Hi Krish,

As we discussed, we provide reminder announcements when the trading window will be opened (after earnings have been released) and/or closed (15 days prior to quarter end). You have been added to the list of insiders who will receive these notices on a go forward basis. Attached for your information is our policy. PEOPLESUPPORT, INC.

Statement of Company Policy on

Securities Trades by Company Personnel and Confidential Information

1. Purpose. Both the Securities and Exchange Commission (the "SEC") and Congress are very concerned about maintaining the fairness of the U.S. securities markets. The securities laws are continually reviewed and amended to prevent people from taking unfair advantage by trading securities on the basis of material, non-public information, tipping, or disclosing material non-public information to outsiders and to increase the punishment for those who do. These laws require publicly-traded companies to have clear policies on insider trading. If companies like ours do not take active steps to adopt preventive policies and procedures covering securities trades by company personnel, the consequences could be severe.

In addition, we are adopting this Statement of Company Policy on Securities Trades by Company Personnel and Confidential Information (this "Statement of Company Policy") to avoid even the appearance of improper conduct on the part of anyone employed by or associated with our company (not just so-called insiders). We have all worked hard to establish our reputation for integrity and ethical conduct. We cannot afford to have it damaged.

This Statement of Company Policy applies equally to employees, consultants and directors of PeopleSupport, Inc. and of companies owned by PeopleSupport, Inc. (all of which are referred to collectively for convenience as the "Company"). This Statement of Company policy will also apply to certain designated outsiders.

2. The Consequences. The consequences of insider trading violations can be substantial:

For individuals who trade on inside information (or tip information to others):

- A jail term of up to twenty years;
- A civil penalty of up to three times the profit gained or loss avoided; and
- A criminal fine (no matter how small the profit) of up to $5 million.

For a company (as well as possibly any supervisory person) that fails to take appropriate steps to prevent illegal trading:

- A civil penalty of the greater of $1 million or three times the profit gained or loss avoided as a result of the employee's violation; and

PeopleSupport reserves the right to review and amend this policy at any time.

Insider Trading Policy

Date: 05-01-08
 Issued By: Legal Department

- A criminal penalty of up to $25 million.

Further, if an employee violates the Company's insider trading policy, Company imposed sanctions, including dismissal for cause, could result from failing to comply with the Company's policy or procedures. Needless to say, any of the above consequences, even an SEC investigation that does not result in prosecution, can tarnish one's reputation and irreparably damage a career.

3. Our Policy.

No trading on the basis of material non-public information. If any employee has material non-public information (often referred to as "insider information") relating to our Company, it is our policy that neither that person nor any related person may buy or sell securities of the Company or engage in any other action to take advantage of, or pass on to others, that information. This policy also applies to information relating to any other company, including our customers, partners or suppliers, obtained in the course of employment.

Transactions that may be necessary or justifiable for independent reasons (such as the need to raise money for an emergency expenditure) are no exception. Even the appearance of an improper transaction must be avoided to preserve our reputation for adhering to the highest standards of conduct.

What is Material Information? "Material information" is any information that a reasonable investor would consider important in deciding whether to buy, hold or sell securities of the Company. In short, "material information" includes any information that reasonably could affect the price of the stock. Either positive or negative information may be material. It can be information about the Company or about a company with which we do business.

Examples: Common examples of information that will frequently be regarded as material are:

- projections of future revenue, earnings or losses and strategic plans;
- financial performance, including quarterly and year-end earnings, revenues, expenses, results of operations and cash flow, and significant changes in financial performance;
- news of a possible merger, acquisition or tender offer;
- news of a significant sale of assets or subsidiaries;
- significant new services or delays in the introduction or development of new services;
- change in or curtailment of operations or of significant facilities;
- discoveries, or grants or allowances or disallowances of patents;
- changes in dividend policies or the declaration of a stock split or the offering of additional securities;
- changes in management;

PeopleSupport reserves the right to review and amend this policy at any time.

- plans to raise additional capital through stock sales or otherwise;
- the gain or loss of a significant service or product sale, customer or collaborator;
- impending bankruptcy or financial liquidity problems; and
- the gain or loss of a substantial customer or supplier.

This list is not exhaustive and, depending upon the circumstances, other information may be material. In short, if you would consider the information in making an investment decision, you should assume it is material. When in doubt, contact the Chief Executive Officer for advice. Again, even the appearance of improper conduct must be avoided!

Twenty-Twenty Hindsight. Remember, if your securities transactions become the subject of scrutiny, they will be viewed after-the-fact with the benefit of hindsight. As a result, before engaging in any transaction you should carefully consider how regulators and others might view your transaction in hindsight.

Transactions by Family Members. The same restrictions apply to your family members and others living in your household. Employees are expected to be responsible for the compliance of their immediate family and personal household.

Do Not Pass Information to Others. Whether the information is proprietary information about our Company or information that could have an impact on our stock price, employees must not pass the information on to others. It is illegal to advise others to trade on the basis of undisclosed material information. Liability in these cases can extend to both the "tippee" — the person to whom the insider disclosed inside information — and you, as the "tipper," and will apply whether or not you derive any benefit from another's actions.

Size of Transaction and Reason for Transaction Do Not Matter. The size of the transaction or the amount of profit received by you or the tippee does not have to be significant to result in prosecution. The SEC has the ability to monitor even the smallest trades and the SEC performs routine market surveillance. Brokers or dealers are required by law to inform the SEC of any possible violations by people who may have material non-public information. The SEC aggressively investigates even small insider trading violations.

When Information is Public. Generally, information becomes public when it has been widely disseminated to the public through SEC filings, or national news services or financial news services. Information provided through a quarterly or special conference call or webcast that is made available to the general public is also public information, so long as the conference call or webcast is promoted to the general public through an SEC filing or press release using a national wire service. As you can appreciate, it is also improper for any employee to enter a trade immediately after the Company has made a public announcement of material information, including earnings releases. We impose certain "trading blackouts" to ensure that the Company's stockholders and the investing public will be afforded the time to receive the information and act upon it. These are discussed below under the heading "Trading Blackouts."

Pre-Clearance of Trades. To provide assistance in preventing inadvertent violations and avoiding even the appearance of an improper transaction (which could result, for example, where an employee engages in a trade while unaware of a pending major development) - all members of the Board of Directors, officers and certain employees in a position to have access to material non-public information are subject to pre-clearance in writing by our Chief Executive Officer or, in his absence, our Chief Financial Officer, of all transactions in Company stock (acquisitions, dispositions, transfers, etc.). Pre-Clearance of trades by the Chief Executive Officer or the Chief Financial Officer shall not be unreasonably withheld. You will be notified if you are one of the specified employees subject to this policy. Pre-clearance is subject to a two-week expiration and must be renewed by the applicant to be valid.

Pre-clearance does not relieve anyone of their responsibility under SEC rules. All employees, whether subject to pre-clearance or not, are responsible for adherence to this Statement of Company Policy, including, but not limited to: not trading on insider information; not trading during trading blackout periods; not trading for two days after earnings announcements; and not trading in securities on a short-term basis. Employees normally not subject to pre-clearance are still responsible for written pre-clearance for the sale of stock purchased in the open market and that has been owned less than six months. If any employee is in doubt of whether or not pre-clearance is required, the employee should inquire with our Chief Executive Officer or obtain pre-clearance as a cautionary measure.

Trading Blackouts. From time to time, the Company may require that members of the Board of Directors, officers, selected employees and others suspend trading because of developments known to the Company and not yet disclosed to the public. In that event, these persons are advised not to engage in any transaction involving the purchase or sale of the Company's securities during that period and should not disclose to others the fact that they have been suspended from trading. The Company will also require the following mandatory trading blackouts:

- Earnings Trading Blackouts – All members of the Board of Directors, officers, and certain employees in a position to have access to material non-public information will be subject to a stock trading blackout period beginning on the 15th day of the month prior to the end of a fiscal quarter until two trading days after earnings for that quarter are released. You will be notified if you are one of the specified employees subject to this policy.
- Trading After Earnings Announcements – In addition to those employees subject to earnings trading blackout periods, all employees are restricted from engaging in transactions until two trading days after quarterly earnings are released. Thus, if an earnings announcement is made before the stock market opens on a Monday, Wednesday would be the first day on which you should trade. If an earnings announcement is made after the stock market closes on a Monday, Thursday would be the first day on which you should trade.

PeopleSupport reserves the right to review and amend this policy at any time.

Issued By: Legal Department

Of course, no trading should be done at any time that a member of the Board of Directors, officer or employee is actually aware of a major undisclosed corporate development.

Pre-Planned Trading Programs. Members of the Board of Directors, officers and employees who are subject to preclearance of trades may establish a pre-planned trading program designed to enable those persons to take advantage of the defense to an allegation of insider trading offered by Rule 10b5-1 of the SEC. Any such program must be approved in advance by our Chief Executive Officer and must be in writing, with a copy of the approved plan filed with Chief Executive Officer. We will be under no obligation to approve such a program and will only do so if we believe the program will meet the requirements of Rule 10b5-1 and will not be adverse to our overall corporate objectives.

4. Additional Prohibited Transactions. We believe it is improper and inappropriate for any Company personnel to engage in short-term or speculative transactions involving Company stock. We believe that this trading can reflect badly on the Company and that Company personnel should not engage in any types of transactions that are commonly viewed as a form of "betting" for or against the Company. Accordingly, it is the Company's policy that members of the Board of Directors, officers and employees should not engage in any of the following activities with respect to securities of the Company:

- Director and officer cashless exercise – In response to the restrictions set forth in the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, the Company will not arrange with brokers to administer cashless exercises on behalf of directors and officers of the Company. Directors and officers of the Company may only utilize the cashless exercise feature of their options if (i) the director or officer retains a broker independently of the Company, (ii) the Company's involvement is limited to confirming that it will deliver the stock promptly upon payment of the exercise price and (iii) the director or officer uses a "T+3" cashless exercise arrangement, in which the Company agrees to deliver stock against the payment of the purchase price on the same day the sale of the stock underlying the option settles. Under a T+3 cashless exercise, a stock broker, the issuer, and the transfer agent of the issuer work together to make all transactions settle simultaneously. This approach is to avoid any inference that the Company has "extended credit" in the form of a personal loan to the director or executive officer. Any employee who has any questions about cashless exercises may obtain additional guidance from our Chief Executive Officer, or, in his absence, our Chief Financial Officer.
- Director and officer trading during pension and 401(k) plan blackout periods – In response to the restrictions set forth in the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, directors and officers of the Company are prohibited from trading Company stock during pension and 401(k) plan blackouts, if any.
- Trading in securities on a short-term basis — As a general rule, any Company stock purchased in the open market (i.e., not including stock purchased upon exercise of an employee stock option or under the Employee Stock Purchase Plan) should be held for a minimum of six months and ideally longer. The top executives and members of the Board of Directors of the Company are already subject to the SEC's "short-swing" profit rule, which penalizes sales and purchases inside of any six-month period. Any employee who wishes to sell Company stock that was purchased in the open market and that has been owned less than six months must obtain prior written clearance from our Chief Executive Officer, or, in his absence, our Chief Financial Officer.

- Purchases of Company stock on margin — This means borrowing from a brokerage firm, bank or other entity in order to buy Company stock (other than in connection with a so-called "cashless" exercise of options under the Company's stock plans).
- Short sales of Company stock — This involves selling Company stock that you do not own in the expectation that the price of the stock will fall, or as part of an arbitrage transaction.
- Buying or selling puts or calls on Company stock — This includes options trading on any of the stock exchanges or futures exchanges.

Prohibitions Continue after Termination

The policies and prohibitions contained in this Statement of Company Policy will continue to apply to you after the termination of your employment or service with the Company for so long as you are in possession of material non-public information about the Company.

5. This Policy Subject to Being Superseded by Any Stricter Federal or State Law. The trading prohibitions and restrictions set forth in this Statement of Company Policy will be superseded by any greater prohibitions and restrictions prescribed by federal or state securities laws and regulations.

6. Confidential Information and Communications with the Media. Unauthorized disclosure of internal information relating to the Company (including information regarding new services or products, the Company's suppliers or customers) could cause competitive harm to the Company and in some cases could result in liability for the Company.

Unauthorized disclosure. Company personnel should not disclose internal information about the Company to anyone outside the Company, except as required in the performance of regular duties for the Company. In this regard, Company employees are prohibited from posting internal information about the Company on a "bulletin board" on the Internet or communicating about the Company and its business in Internet-based "chat" rooms.

Communications with the media, securities analysts and investors. Communications on behalf of the Company with the media, securities analysts and investors must be made only by specifically designated representatives of the Company. Unless you have been expressly authorized to make such communications, if you receive any inquiry relating to the Company from the media, a securities analyst or an investor, you should refer the inquiry to the Investor Relations office, the Chief Executive Officer or the Chief Financial Officer.

Safeguarding confidential information. Care must be taken to safeguard the confidentiality of internal information. For example, sensitive documents should not be left lying on desks, and visitors should not be left unattended in offices containing internal company documents.

Rumors. Rumors concerning the business and affairs of the Company may circulate from time to time. Our general policy is not to comment upon those rumors. Individual employees should also refrain from commenting upon or responding to rumors and should refer any requests for comments or responses to the Investor Relations office, the Chief Executive Officer or the Chief Financial Officer.

7. Company Assistance. Any person who has any questions about specific transactions may obtain additional guidance from our Chief Executive Officer or Chief Financial Officer, at (310) 824-6200. This Statement of Company Policy will be posted on the Company's intranet site.

Remember, however, the ultimate responsibility for adhering to this Statement of Company Policy and avoiding improper transactions rests with you. In this regard, it is imperative that you use your best judgment.

8. Acknowledgements. All employees will be required to acknowledge their understanding of, and an intent to comply with, this Statement of Company Policy.

Rob,

We can reach agreement with your terms if the October 21 date (the soft closing) is changed to October 14. If this is acceptable, we would need to convene a meeting of our board (which we can do quickly) since we do not have its authority to resolve this without a transfer of funds occurring by October 21. It would also be very helpful in settling the market and PSPT's shareholders if we could have written confirmation from Parent that funding is not an issue (though structuring in current capital markets conditions may be) and that it remains committed to closing by October 31 at the latest.

Thanks.

Best,

Steve

Steve:

We relayed our last conversation to Essar. Essar believes, as I think we all do, that it is in everyone's best interest to come to a mutual agreement on the closing issue. In that regard Essar proposes the following:

- * Parties agree that closing will occur no later than Oct. 31st no earlier than Oct. 21st.
- * A soft closing would occur on Oct 21st. As part of this soft closing (i) all documents will be finalized, (ii) the reps and warranties would be brought down at this time and (iii) all conditions (including MAE) would be deemed satisfied of the 21st .
- * Essar will move funds on, but not prior, to the actual closing on Oct. 31st (although this could occur after the 21st but prior to the 31st).

I understand that this is not the position communicated to us last night, but Essar has looked to compromise in recognition that PSPT is looking to accommodate on the closing. I have cc'd certain members of Essar on this e-mail, as I am hoping that this can be communicated to your client and we can reach an agreement.

Thanks,
Rob

Thank you for providing us with the draft press release. Recognizing it is PSPT's release and ultimately your call, we would suggest striking the second sentence of the second paragraph. Our view being that PSPT's statement that it is evaluating the request is sufficient.

As discussed earlier, we have reached out to our client to see if it is possible for the parties to discuss terms to see if a mutual agreement can be reached.

Thanks again,

SPRINT AND CLEARWIRE TO COMBINE WiMAX BUSINESSES, CREATING A NEW MOBILE BROADBAND COMPANY

Intel, Google, Comcast, Time Warner Cable and Bright House Networks to Invest $3.2 Billion in Combined Company, at Target Price of $20.00 per Share

Formation of New Company Brings Together the Nation's Leaders in Communications, Technology Innovation and Entertainment

New Company to Speed Deployment of First Nationwide Next-Generation Mobile WiMAX Network

Transaction Designed to Unlock the Potential of Clearwire's and Sprint's 4G Assets

New Company to be Led by Seasoned Management Team from Clearwire and Sprint's XOHM Business Unit; Board of Directors to Include Leading Wireless and Cable Executives

NOTE: Sprint and Clearwire executives will discuss this announcement on a conference call today at 8:30 a.m. EDT. Access details are provided near the end of this news release.

KIRKLAND, Wash. and OVERLAND PARK, Kan. – May 7, 2008 – Clearwire Corporation (NASDAQ: CLWR) and Sprint Nextel Corporation (NYSE: S) today announced that they have entered into a definitive agreement to combine their next-generation wireless broadband businesses to form a new wireless communications company.

The new company, which will be named Clearwire, will be focused on expediting the deployment of the first nationwide mobile WiMAX network to provide a true mobile broadband experience for consumers, small businesses, medium and large enterprises, public safety organizations and educational institutions. The new Clearwire expects to dramatically enhance the speed and manner in which customers access all that the Internet has to offer at home, in the office and on the road.

Sprint and Clearwire also announced today that five innovative technology, content and communications leaders – Intel Corporation (NASDAQ: INTC) through Intel Capital, Google Inc. (NASDAQ: GOOG), Comcast Corporation (NASDAQ: CMSCA, CMCSK), Time Warner Cable Inc. (NYSE: TWC), and Bright House Networks – have collectively agreed to invest $3.2 billion into the new company. The investment by the five strategic investors will be based on a target price of $20.00 per share of Clearwire's common stock, subject to a post-closing adjustment. This adjustment is based upon the trading prices of new Clearwire common stock on the NASDAQ Market over 15 randomly selected trading days during the 30-trading day period ending on the 90th day after the closing date. The price per share will be based upon the volume weighted average price on such days and is subject to a cap of $23.00 per share and a floor of $17.00 per share. In addition, Trilogy Equity Partners, led by wireless veteran John Stanton, will invest directly in the new Clearwire's common stock.

GOVERNMENT EXHIBIT
1152
S2 09 Cr. 1184 (RJH) (ID)

Upon completion of the proposed transaction, Sprint will own the largest stake in the new company with approximately 51 percent equity ownership on a fully diluted basis assuming an investment price of $20.00 per share. The existing Clearwire shareholders will own approximately 27 percent and the new strategic investors, as a group, will be acquiring approximately 22 percent for their investment of $3.2 billion, both on a fully diluted basis assuming an investment price of $20.00 per share.

Sprint and Clearwire also announced a series of commercial agreements with the strategic investors, including 3G and 4G wholesale agreements.

"For Sprint shareholders, this is an opportunity to unlock and bring visibility to the value of our significant spectrum assets, technology and expertise, by leveraging the technology, applications and distribution strengths of our investors, who together command nearly a half-trillion dollars in market capitalization," said Dan Hesse, president and chief executive officer of Sprint. "We've made an excellent start developing XOHM WiMAX services. Contributing those advances to a strongly backed new company – in which we'll hold the largest interest – provides Sprint with additional financial flexibility and allows Sprint management to leverage and focus on our core business.

"Additionally, the agreements allowing the new company and our cable company investors to bundle and resell Sprint's third-generation wireless services strengthen the distribution of our current services while reducing the complexity and enhancing Sprint's cable relationships," Hesse added.

Clearwire Chairman Craig O. McCaw, said, "The power of the mobile Internet, which offers speed and mobility, home and away, on any device or screen, will fundamentally transform the communications landscape in our country. We believe that the new Clearwire will operate one of the fastest and most capable broadband wireless networks ever conceived, giving us the opportunity to return the U.S. to a leadership position in the global wireless industry."

Benjamin G. Wolff, chief executive officer of Clearwire, said, "The combination of robust next-generation mobile WiMAX technology and nationwide spectrum that we believe is optimal for delivering mobile broadband services – coupled with substantial new financial resources, a team of experienced wireless industry veterans, and distribution and technology agreements with some of our nation's leading communications, technology and content companies – creates what I believe to be a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity.

"Given the complexity of this transaction, we have taken the time and effort to do it right, by thoughtfully leveraging the resources and opportunities that we and our investors are bringing to the table. This transaction is tremendous news for the entire Clearwire team – our shareholders, our customers and our employee-partners, and we look forward to partnering with the talented team from XOHM to achieve our shared vision," Wolff added.

The strategic investors are among the nation's leaders in communications technology, chipset development and Internet advertising, content and distribution. It is expected that the new Clearwire will have a time-to-market advantage over competitors in fourth-generation services, supported by strong spectrum holdings and a national footprint. Further, it will build on the strong foundation of Clearwire's rapidly growing subscriber base of nearly 400,000 wireless broadband customers as of year-end 2007, as well as Sprint's continued XOHM WiMAX network build-out in certain markets throughout this year.

"This agreement is a historic step forward for WiMAX as it represents the first nationwide deployment of a next-generation mobile broadband Internet in the U.S.," said Paul Otellini, Intel president and CEO. "The agreement also signifies growing industry support for WiMAX. Given its flexibility, coverage and speed, WiMAX will enable the mobile Internet and is already opening doors to a host of new and exciting applications, devices and business models around the world."

"Google is a firm believer in supporting new ways for people to access the Internet," said Eric Schmidt, chief executive officer and chairman of Google. "We are proud to invest in the new Clearwire alongside several leading technology and communications companies, and we believe that its planned WiMAX network will increase the ability for users to get high-speed broadband anytime, anywhere."

"This is a great coalition of innovative companies that have joined together to create the next generation of mobile wireless products. It is exciting to be on the ground floor of this new venture that we believe will create unprecedented high-speed wireless products and make them available across the nation," said Brian L. Roberts, chairman and chief executive officer of Comcast Corporation. "This transaction is attractive to us strategically and financially and puts in place very attractive wholesale relationships for access to Sprint's existing 3G and Clearwire's 4G networks, giving us complete flexibility to introduce wireless mobility in terms of product innovation and deployment."

"This exciting new venture enables Time Warner Cable to help shape the next generation of wireless services in ways that will complement and enhance our products and services," said Glenn Britt, Time Warner Cable's president and chief executive officer. "We're committed to giving our customers more control over how and where they can easily connect to what's important to them - entertainment, information, and each other. The agreements we're announcing today are a financially prudent way for us to add mobility to our offerings when our customers demand it."

"We are pleased to join our fellow cable operators as well as the new technology and wireless investors in this strategic venture. This broadband wireless relationship will help us to continue to provide the best possible competitive services for our customers, today and in the future. It is consistent with our commitment to delivering customers the products and services that they desire, whenever and wherever they want," said Robert J. Miron, chairman and chief executive officer of Bright House Networks.

The new Clearwire expects to offer mobile wireless Internet services on a broad array of new devices that will be made possible by integrated WiMAX chipsets, scalable operating expenses and a commitment to an open architecture.

Mobile WiMAX is a standards-based wireless broadband technology designed to operate multiple times faster than today's 3G wireless networks. With embedded WiMAX chipsets in laptops, phones, PDAs, mobile Internet devices and consumer electronic equipment, mobile WiMAX technology is expected to allow users to wirelessly access a range of multimedia applications, such as live videoconferencing, recorded video, games, large data files and more - anywhere in the network coverage area.

The transaction has been approved by all of the parties' boards of directors, and is expected to be completed during the fourth quarter of 2008. The transaction is subject to various closing conditions including, but not limited to, the approval of Clearwire's stockholders, and receipt of regulatory approvals, including the approval of the Federal Communications Commission and clearance under the Hart-Scott-Rodino Act.

Governance

The new Clearwire's board of directors will be comprised initially of 13 members, including seven directors to be named by Sprint of whom at least one will be independent; four named by the strategic investors of whom at least one will be independent; one named by Eagle River, the private investment company controlled by wireless pioneer Craig O. McCaw; and one independent member to be nominated by the new company's Nominating Committee.

The parties currently expect Craig McCaw to serve as non-executive chairman of the board. Along with McCaw, other directors expected to serve for an initial one-year term as new Clearwire board members are Dan Hesse, Sprint's president and CEO, Brian Roberts, Comcast's chairman and CEO, and Glenn Britt, Time Warner Cable's president and CEO. In addition, John Stanton, chairman and CEO of Trilogy Equity Partners and former chairman and CEO of VoiceStream and Western Wireless, is expected to serve on the board.

Overview of the New Clearwire

The new Clearwire will apply for listing of its common stock on the NASDAQ under the ticker "CLWR." The management team will be led by Benjamin G. Wolff, currently CEO of Clearwire, as the new company's CEO and Barry West, currently Sprint's Chief Technology Officer and XOHM business unit leader, as president of the new Clearwire. Staffing for the new Clearwire will include the talent from both Clearwire and Sprint's XOHM business unit. The headquarters of the new Clearwire will be located in Kirkland, Wash. The new company will continue to have a significant employee presence, including research and development, in Herndon, Va.

The investment by Intel Capital, Google, Comcast, Time Warner Cable and Bright House Networks will be used to advance the development of the new Clearwire's mobile WiMAX network. This nationwide footprint is underpinned by the substantial next-generation wireless broadband spectrum portfolio that Sprint and Clearwire collectively hold in the United States. The combined wireless spectrum should allow the new Clearwire to achieve greater coverage, cost and operational efficiencies, and bandwidth-utilization than either company could by operating alone. The new Clearwire is targeting a network deployment that will cover between 120 million and 140 million people in the U.S. by the end of 2010.

In addition to spectrum, Sprint will contribute to the new Clearwire certain hardware, software and all of its WiMAX-based trademarks and other WiMAX-related intellectual property. The new Clearwire expects to materially reduce capital and operating expenditures by leveraging Sprint's existing infrastructure, reducing the cost of building out the mobile WiMAX network nationwide. The new Clearwire expects to utilize Sprint's towers, fiber network and IT support at favorable bulk rates. Sprint also will realize cost savings for its core business by sharing certain costs of towers and other infrastructure.

The agreements with the strategic investor group define significant new commercial relationships, including:

- Intel will work with manufacturers to embed WiMAX chips into Intel® Centrino® 2 processor technology-based laptops and other Intel-based mobile Internet devices, and will market the new company's service in association with Intel's performance notebook PC brand.

- Google will partner with the new Clearwire in the development of Internet services, advertising services and applications for mobile WiMAX devices. In addition, Google will be the search provider and a preferred provider of other applications for the new Clearwire's retail product.
- Google will partner with the new Clearwire on an open Internet business protocol for mobile broadband devices. The new Clearwire will support Google's Android operating system software in its future voice and data devices that it provides to its retail customers.
- Sprint, Comcast, Time Warner Cable, and Bright House Networks will enter into wholesale agreements with the new Clearwire, becoming 4G providers of new Clearwire's mobile WiMAX service.
- Comcast, Time Warner Cable, and Bright House Networks and, after completion of the transactions, the new Clearwire, will enter into 3G wholesale agreements with Sprint, becoming bundled providers of Sprint's wireless voice and data services, expanding the reach of Sprint's network to more customers, while providing the cable companies a simpler, more effective vehicle to bundle wireless services.
- Sprint and Google have also entered into an agreement related to Sprint's mobile services, whereby Google will become the default provider of web and local search services, both of which will be enabled with location information, for Sprint. Sprint will also preload several Google services - including Google Maps for mobile, Gmail and YouTube - on select mobile phones and provide easier access to other Google services.
- Google and Intel have options to enter into 3G and 4G wholesale agreements with Clearwire and Sprint respectively and have no current plans to do so.

Terms of the Transaction

Under the terms of the agreement, Clearwire will merge into a newly created indirect subsidiary. In the merger, shares of Clearwire's Class A Common Stock, together with all outstanding options and warrants to purchase shares of Clearwire stock, will be converted into an equivalent number of new shares, options or warrants, respectively, in the new Clearwire. Additionally, all of Clearwire's outstanding shares of Class B common stock, which are held by Eagle River and Intel, will convert into shares of Clearwire's Class A Common Stock prior to the merger. Going forward, the shares of the new Clearwire will each have one vote per share. The target price of $20.00 per share implies a total equity value of approximately $3.9 billion for the existing Clearwire business.

Sprint will contribute all of its 2.5 GHz spectrum and its WiMAX-related assets into a subsidiary of the new company. The implied equity valuation of Sprint's contribution is approximately $7.4 billion which will result in approximately 51 percent ownership, based on the target price of $20.00 per share.

Comcast will invest $1.05 billion, Intel Capital will invest $1.0 billion in addition to its previous investments made in Clearwire, Time Warner Cable will invest $550 million, Google will invest $500 million, and Bright House Networks will invest $100 million, for an aggregate total of $3.2 billion. The investments by Intel Capital, Comcast, Time Warner Cable and Bright House Networks and the contributions from Sprint will be made into a limited liability company subsidiary of the new company. Google will invest directly in the new Clearwire's Class A common stock. In a separate transaction to occur 90 days after closing, Trilogy Equity Partners will invest $10 million in the purchase of shares of Class A common stock on the same pricing terms as the other investors.

The total transaction value will be approximately $14.5 billion, assuming an investment price of $20.00 per share.
