Dear Judge Katz:

Anwar et al v. Fairfield Greenwich Limited et al

Doc. 236

We represent plaintiffs in the Derivative Actions, and write in opposition to Mr. Cunha's letter, dated September 8, 2009 ("Cunha Letter"), requesting "permission to file" a Sur-Reply in Further Opposition to Derivative Plaintiffs' Motions to Remand ("Sur-Reply") and Further Supplemental Declaration of Paul J. Sirkis ("Further Declaration"; collectively, "Sur-Reply Papers"). These papers, filed yesterday without the Court's permission, should be stricken.

The Sur-Reply Papers address no issues that could not have been raised in defendants' July 27, 2009 opposition brief. Defendants state that the Sur-Reply Papers are intended "principally" to address issues relating to their jurisdictional discovery, see Cunha Letter -- including the fact that, in their prior opposition papers, they relied on subpoena responses that "did not clearly indicate" whether various "beneficial holders" were "current investors." See Sur-Reply at 1 (emphasis in original). But those problems are of defendants' own making, and could easily have been avoided by defendants when they pursued the discovery.¹ Plaintiffs' reply brief, which pointed out obvious errors in defendants' July 27 opposition brief, does not entitle defendants to file a sur-reply. See ADR/JB, Corp. v. MCY III, Inc., 299 F. Supp. 2d 110, 116 (E.D.N.Y. 2004) (denying motion to file sur-reply, which “raises no arguments or issues that could not have been considered by [movant] in its opposition papers.”).

¹ Indeed, in seeking leave to take the jurisdictional discovery, defendants represented that it was "necessary" to discover the "dates since May 1, 2006" that various persons had

The Sur-Reply also unnecessarily delays resolution of the remand motions, which were filed months ago.² See In re Livent, Inc. Noteholders Sec. Litig., 355 F. Supp. 2d 722, 734 n.11 (S.D.N.Y. 2005) (Marrero, J.) (denying request for leave to submit sur-reply papers, which would result in “unnecessary delays”). Indeed, due to the numerous factual and legal errors in the Sur-Reply, a sur-sur-reply would be required, further delaying the proceedings.³

We note, finally, that although purporting to request “permission” to file the Sur-Reply Papers, see Cunha Letter, defendants filed the papers without the Court’s permission.⁴ This tactic circumvents the process of requesting leave of Court, thus warranting the striking of the papers. See Colida v. Nokia Am. Corp., 05 CV 9920, 2006 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 64578, at *10-11 (S.D.N.Y. Sept. 11, 2006); Richard Feiner and Co. v. Turner Entm’t Co., 96 CV 1472, 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 21074, at *1 (S.D.N.Y. Oct. 21, 2004).

Respectfully,

beneficial interests, see Letter of Mark Cunha to Judge Katz, dated Apr. 16, 2009, at 3-4; and the Court explicitly noted the proposed discovery requests in granting defendants’ application to take the discovery and to adjourn the briefing schedule on the remand motions. See Anwar v. Fairfield Greenwich Ltd., 2009 U.S. LEXIS 37077, at *9-10 (S.D.N.Y. May 1, 2009).

² The remand motions in Ferber, Pierce and Morning Mist were filed on April 8, April 14 and June 8, 2009, respectively.

³ For example, as before, defendants rely on hearsay statements of non-parties to make their jurisdictional arguments. See Exhs. 1 and 2 to Further Declaration. Defendants also continue to count deceased individuals in quantifying the “current” beneficial holders. See Further Declaration ¶ 5; Plfs’ Reply Mem., dated Aug. 21, 2009, at 7.

⁴ See, e.g., Dkt Nos. 232, 234 (09 CV 0118).
