., et al., C.A. 07 civ 2103 (S.D.N.Y.) and for The Football Association Premier League Limited and Bourne Co., on behalf of themselves and all others similarly situated, v. YouTube Inc., et al., C.A. 07 civ 3582 (S.D.N.Y.). In the event the complaint in either action is amended to add plaintiffs, or in the event documents are produced in either action by any non-party, such plaintiffs or persons will be held to be embraced by this non-waiver agreement.

14. This Agreement shall be binding on the parties hereto when signed regardless of whether or when the Court enters its Agreement thereon.

15. Nothing herein shall prevent any party from applying to the Court for a modification of this Agreement should the moving party believe the Agreement, as originally agreed upon, is hampering its efforts to prepare for trial; or from applying to the Court for further or additional protective Agreements; or from an Agreement between the parties to any modification of this Agreement, subject to the approval of the Court.

16. This Agreement shall survive the final termination of this case regarding any retained documents or contents thereof.

17. It is understood and agreed that this Agreement may be executed in counterpart, and if so executed, will become effective when all of the parties hereto affix their signatures to a counterpart copy.

18. To the extent there may be inconsistency between the aforementioned stipulations in this Agreement and Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 26(b)(5) and the accompanying Committee Note, the aforementioned stipulations shall control.
