No, this is actually an abuse of our Terms of Use when a user uploads what we call "serial uploads" which is basically a piece of long form content that they have broken up into parts and then uploaded segments of onto YouTube to get past our ten minute limit. An example would be one video called Seinfeld episode 23 part 1, and the next video would be called Seinfeld episode 23 part 2. These would be considered serial uploads. This is referring to accounts that have the ten minute limitation, not director accounts.
