Jennifer:

Durango is in receipt of your letter of today and, as a show of good faith, is willing to produce all of its available electronic residual reports, even though most of the material is irrelevant to the present litigation. This is the first of 22 e-mails, with each separate e-mail including monthly reports of residuals received by Durango from each individual processor. The e-mails are in alphabetical order of processors, for convenience. Durango demands that the attachments of all 22 related e-mails be treated as HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL, with the materials available only to counsel and not clients.

Durango is continuing its search of records pursuant to your request, and is now using the information from Frontline's recent document production to facilitate same. Specifically, because Durango does not keep application documents (such as those produced by Frontline), it now has additional information (i.e. the names of individual principals) to use in a search. As such, we expect to respond to you with further details prior to the Monday depositions-

Todd
