- 1 S. LEE
- 2 DeWitt Clinton High School. And that's about the extent
- 3 of it.
- 4 Q. And when did you graduate from DeWitt Clinton
- 5 High School?
- A. You know, honest to God, I don't remember the
- 7 year, but I did graduate.
- 8 Q. Fair enough. And did you serve in the
- 9 military?
- 10 A. Yes. I was in the US Army Signal Corps in
- 11 World War II.
- 12 Q. And how long were you in the military?
- 13 A. Three years.
- Q. And could you briefly, or as briefly as you
- 15 can, tell us your employment history after you left DeWitt
- 16 Clinton High School?
- 17 A. Well, I had a lot of different jobs. I was --
- 18 I wrote obituaries for a press service. I was an office
- 19 boy. I was an usher. I did some advertising for the
- 20 National Jewish Hospital at Denver. I never knew what I
- 21 was supposed to be advertising, whether telling people to
- 22 get sick to go to the hospital, but...
- 23 And finally I got a job at a place called
- 24 Timely Comics which published comic books.
- Q. And approximately when was that? The late

- 1 S. LEE
- 2 1930s, 1940s?
- A. I think it must have been 1939 or 1940,
- 4 somewhere around there.
- 5 Q. And what was your first job responsibility at
- 6 Timely?
- 7 A. Well, I was hired by two people, Joe Simon and
- 8 Jack Kirby, who were producing the comics at that time for
- 9 this company which was called Timely Comics.
- 10 Q. And --
- 11 A. And my job was to really be an assistant. I
- 12 went down, and I got them their lunch sandwiches for them,
- 13 and I filled their -- in those days they dipped the
- 14 brushes in ink and used pencil sharpeners. And I
- 15 sharpened the pencils. I erased the pages after they were
- 16 finished. And I did whatever an assistant or an office
- 17 boy would do.
- 18 Q. And at that time who was running or owned
- 19 Timely?
- 20 A. The company was owned by a man named Martin
- 21 Goodman.
- Q. And he was the publisher?
- 23 A. Yes.
- Q. And did Timely -- is Timely a predecessor or
- 25 did Timely eventually become what we now know as Marvel?

- 1 S. LEE
- 2 what it was, or in a script if I felt there was too much
- 3 dialogue or too little dialogue, it was -- it was up to me
- 4 to make the stories as good as I could make them.
- 5 Q. Now, you mentioned that you did perform
- 6 services not only as an editor but also as a writer.
- 7 A. Mm-hmm.
- 8 Q. Did you consider the services you performed as
- 9 a writer part of your duties as the editor or something
- 10 additional?
- 11 A. Well, I never thought of it that way. I was
- 12 the Editor. I was the Art Director. And I was also a
- 13 staff writer.
- 14 Q. And how were you paid in connection with the
- 15 work that you did?
- 16 A. How was I paid?
- 17 Q. How were you paid in connection with the work
- 18 as Editor and as a writer?
- 19 A. I received a salary which paid me as Editor
- 20 and Art Director, but I got paid on a freelance basis for
- 21 the stories that I wrote.
- 22 Q. And when you say you were paid on a freelance
- 23 basis, how were you paid? On what basis?
- A. The same as every other writer. I was paid
- 25 per page, so much money per page of script.

- 1 S. LEE
- 2 I said sometimes I can't remember. And he said, "Stan,
- 3 don't you remember? Sometimes if somebody wanted a job as
- 4 an inker at our place, " and an inker is somebody who goes
- 5 over the pencil drawings with ink so that they can be
- 6 reproduced better at the engraver, he said, "If we wanted
- 7 to test an inker to see how good he'd be, we would take
- 8 one of the pages of Jack's that you hadn't used and ask
- 9 the inker to ink over them as samples."
- 10 And I had forgotten about that, but John
- 11 Romita -- we were talking about that. It was a few years
- 12 ago he told me that.
- 13 O. And when you had that conversation with Mr.
- 14 Romita, did that refresh your recollection that you had
- 15 from time to time rejected pages from Jack Kirby?
- 16 A. Yeah. Actually probably less from Kirby than
- 17 anybody else, because he was so good. But I had -- there
- 18 were times when things had to be rejected for a myriad
- 19 reasons.
- 20 (Lee Exhibit 1 marked for identification.)
- 21 O. Let me mark as Lee Exhibit 1 an affidavit,
- it's a document entitled "Affidavit of Stan Lee," and ask
- 23 you to take a look at that.
- MR. TOBEROFF: I would like to make a standing
- 25 objection, if you will agree, otherwise I have to make it

- 1 S. LEE
- 2 Q. Could you tell us how the Silver Surfer came
- 3 about?
- 4 A. Right. I wanted to have a villain called
- 5 Galactus. We had so many villains who were so powerful.
- 6 I was looking for somebody who would be more powerful than
- 7 any. So I figured somebody who is a demigod who rides
- 8 around in space and destroys planets.
- 9 I told Jack about it and told him how I wanted
- 10 the story to go generally. And Jack went home, and he
- 11 drew it. And he drew a wonderful version. But when I
- 12 looked at the artwork, I saw there was some nutty looking
- 13 naked guy on a flying surfboard.
- 14 And I said, "Who is this?"
- And he said -- well, I don't remember whether
- 16 he called him the surfer or not. He may have called him
- 17 the surfer. But he said, "I thought that anybody as
- 18 powerful as Galactus who could destroy planets should have
- 19 somebody who goes ahead of him, a herald who finds the
- 20 planets for him. And I thought it would be good to have
- 21 that guy on a flying surfboard."
- I said, "That's wonderful." I loved it. And
- 23 I decided to call him The Silver Surfer, which I thought
- 24 sounded dramatic.
- 25 But that was all. He was supposed to be a
